CHRIST'S KINGDOM IS NEAR

PREPARATIONS HAVE BEEN GOING ON FOR HUNDREDS OF YEARS

Autos Are One of Signs—Doctrine of Eternal Damnation is Condemned.

Rev. Pastor A. M. Graham, I.B.S.A., Brooklyn, N.Y., who delivered an address in Griffin's theatre Sunday afternoon to a fair-sized audience, said the autos of to-day were an indication of the ushering in of Christ's kingdom upon earth. They answered one of the signs given by the prophet Nahum that would herald the coming of the kingdom. The prophet cried: "The chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall jostle one against another in the broad ways; they shall seem like torches, they shall run like lightning."

Pastor Graham, who is a member of the International Bible Students' Association, spoke on the subject, "Christ's Kingdom." During the opening of his discourse he quoted from the word of God to show that God intended to restore to men His kingdom, which had been lost through the action of father Adam.

Preparing for Kingdom. During the past 100 or 115 years God had been preparing for the setting up of His kingdom. Ever since 1799 when Napoleon crushed the temporal power of the Pope, there had been a mighty change in the world for the better. There had been many material, mental, and spiritual blessings.

In the material realm there were the inventions of steam, which made fast travel by water and land possible, and of the telegraph and the telephone, which had gathered all nations of the world together. People were living better than they did. They were eating fruits and vegetables from the tropics. The seasons had been obliterated altogether. The families of men who were earning not more than $15 a week were living in more comfort than Kings had lived in 1799. And what had happened in respect to material blessings was just a drop in the bucket.

Other Blessings.

But there were other kinds of blessings. There were the open Bible and free schools. The result of this was the freeing of man from the dogmas of the Dark Ages. Dark Ages, dogmas that the Bible did not teach. One of these dogmas taught eternal damnation. People revolted at that doctrine. They couldn't damn anybody eternally, and they didn't think they were any better than God. The speaker told of a man who was fined $15 for cruelty to animals because he set fire to a few rats he had caught in a trap. "That man," he continued, "was fined for having a little hell in his backyard, and people who condemned this cruel man's conduct could think with approval of God as putting men in hell and rats, and keeping them there, not for a few minutes, but for all eternity."

Great Changes Coming.

Great changes would precede the ending of this age. There would be great troubles, and there were indications that these troubles were near at hand. Many of the blessings were controlled by a few who made many pay for them. Some one turned a screw and up went the price of sugar and meat. The great masses of the people were waking up, and saying that the men who had controlled these blessings had had them long enough. They contended that the government ought to own the telephones, the telegraph and the railways, and the steamboat lines. Clashes were bound to come between the classes and the masses.

The Kingdom of God.

When God established His kingdom just beyond this line of trouble what was it going to mean? It would mean that God was going to give the world back to mankind. There would be no mortgages and no rents. Every man would dwell under his own vine and fig tree. Equity and justice would everywhere prevail. There would be no more sorrow or sickness or dying. Fellowship with God would be restored to mankind, the earth would be just what father Adam had lost. This millennium kingdom would

PIMPLES AND BOILS ALL OVER FACE AND BODY

When the blood becomes impure you will find that pimples and boils will break out all over the body, and although they are not a dangerous trouble, they make you appear unattractively both to your friends and yourself.

Burdock Blood Bitters will cleanse the blood of all the impurities and poisons which cause the skin to break out in these eruptions. Miss Sylvia Swanson, Theodore, Sask., writes: "I am letting you know that great value your B.B.B. has been to me. A year ago I started to grow pale and weak, the cause being bad blood. I got so many pimples and boils all over my face and body that I would not let strangers see me, and I used to avoid company. I tried many remedies but all seemed a failure. I read about how good your B.B.B. has been to thousands of people so I got a bottle and after I had finished the second one my pimples and boils had all disappeared. People thought it a miracle how well I looked. "Your grand old remedy sure has been as good as gold and better, to me." Burdock Blood Bitters has been manufactured for the past forty years by The T. Millburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont. See that our name appears on the wrapper.

last one thousand years, and during that time God was going to judge mankind to determine who were worthy of life everlasting. William Dinsdale presided, and introduced the speaker.

NEW LORD OF ADMIRALTY.

Civil Representative on Board Popular with the Public.

