and more, people with chest and throat troubles have tried to cure them by pouring cough syrups, lung tonics and the like into their stomachs. All a mistake! The Peps way is different.

Peps are tablets made up of Pine extracts and medicinal essences, which when put into the mouth turn into healing vapors. These are breathed down direct to the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes—not swallowed down to the stomach, which is not ailing. Try a 5c. box of Peps for your cold, your cough, bronchitis or asthma. All druggists and stores or Peps Co., Toronto, will supply.

FRANKFORD FACTORY BURNED.

A Big Loss for the Frankford Cheese Company.
Belleville, Oct. 19.—The Frankford cheese factory was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning. It caught fire from some unknown cause about three o'clock the previous afternoon, but the flames were quickly subdued, though not until they had made considerable headway. Several men waited about the building until midnight to make sure that the fire would not break out again. They thought all possible danger past and left for home. It was only about an hour later when the fire blazed out again, and soon the entire building was a mass of flames and the fire beyond control. It was not even possible for those who quickly gathered to save any of the cheese or equipment.

The factory building was one of the best and most modern in the district. It was of cement block construction and was erected only eight years ago at a cost of $5,500. One hundred cheese were burned, and those at present prices represent a value of $2,000. The entire loss will be over $8,000, with only $4,000 insurance—$3,000 on building and $1,000 on contents.

Major Osborne has been active in military circles since he was a young man, and received his captaincy while in this city. He has a brother and also a son at the front.

LETTER TO GOOD

LOOKING SOLDIER

Red Cross Bothered With Anonymous Communications for Canadians at Front.

London, Oct. 19.—Letters still come in by the bushel from Canada and elsewhere to the Canadian Red Cross and similar institutions, the writers asking that they may correspond with some lonely soldier. Such letters are not now allowed to be forwarded to any soldier, and further, the Red Cross said like institutions are forbidden to put soldiers into communication with unknown correspondents.

One letter received at Lady Drummond's office to-day from Canada stipulated it should be sent to some soldier who must be good looking. It has been incorrectly stated that Canadian soldiers are not allowed to draw pay at English hospitals; regulations are precisely the same on this point as in Canada; soldiers being allowed to draw up to two pounds monthly in addition to sending money to friends.

BATTERSEA CONCERT

On Tuesday Evening Was a Success—A Play Presented.
Battersea, Oct. 18.—The Red Cross concert, posted on Friday night, on account of the rain, was held in the Orange Hall on Tuesday, the 17th, and was a decided success, both in attendance and merit.

A play entitled "The Old District School" was put on by about twenty of the young people of the village, and this afforded much amusement. Mrs. Earl T. Lake took the part of "Miss Simpkins," the teacher, and she and the scholars performed their parts splendidly. A special feature of the evening was the sale by auction of a Red Cross quilt, which was placed by the Sunshine class of little girls in the Methodist Sunday school and their teacher, Miss Curson. This quilt realized over $22.

The Battersea brass band played a number of fine selections during the evening. The bandmen gave their services free of charge to the Red Cross. The Orangemen also gave the hall free. Over $50 was taken in at the door.

Rev. J. A. Waddell, Seeley's Bay, preached in the Methodist church last Sunday evening in the interest of missions. Rev. A. W. Stewart took the work in Seeley's Bay.

The many friends of Miss Hannah VanLuven will be sorry to learn that she has been taken ill while visiting in Hamilton. Miss Anna Gallovey is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. Matthews. The Red Cross Society will meet at the parsonage on Thursday afternoon.

LAWYER WAS INSTIGATOR

Slayer of Italian Says He Was Compelled to Shoot.

New York, Oct. 19.—Gaetano Montemagno, who shot and killed Michael Galmari on March 8th, 1914, testifying at the trial here of Michael Rofrano, a lawyer, accused of complicity in the crime, declared Rofrano not only was the instigator of the murder, but had warned him that unless he killed Galmari, he would "ble the way we want you to kill him." Rofrano at the time was deputy street cleaning commissioner of New York.

On the night of the murder, Montemagno said he was accompanied by John Brondini, one of Rofrano's alleged lieutenants who pointed out Galmari to him and told him to shoot.

