

YE . . . O. 83-242.

KINGSTON, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1916.

OBSERVATION POST AND GUN ON THE FRENCH FRONT.
Huge gun on Somme front, cleverly concealed by a sapling and leaf construction, which also answers the purpose of an observation post.

LARGEST TYPE OF GUN USED BY THE FRENCH IN THEIR OFFENSIVE ON THE SOMME.
It is a 300-millimetre gun and had aided materially in forcing back the enemies' lines to their present position.

CAPTURED ON THE SOMME FRONT.
German soldiers who have been made captive by the French during the offensive on the Somme.

MOTOR GROCERY STORE ON FRENCH FRONT.
In order to eliminate the profit of the middleman, who have made a habit of charging exorbitant prices for dainties purchased by the soldiers at the front, these travelling delicatessen stores, vending tid-bits, have been organized by the government, and edibles can be purchased by the soldiers for little money.

FRENCH ARMORED TRAIN.
Very little has been heard of armored trains for many months as the armored auto seems to have succeeded it as a mobile fortress, but the new type of train shown here is being used by the French with telling effectiveness during their present offensive.

A KNOCK AT AMERICA'S NEUTRALITY.
A wreath of leaves tied with a ribbon was placed at the base of the Frederick William statue in Berlin at a recent commemoration. On the ribbon was the sentence which, in English reads, "Wilson and His Press is Not America."

MISS JEANNIE JACKSON. the daughter of a Burnley miner, has collected during the past twelve months 1,100 pounds in coppers from the streets of Burnley in aid of war fund. For 450 pounds a motor ambulance, called the "York-Kitchener" (shown here), was purchased, and the remainder used for the purpose of purchasing comforts for the troops. Miss Jackson was introduced to Queen Alexandra when Her Majesty inspected the ambulance.

SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF MARNE BATTLE.
Ceremonies held at the famous monument erected in Senlis in commemoration of the Battle of the Oureq, a tributary of the Marne. Services were conducted by Archbishop of Aux. General Foch was present at the ceremony.
