DR. MACMILLAN, WINNIPEG

MENTIONED AS A POSSIBLE PRINCIPAL OF QUEEN'S.

Is Successor to Dr. Gordon—Dr. Macmillan is Professor of Social Science in Manitoba College.

Despite the fact that we are living in a material age, an age in which the almighty dollar and the hustle and bustle of work-a-day life are playing an increasingly large part, it is nevertheless true our educational institutions occupy a very large place in the life of the nation. The head of one of our great Canadian colleges is in a position to wield an immense influence on the lives of the young men and women with whom he is brought into contact.

A short time ago, Principal D. M. Gordon, of Queen's University, Kingston, resigned his position on account of ill-health. For the past few weeks all Queen's men and others interested in the success of higher education in Canada have been looking for a suitable man to carry on the work so ably conducted by his late Principal Grant, and his successor the retiring principal.

In a very particular sense, Queen's has an atmosphere and a following all her own; in a measure she is doing a work for the youth of Canada that it does not do by any other college in the country. Queen's is essentially a poor man's college, a condition that has made for an esprit de corps, or a "Queen's spirit," which has been the envy and despair of other colleges. The spirit is probably due to the fact that both professors and students have had to make many sacrifices. An education at Queen's, man means much the same as an education did in the old days to the young Scot who tramped into Edinburgh with a sack of oatmeal on his shoulder.

Under the late Principal Grant, this spirit was featured and developed to a marked degree, and to-day thousands of men and women are occupying responsible positions throughout the country who bear the unmistakable stamp of the personality of "Geordie," as he was affectionately called by his students.

During recent years Queen's has branched out, and from being purely a denominational institution has become one of our great halls of learning, with departments of science and medicine added to the arts and theological faculties. This has been done without losing the Queen's spirit. Queen's has been in many respects a pioneer of progressive movements. She was the first to establish a school of mines, was the leader in inaugurating a course in banking, and now is about to establish a department of insurance.

It is now most essential, therefore, that a man be found who can take up the work of Grant and Gordon and carry the larger college efforts through to successful fruition. Among many Queen's graduates in eastern Canada, the name of Dr. J. W. Macmillan, of Manitoba College, has been mentioned as the most suitable man for the post. Dr. Macmillan is a graduate of the University of Toronto and Knox College, later studying in the United States and various European Colleges. For a number of years he was a successful minister, occupying pulpits at Lindsay, at Winnipeg and at Halifax. A year or two ago he was called to Winnipeg to take over the newly formed chair devoted to social science, a field in which Dr. Macmillan has specialized. He is essentially a man's man, democratic, tolerant and broad-minded; a man who is not afraid to get out of the beaten track. He has made a careful study of such questions as capital and labor, child's welfare work, the slum, the needs of parks and playgrounds; and a thousand and one other problems associated with the practical everyday life of the common people. Dr. Macmillan is undoubtedly an ideal man for the position. He is still a young man, but with a maturity of thought and the ripened experience of a man of an affair. He is widely read, has travelled extensively, is a radical in thought and temperament, but most tolerant of the other man's opinion. All who know him recognize him as one of the biggest men mentally and physically we have in Canada, and by hundreds of Queen's men, and other interested in higher education, he is regarded the best man in sight.

Letter of Condolence.

Lieut.-General Hughes, Minister of Militia, has written as follows to R. Wilson, 36 Clergy street, whose son was killed at the front:

"Will you kindly accept my sincere sympathy and condolence in the losses of that worthy young man and heroic soldier, Pte. Eddie Wilson."

"While one cannot too deeply mourn the loss of such a brave comrade, there is consolation in knowing that he did his duty fearlessly and well, and gave his life for the cause of liberty and the upbuilding of the Empire."

Concert in Zion Church.

A successful concert was held in Zion church, Thursday evening under the auspices of the Girls' Own Circle. Among those taking part were: W. Mack, A. Pettigrew, Miss Gibson and Mrs. Saunders, who rendered vocal solos; Mrs. Craig gave several splendid readings, and Mr. Clark violin selections. Several numbers were put on by the members of the Girls' Circle, including a dialogue, "Waiting for the 2.40 Fast Train," which was much appreciated. There was a good attendance, and a large sum was realized.

All Dances Not Banned.

The Ottawa Free Press says: Gracious temperance is not so dead in Catholic circles as was first thought, since the ban placed upon dancing in the edict of Pope Benedict, is not interpreted to mean all dancing by the local authorities.

The old waltz and two-step will be danced, but the clergy will not attend. Parish balls may be used for this purpose.

Although dancing was eliminated at church picnics during the summer, no definite announcement concerning it was made. Many of the new dances are under the ban.
