YEAR NO. 83-248.

KINGSTON, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1916.

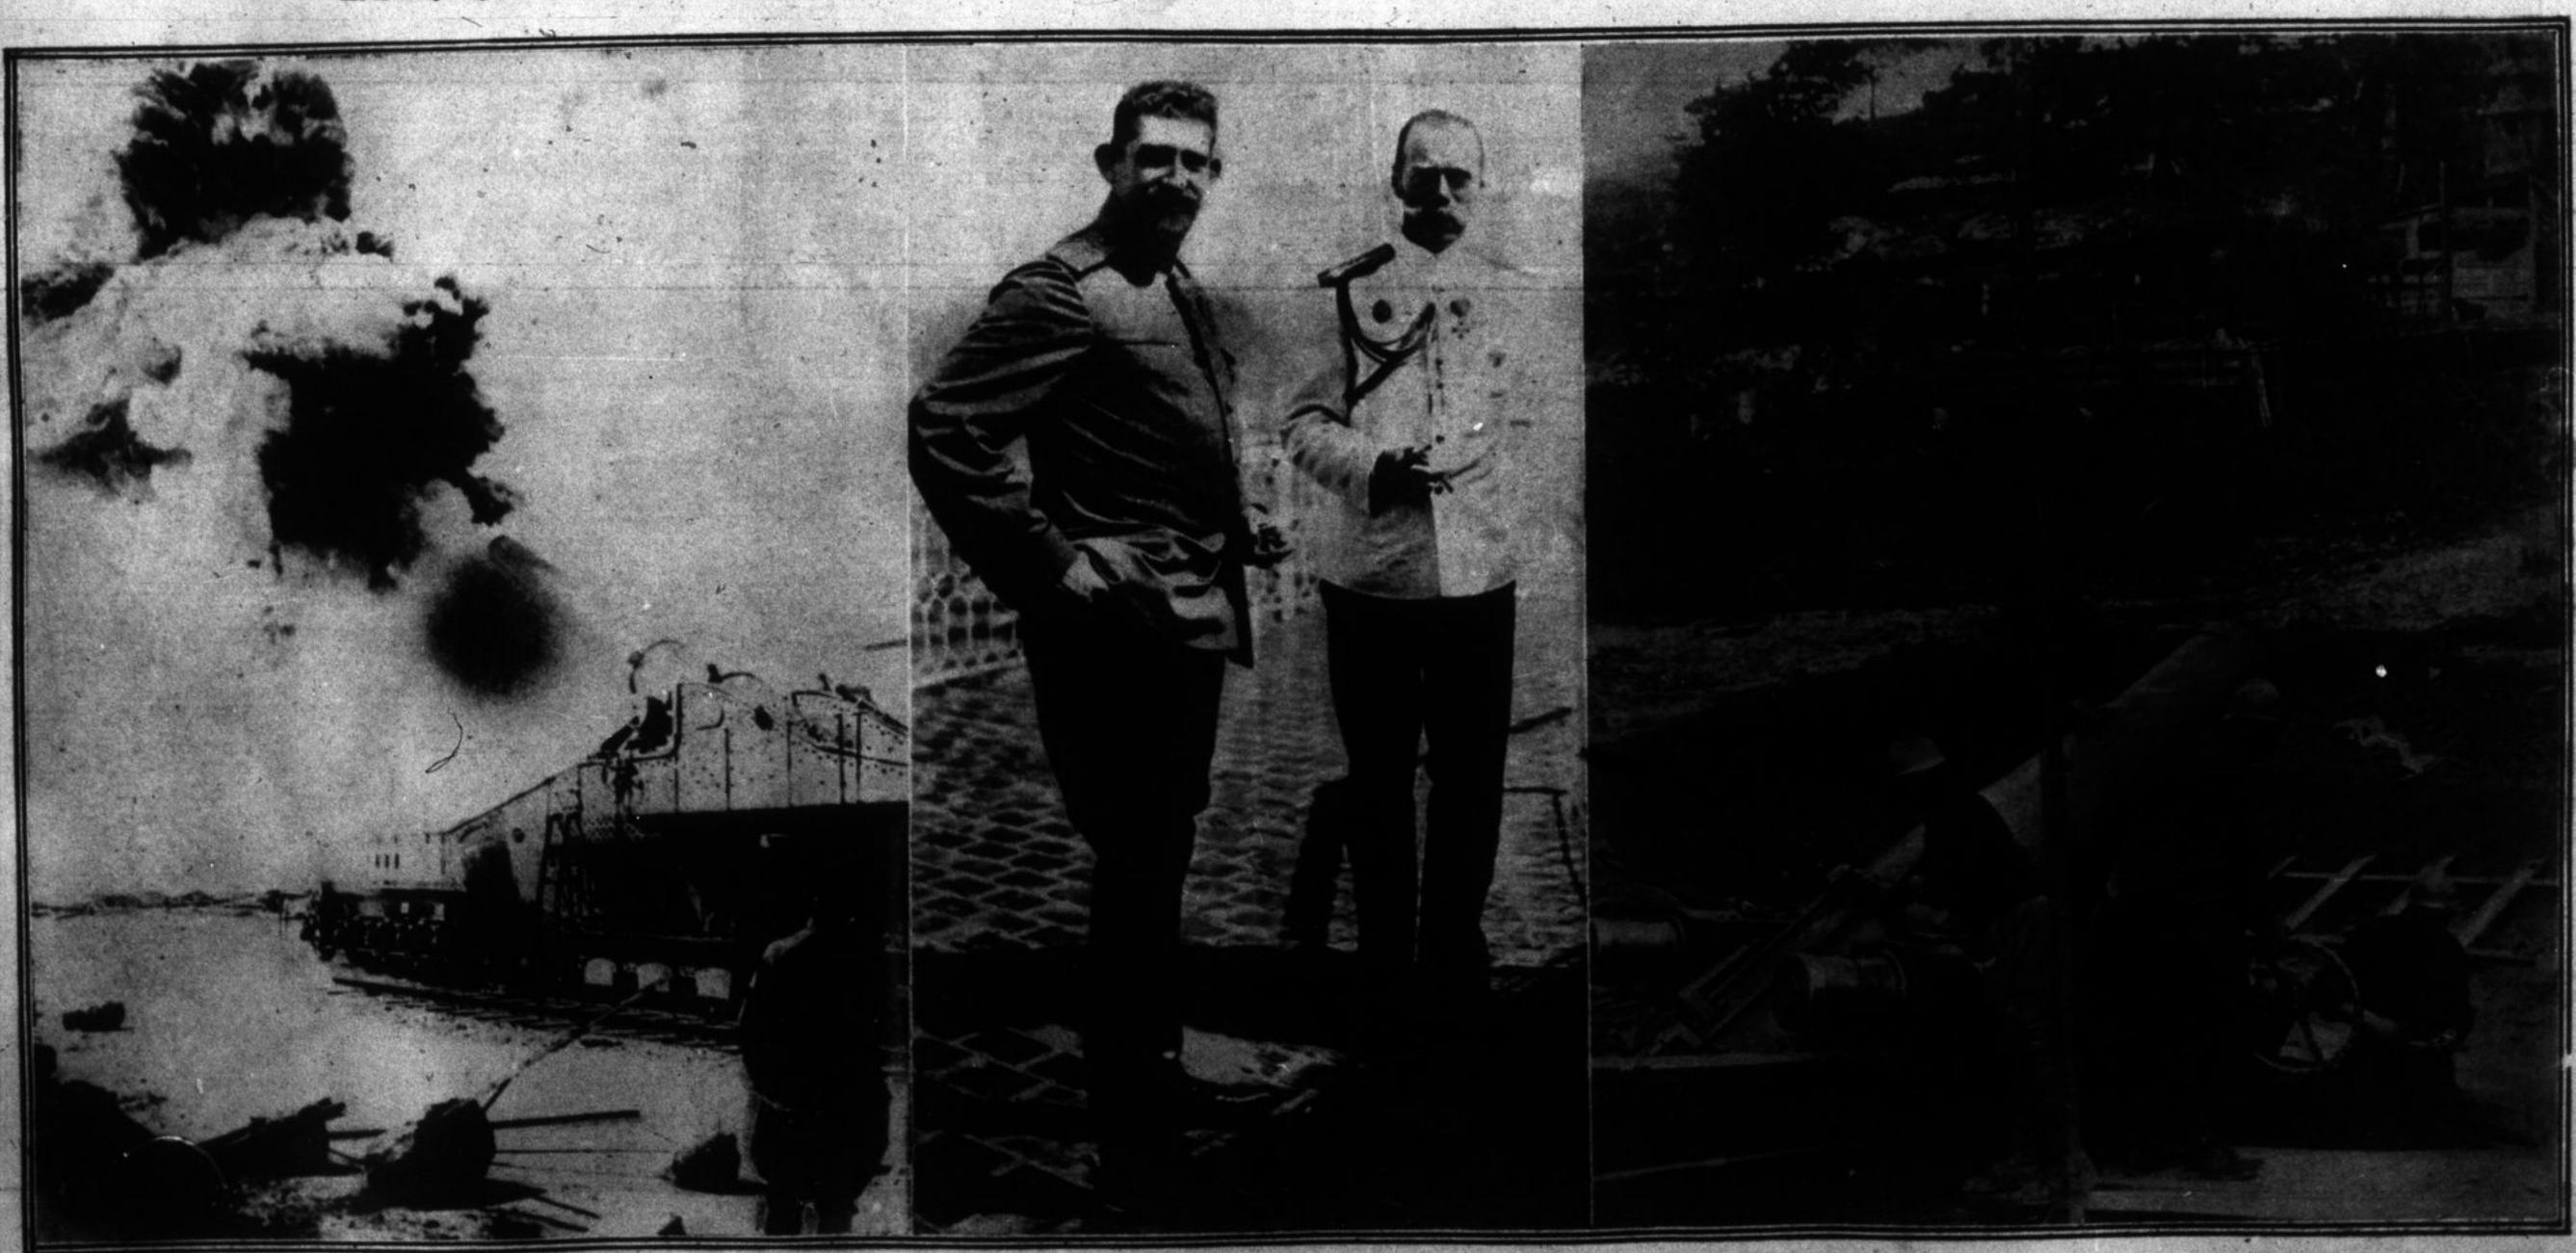

ON THE BRITISH WESTERN FRONT. How shell crater is utilized by the British forces for a dressing station and shelter for stretcher bearers, at Guillement.

Wreck of the Zeppelin which was brought down just outside of London, on the night of September 23rd.

SECOND LIEUT. GEORGES GUYNEMER, OF THE FRENCH AIR SERVICE, Whose latest exploit is to wing three aeroplanes in two and a half minutes. After doing this he fell 10,000 feet, but escaped uninjured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known, went to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known, went to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known, went to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known, went to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known, went to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known, went to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known, went to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known, went to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known, went to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known, went to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known, went to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The King of the Aces," as he is known to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The Aces," as he is known to the assistance of a comrade who was hard pressed by five German injured. "The Aces, "The Aces

ON THE BRITISH WESTERN FRONT. British observation balloon and its nurse in pit, ready for an ascension.

GIANT BRITISH RAILROAD GUN SENDING ITS MISSILE OF DEATH

INTO THE GERMAN TRENCHES.

TWO ALLIED RULERS.

The King of Roumania and Czar Nicholas of Russia, whose soldiers are fighting side by side in Transylvania.

GIANT FRENCH TRENCH MORTAR OF 220 MILIAMETRI Which has been used with great effectiveness on the Somme front