The new Civil Lord of the British Admiralty is Lord Lytton, who takes the place of the Duke of Devonshire, nominated Governor-General of Canada in succession to the Duke of Connaught.

Inheriting Knebworth, one of the most magnificent of ancient English estates, and small revenues which he paid its upkeep, Lord Lytton became the second earl when he was fifteen and had, according to his family and friends, the clear duty of making a rich marriage to rehabilitate the family fortunes.

With the Duchesse of Devonshire, a poet, he was one of the most successful in the English matrimonial market when at the age of twenty-two he married the penniless Miss Pamela Plowden, seven years older than himself, the daughter of a small official in India.

Miss Plowden came of good family, she was pretty and charming, ambitious and original, and she had the good luck to attract the attention of the then Marchioness of Granby, now the Duchess of Rutland, a woman of many accomplishments and sweet disposition, who then, as now, held the democratic idea that a beautiful and talented woman was good enough for any society. Lady Granby, the little cotterie to which belonged Miss Margot Tennant, Mrs. Asquith, and Arthur Balfour and Lord Curzon, and in Lady Granby's drawing-room in Arlington street Miss Plowden was introduced into the charmed circle.

Lord and Lady Lytton spent their honeymoon at Knebworth, it being loaned to them by Lord and Lady Strathcona, who had it on a long lease, the Lytton family not having the money to live in it themselves. In its general exterior it is to-day the same as it was left by Lord Lytton's grandfather, Edward Lytton Bulwer, the poet and novelist, who inherited it from his mother and took her name as Baron Lytton in 1816, when he was elevated to the peerage for distinguished services to the State.

The estate has been in the Lytton family since the time of William the Conqueror. Edward Lytton Bulwer's mother, a Miss Lytton, an old lady as eccentric as she was wealthy, pulled down the four courths of Knebworth, saying that she couldn't afford to pay for such a large establishment. What is left of it is sufficiently commodious to house a royal family.

After Lord Strathcona gave it up, Knebworth was leased at different times to visiting royalty and sailing Americans. Mr. Ogden Mills of New York rented it in 1899 as a country residence for his daughter, the Countess of Granard. Three years ago the Countess, Mrs. Alexander, the only brother of the Czar of Russia, leased Knebworth from Lord Lytton as the home of his morganatic wife and children when he was exiled from Russia at the time of his marriage. The rental was said to be $25,000 a year for three years. But soon after she broke out the Grand Duke Michael was permitted to return to his native country and take his family with him. Since then Lord and Lady Lytton have been at Knebworth themselves, the only period since their marriage when they have lived there for any length of time.

Cookery Curiosities.

Old English cookery was astonishingly lavish. Yorkshire cooks, for instance, seemed to fling about dozens of eggs and pints of cream. A favorite dish to send to one's friends at Christmas was made like this: Take a turkey and bone it; take a goose and bone it, and so on with a chicken, a pheasant, a partridge, a pigeon, and a lark; then put the lark in the pigeon, the pigeon in the partridge, the partridge in the pheasant, the pheasant in the chicken, the chicken in the goose, and the goose in the turkey. The turkey should then be placed in a dish with a couple of hens to fill up the crevices, and six pounds of fresh butter, covered and cooked. The recipe said this was "an agreeable pie to eat cold."

Letter From Haig.

General Sir Sam Hughes, Canadian Minister of Militia, has received a letter from Sir Douglas Haig, of which the following is an extract: "I desire to express my sincere appreciation of the generous terms in which you refer to the achievements of the army in France. It must be a source of pride and gratification to you to know that the gallant officers and men who come from Canada to fight for the King and the common cause of our Empire invariably do their duty in a way that reflects the greatest possible credit on themselves and their Dominion."

An Infernal Engine.

An English battalion was recently warned to keep a careful watch for any contrivance which the Germans might use with the object of producing poisonous gases. Shortly afterwards on taking over some trenches an old bagpipe was found. At once a colonel, who possessed a rare sense of humor, sent the following message to his regiment headquarters: "A weird instrument has been discovered in my trenches; it is believed to have been used for producing asphyxiating noises!"

The Pribilof herd.

The Pribilof South Sea Seal Herd at the end of the breeding season of 1915 contained about a third of a million animals of both sexes and all ages, or about 40,000 more than last year. The pups born this year numbered 185,528. The rapid increase in this herd is due to the international agreement, which has suspended the killing of seals on the Pribilof Islands, except a small number of males killed annually for food by the natives.

