SOLDIER SENT TO JAIL

SAID HE COULD NOT REMEMBER WHO GAVE HIM LIQUOR.

Magistrate Farrell said he would send him to jail in order to give him time to refresh his memory. It was rather an odd sight to see a man charged with being drunk in the Police Court on Monday morning.

Pte. James Larue of the 154th Battalion was the offender and he was brought before the magistrate on the complaint of the license inspector, William McCammon Larue, who had already appeared before the military authorities. The accused pleaded guilty to being drunk, but stated that he did not remember who gave him the liquor.

"I think he was a member of the 155th Battalion," he said, "but I could not give his name. I did not know anything fifteen or twenty minutes after I took the liquor."

"I remember standing on the corner of Ontario and Princess streets, opposite the Khaki Club, when a soldier came up to me and asked me how would a little drink go. I said it would go all right. I afterwards had two drinks in the cellar at the Khaki Club, and some more in a box car later. I never saw the man who gave me the liquor before, and I would not know him. He was a short, stout, dark man."

"I think I will remand you and give you time to think it all over," remarked Magistrate Farrell, and the man in khaki was put away.

Before leaving, however, he was informed by the court that he could be sent to jail for three months unless he disclosed the name of the person who gave him the liquor.

AN EXCHANGED PRISONER THE VOICE OF THE PULPIT

ARRIVED AT THE CONVALESCENT HOME ON SUNDAY.

Experience of Lance-Corpl. Frederick Long, Peterboro—Had Leg Amputated—Ptes. J. W. Randall, Joseph McDermott and J. W. Penfold, Kingston, Also Invalided Home.

A Peterboro boy who was taken prisoner of war by the Germans in the battle of Ypres on April 23rd, 1915, and who, after having a leg amputated, was exchanged and handed over to the British authorities, is the remarkable experience told by Lance-Corpl. Frederick Long, 260 Westcott street, Peterboro, who arrived here on Sunday with several other convalescent soldiers. Corpl. Long was a telegrapher before enlisting in the 16th Battalion of the first contingent. At Ypres he was struck by a hall of machine gun fire, and being helpless was taken prisoner. After a wonderful experience in German prisons he was handed over to the British authorities on December 11th of last year and has since been receiving treatment.

Pte. J. W. Randall, who came with the party, lives at 57 Lower Bagot street, being a farmer by profession. He enlisted with the Remounts, but on December 26th at Senarpont, France, he had to report sick with rheumatism.

Pte. Joseph McDermott is a member of the 59th Battalion, and lived at 1 Park street, city. Before enlisting in the 59th he was a butcher. On June 10th rheumatism necessitated his return to Canada.

Alwin Metcalfe, whose case was described in Saturday's issue, took ill at Poperinge on April 24th.

Driver J. J. Keenan, 168 Ann street, Montreal, is only eighteen years of age. He was a railroad clerk before joining the artillery here.

Daniel O'Connor, Port Hope, was one of the many who were injured at Ypres. He is slightly deaf in one ear as a result of that fight. Before enlisting Pte. O'Connor was a farmer.

James W. Penfold, 21st Battalion, lives at Earl street, city, and was struck by an exposed bullet wound in the left leg.

John MacDonald, 73 College avenue, who enlisted in the 47th Battalion, did not report at the Convalescent Home on Sunday.

Alexander Baker, 47 Dalhousie street, Ottawa, was a printer before enlisting in the artillery. At Ypres he was wounded in the knee, and has since been undergoing treatment in the various English hospitals.

Sergt. Herbert Polk was a transfer from the 80th to the 74th Battalion. He was a clerk in Smith's Falls before enlisting.

THE FRONTENAC HAS BEEN TAKEN OVER

Well-Known Hostelry Has Been Leased to Matthew Hanson.

Matthew Hanson, who for the past two years has been steward of the British-American Hotel, has taken over the Frontenac Hotel, which he will operate. Mr. Hanson has had a life-long experience in hotel and restaurant business, and being a courteous and capable man, should meet with success in the operation of the Frontenac. He came here from Vancouver, where he had been connected with a large hotel. During his stay in the city he has made many friends, who will wish him every success in his new venture.

