MINISTER FOR ST. ANDREW'S

CALL EXTENDED TO REV. J. STEPHEN OF TORONTO.
Salary Fixed at $2,250, With Free Manse and a Month's Holidays—Congregation Met Wednesday Night.

St. Andrew's Church will extend a call to Rev. J. Stephen, Toronto, to succeed Rev. S. J. M. Compton, who resigned to go overseas as a chaplain, and who is now in Greece. A meeting of the congregation was held in the church hall Wednesday night to consider the question of a call, and there was a large attendance of members and adherents, and the chair was occupied by Rev. Dr. Torrance.

W. G. Craig read the report of the committee appointed to select and recommend a minister to the congregation. It was to the effect that a call should be given to Rev. J. Stephen, Toronto, and the meeting unanimously agreed to the recommendation of the committee.

The salary was fixed at $2,250 a year, with a free manse and a month's holidays. Rev. Dr. Strachan, Toronto, was appointed to support the call for the Presbytery of Kingston, which will hold a special session in Toronto when the Synod is in session, which will be in the course of a few days.

Rev. Mr. Stephen is a graduate of Knox College, and for thirteen years was minister of Avenue Road Presbyterian, Toronto. He is a married man, and has four children. The new minister is a young man, in the early forties, and still has a most promising future before him. He preached in St. Andrew's a short time ago, and made an exceedingly favorable impression, both by his matter and his manner.

St. Andrew's pulpit has now been vacant for a year, and the congregation will be glad to have it permanently filled again. During the vacancy Rev. Dr. Torrance has been acting minister, and has won the appreciation of all by the efficient and faithful manner in which he has discharged his various duties.

DOCTOR'S CAR STOLEN

ENTIRE POLICE FORCE LOOKING FOR MISSING AUTO.

Doctor's Wife Went Out for Spin After Car Was Returned and Was "Held Up" by Police Until Her Identity Was Proven—Evidently Stolen by "Joy Riders."

The telephone at the police station gave a loud ring early on Wednesday night, and it was quite evident that there was trouble of some kind on tap. There is nearly always trouble when the police telephone rings. And now that the bars have been closed the police know that it is not a tippler that is giving the trouble.

"Some person has made off with my automobile," said the person on the other end of the line. This is speaking, will you please have your men keep their eyes open for the missing car?"

The doctor then gave the number of the car and a detailed description of the auto. In a very short time all the members of the police force had been tipped off to the fact that the car had been stolen, and had been given the number, etc., etc.

For an hour or so the policemen on the beats took a good look at every car that came their way. Finally Constable Earl Jenkins, who is holding down one of the corners on Princess street, regulating traffic, spied a car coming along that looked very much to him like the one reported lost. He consulted the numbers in his little book, and sure enough it was "his" car. A woman was driving the car, but he soon brought it to a standstill.

"This car looks to me like the one reported to have been stolen," said Constable Jenkins to the lady.

"Yes, I know it was stolen, but it was returned," was the lady's reply.

At this Constable Jenkins said that he came from Missouri, and although the lady's statement might be O.K. he would have to make sure, so "fixing" the car so it would not go off in a hurry, the bluecoat hurried to the nearest telephone, and calling up Dr. —, informed him that he had the car he had reported as stolen.

"There's a woman running it," said the officer, "and I have the car held up till I make sure about the matter. She says that it was stolen, but that is what returned."

"Yes, that's right," said the doctor. "The car was brought back. The woman who is out with the car now is my wife. Thanks for letting me know about it, however."

"That's all right," said the police constable, as the telephone conversation ended, and he set out to give the woman in the car a signal to "move on."

It is not known who made off with the car, but it is supposed that some young people took the car to have a "joy ride" around the city.

It will be remembered that a short time ago another well-known doctor had his car stolen. On this occasion it was taken by soldiers and deserted at the Outer Station.

A LIVELY EXPERIENCE.

Any Amount of Troubles For Men of 156th Battalion.