Brondini tipped his hat to Galmari from the opposite side of the street and, when the latter acknowledged the greeting, Montemagno shot him, he testified.

Montemagno said he told Rofrano he did not want to slay Galmari, and that Rofrano replied if he was not sure he could get him off he would not let him do it. The witness was arrested a few minutes after the murder and was convicted. An appeal has acted as a stay of execution.

TRICKY KING OF GREECE

GATHERS STORES AT LARISSA TO SUPPLY ROYALISTS.

Would Announce That U.S. Squadron is Rushing to King's Aid—Destiny of Greek People Lies With Trembling King.

London, Oct. 19.—The tenacity of the situation in Greece has not diminished, and the danger of a flare-up at any moment is as great as ever. Whether the Allies take the final step that will drive King Constantine from his throne seems to rest entirely on the King's courage of action in the next few days.

Constantine has collected great quantities of munitions, guns and rifles at various spots on the road to Larissa, where, it seems, he laid plans for organizing a strong defence against the Allies, with the assistance of the Germans.

Certainly the allies will not permit their left flank to be menaced in this fashion, but they have not yet decided to deal surgically with the monarch, and hope was expressed in some quarters last night that such steps could be avoided.

The Greek monarch's popularity with a considerable section of the Greek army remains unshaken. Constantine, according to despatches from Athens last night, told the British minister that he had never contemplated an attack on Sarraïl's troops and that he would withdraw his forces from Larissa if the Allies asked such a move.

Despite these assurances London is still skeptical. Unofficial telegrams from the Greek capital state that the latest trick of the Royalists is to proclaim that an American squadron is approaching to protect the Hellenes against oppression. They praise this protection for the suffering and heavily tried Greeks by the citizens of North America, champions of liberty.

The Royalist papers, which are sowing assiduously the seeds of protest against the Allies, refuse to listen to any denials of this announcement. They have succeeded in rousing many Athenians, and as a result the danger of a clash between the Entente troops and the Greeks still impends.

Greece has lodged a protest with the neutral powers against the action of the Allies in seizing part of Athens and Piraeus. But the Allied answer to this is that King Constantine was manoeuvring to throw over neutrality, and that they only anticipated this.

Greek Cabinet Protests.

(Special to the Whig.)

Athens, Oct. 19.—The Cabinet met to-day and drafted a protest to the Allies against the arrest of Greek members of the Reservist Royalist League by French marines last night, when the reservists threatened the marines. Greek troops witnessed the arrest, but did not interfere.

Shingles on a house situated near the waterworks plant, Ontario street, caught fire from sparks from the chimney at 6.30 o'clock Thursday morning, and the firemen were called. The damage was slight.

OFFICERS TO VISIT FRONT.

Many Prevented From Going on Active Service to Make Trip.

According to an Ottawa despatch, prominent officers in the different divisional areas will likely be given an opportunity in the next few months of visiting the battle front.

Since the war started these officers, though keen to go on active service overseas, have had to remain at home because of the important and pressing work incidental to the organization and despatch of the Canadian troops. Circumstances are now such as to permit a party of them to go over and familiarize themselves with service conditions at the front.

To be in reality a brother's keeper forces one to forget at times self-interest. Knowing how is more than half the battle.

Do You Believe This?

As a manufactured product, Direct-by-Mail Advertising is one of the mainstays of an industry that ranks sixth in the United States and Canada in volume of business.

American printing establishments in 1909, as scheduled in the 1914 report of the census bureau, numbered 31,445. They represented an investment in plants, machinery and other equipment of $588,345,708, employed 388,466 people at an annual wage of $268,086,431, and turned out $737,876,087 worth of printing. Over one hundred million dollars of this amount, it is estimated by "Printer's Ink," was paid for Direct Advertising.

Large as is the amount of money annually invested in Direct Advertising, however, it sinks into insignificance when compared with the dividends that are returned by the investment—the amount of money that ultimately changes hands as a result of the distribution of the advertising.

Excluding Newspapers and Periodicals, Direct-by-Mail Advertising probably represents a greater capital investment, gives employment to more people, moves more goods, has a more vital and vitalizing effect on trade, than any other one agency of business promotion.

We would be pleased to show you samples and help you plan an appealing piece of advertising literature.