A. A. Welsh, who has been operating the Frontenac as a saloon, has taken over a big hotel at Philadelphia, as some tempting offers have been held out to him concerning this hostelry. Mr. and Mrs. Welsh expect to leave the city on Tuesday, and will spend a week at Mr. Welsh's hotel, the Inn, Gananoque, and from there will go to Montreal for a few days. They will then leave for the south, where they will spend the winter. If they don't take over the hotel at Philadelphia, they will establish some where in the southern States a winter hotel conducted on the same plan as the Inn at Gananoque.

Mr. and Mrs. Welsh are ideal hotel people, genial, considerate and enterprising, and their many friends will wish them all success no matter where they may locate.

CAPT. WM. PETERS WILL NOT RESIGN

The Waterworks Collector Has Decided to Remain in Khaki.

Capt. William Peters, casualty pay officer, who was asked last Monday by the Utilities Commission to return and take over his duties as waterworks collector or resign that position, in formed the Whig on Monday that he had decided to inform the Commission that he would remain in khaki and leave that body to take his city hall position away from him if it wished. He intimated that he understood that he was engaged by the City Council, but the Commission held that he is now entirely under its jurisdiction. The action of the Commission was the result of the water department not having a permanent collector and matters in connection with the collecting department being in a very unsatisfactory condition.

HARVEST SERVICES HELD IN ST. PAUL'S ON SUNDAY.

Canon Fitzgerald and Archdeacon Dobbs the Preachers—Re-opening of the Presbyterian Church at Glenvale.

St. Paul's church was very prettily decorated for the harvest services there on Sunday, and at both the morning and evening services large congregations attended. The choir, under the very able direction of Prof. Milner and Sergt-Major J. E. Harle, did splendidly, and deserved the many complimentary things said about their work. In the morning Canon W. F. Fitzgerald took as his text Psalm cly-12: "Man goeth forth unto his work and to his labor until the evening." Following this service an unusually large number of communicants came forward.

In the evening Archdeacon Dobbs took as his text Rev. xxii-4: "The harvest of service and of victory," dealing with this subject in an interesting way.

St. Mark's Church.

Harvest Thanksgiving services were held in St. Mark's church at Barriefield on Sunday, and they were of a bright and helpful nature. The attendance was good. Rev. A. F. C. Whalley, of St. George's Cathedral, preached at the morning service. The offering taken up at the morning service amounted to $120.

The choir rendered the anthem, "Be Glad and Rejoice," in splendid style, Mr. Nelson taking the solo part.

At Bethel Church.

The congregations of the First Congregational and Bethel churches held a union service on Sunday morning in Bethel church. Rev. De Corsey Raynor, of Hamilton, was the preacher, and he delivered a forceful discourse. He is pastor of Emmanuel Congregational church at Hamilton. In the evening he preached at the First Congregational church. At the union service he preached from the text, "Jesus, the same yesterday, today and forever." Edgar Sindlay, of Fraserville, sang a solo at both the morning and evening services.

The Sunday school of Bethel church held a rally at 2.45 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when a most interesting programme was carried out. The superintendent, Mr. Wilson, presided, and an address was given by Rev. Mr. Raynor, and a number of choruses were rendered by the scholars.

Re-opening at Glenvale.

Sunday marked the re-opening of the Presbyterian church at Glenvale, and the services of the day were of special interest. The church has for some time been in the hands of workmen, and has undergone much improvement. A new roof has been put on, the walls have been repaired, and the edifice re-decorated. The sum of $400 was spent on the work, which is a decided improvement, and brought forth many complimentary remarks on Sunday. Rev. E. R. McLean, pastor of Cooke's church, Kingston, occupied the pulpit at both the services, and preached forceful and instructive sermons, and was listened to with keen interest. The pastor, Rev. W. J. Parsons, assisted in the services. The morning and evening services at the other two churches on this circuit, Wilton and Harrowsmith, were cancelled, the members joining the services at Glenvale. The attendance was very large. In the evening the members of the Methodist church at Glenvale also joined in the service, their pastor, Rev. E. Codling, assisting Rev. Mr. McLean. The special programme of music included a duet by Rev. Mr. Parsons and Mrs. Mills. The re-opening of the church will be further marked on Tuesday by the holding of a tea-meeting.

The Sinking of a Submarine.

When we read about the sinking of a submarine, we imagine men being drowned like rats in a trap. In the Secret of the Submarine the spy leaves the aperture in the periscope open, you can see the submarine fast filling with water. Chapter one shows the great invention of the submarine at the King Edward to-night and Tuesday afternoon and evening. Usual admission.