Brockville Times.
A Kingston taxi cab with a party of seven Brockville members of the 156th Battalion came to grief last evening on Kingston bridge about 11.30 through the breaking of an axle. The boys were anxious to get back to Barriefield as they simply had to be there as soon as possible, and engaged a local taxi to carry them on, but alas the Brockville car also stalled on the grade going out of town and the lads hit upon the idea of taking the early morning train to Mallorytown, but owing to the wreck at Mallorytown the train was delayed here until five o'clock this morning, and the boys spent the night sleeping on the train with pleasant dreams of what awaited them when they arrived before the tribunal at camp this morning.

SETTLING FAIR ACCOUNTS.

R. J. Bushell Closing Up Books and Looking Ahead For Next Year.

Robert J. Bushell, the hustling manager of the Kingston Industrial Fair, is busy settling up the fair accounts, and is anxious that all outstanding accounts be presented to him at once.

Mr. Bushell says that on one occasion he issued a cheque for a certain amount to a man as prize money, and that this man carried the cheque around in his pocket for two years before he cashed it. This sort of business interfered with the settling up of the books, and he hopes that every person who has any business to settle up with the fair management will do so without delay.

While closing up the books for this year's fair "R.J." is looking ahead for attractions next year.

WILL BE TAKEN OVERSEAS.

Pte. Campbell Was Remanded Until Battalion Leaves City.

Pte. Campbell, charged with desertion, came up before Justice of the Peace George Hunter on Thursday morning. He is a member of the 156th Battalion, and expressed his willingness to go overseas. Col. Hunter decided to give him a chance to do his "bit." He will be remanded until the battalion leaves the city. Lieut.-Col. Wilkinson was present on behalf of the prosecution.

TEACHERS IN CONVENTION

SOUTH FRONTENAC ASSOCIATION MEETING HERE.

Election of Officers at Opening Session Thursday Morning—J. Medcalf Was Elected President.

The South Frontenac Teachers' Association is holding its annual convention at the Court House. The first session was held Thursday morning. There was an afternoon session, and another one will be held this evening, the latter in Queen's Medical laboratory. On Friday the association, accompanied by the Kingston association, will go to Belleville to visit the school for the deaf.

After the opening exercises Thursday morning the election of officers followed, resulting as follows:

President, J. Medcalf, Sydenham; vice-president, Duff Cosgrove, Wolfe Island; secretary-treasurer, Miss Gertrude Harold, Kingston; executive, Mrs. Reville, Mrs. Gansby, Kingston; Miss S. G. Jones, Kingston; Miss Gene Wood, Wolfe Island; Miss Millie-cent Freeman, Sydenham; Miss Grace MacKnight, Inverary; auditors, Mrs. Reville and Duff Cosgrove; delegates to the Ontario Educational Association, Toronto, Miss C. Wood, Wolfe Island, and H. E. Eckhardt.

Inspector Truscott explained many of the recent changes in the regulation, and showed the importance of observing these. With regard to the truancy act, he thought a truancy officer should be appointed in each district.

A. F. Hagerman of the Peterboro Normal School gave an interesting address on "The Educational Meaning of the Manual Arts." He emphasized that the majority of Canadians received their education wholly in the public schools, more attention should be paid there to the instilling of practical, rather than of book knowledge.

The association decided to make a donation to the Red Cross Fund as was done last year. Each teacher will be given an opportunity to contribute, and those not present will be communicated with in regard to the donation.

NO BARS REDUCE POLICE COURT CASES

Drunks Are Now Certainly an Unknown Quantity With the Police.

The Temperance Act is certainly cutting down business at the police court. There was no session on Thursday morning. All day Wednesday the police had a very quiet time, and no person fell into the police nets.

The streets of Kingston are now free from drunks. Prohibition is certainly working well here. The police records verify this statement. There has only been one drunk before the court since the Temperance Act went into effect, and he is now on remand, because the magistrates did not consider that the accused had told him a straightforward story as to where he had secured his liquor.

There is a list of cases for the magistrate on Friday, but the offenders are automobile speeders, who were caught burning up Princess street one day the fair was on.