BRITISH AIDED THE U.S.

POULTNEY BIGELOW DESCRIBES TWO INSTANCES OF NAVAL HELP

Admiral Supplied Coal—Demands That Washington Clear Up "Ambiguous Affairs" Outside Newport.

New York, Nov. 6.—Poultny Bigelow, in a letter addressed to the editor of The New York Times, writes as follows:

"It cannot be true that American naval officers assisted Russian submarines in their dirty work outside of Newport. No doubt Washington will soon clear up this ambiguous affair. Meanwhile, pray permit me to add my mite of testimony regarding the attitude of Great Britain in 1898, when Imperial Germany sided with Spain and sought to bully our gallant Dewey at Manila.

"The tale of how the British Captain Chichester stood up with our admiral against the German Admiral has been told before, and finally by Admiral Dewey's step in Manila by conversation, not merely with our own admiral and his British colleague, but by other participants in that memorable fight. Moreover, the British authorities in Hong Kong, although legally neutral, interpreted their duties in the manner most favorable to the American ships, and Dewey found no difficulty in fitting out to the best advantage prior to steaming across to the enemy in the Philippines. And as the Yankee fleet steamed past that of England in Hong Kong, the British bluejackets manned the rigging and cheered us heartily—a most unneutral and yet most generous act.

Incident in Chief.

"After the war I found myself in Chief, waiting an answer from the Russian commander at Port Arthur, to whom I had applied for permission to cross Siberia. The palace revolution was in full swing at Peking, and the fleets of the great powers—controlled every bucket of coal in the treaty ports.

"Then it was that our consul, Fowler, ran up and down the streets of Chief, wringing his hands and begging for a few tons of coal—but not the cable he buy. He showed me the cable which he was ordered to coal his cruiser, expected every moment on a hurry call to protect American lives and property in Tien Tsin. He told me he could not do anything—money could not buy an ounce of coal. 'Nonsense,' said 'the British admiral has plenty of coal.'

"True," said Consul Fowler, 'but what of that?'

"Our consul, you see, was another of that strange species who think that good things can be bought by money only. Then I told him to state his case to Admiral Seymour at Wei Hai Wei, forty miles to the eastward. He smiled suspiciously, but finally yielded and together we connected the cable to which in an hour came the joyful news: 'Certainly, help yourself—as much as you wish'—or words to that effect. I wonder if England has ever been paid for that coal, for I'm sure that no bill would ever be sent by John Bull."

LATE MRS. J. G. CAMPBELL.

Was One of the Pioneers of Lanark County.

Perth Courier. Just one year and three months after the death of John G. Campbell, his widow, Helen Isabella Murdoch Campbell, followed her husband to the haven of rest, at the advanced age of eighty-five years and eleven months. Her death occurred on Oct. 21st.

Mrs. Campbell came of a once well known and prominent family in the Lanark settlement. Her father, the late John A. Campbell, born in Aberdeen, and her mother, Mrs. H. Hall, from Clarkmannan, were among the pioneer settlers from Scotland, who, when the ship Commerce brought so many in the memorable pioneer year, 1820, from the old land to Lanark and vicinity, had to bear the hardships of such conditions as the unbroken wilderness brought to their lot.

Her parents were married in Lanark village shortly after the arrival of the settlers. Then, or soon after, her father became the first postmaster of Lanark, and while yet in youth and vigor the newly married couple went to live on a farm at Playfairville, which he had bought, and where both died.

Their family of ten children were born or brought up on this farm and it was their delight in after years.

AGED WOMAN

Run Strong and Feeble—Made Young by Vinol.

So many people in Kingston and vicinity are in Mrs. Wickersham's condition we ask you to call at our store and get a bottle of Vinol, and if it fails to benefit we will return your money. In her eighty-second year Mrs. John Wickersham, of Russellville, Pa., says: "I was in a run-down, feeble condition and had lost flesh. A neighbor asked me to try Vinol, and after taking two bottles my strength returned; I am gaining in flesh, it has built up my health and I am feeling fine for a woman of my age, so I get around and do my housework." The reason Vinol was so successful in Mrs. Wickersham's case was because it contains beef and cod liver peptides, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weak, run-down system and create strength.

Right here in Kingston we have seen such excellent results from Vinol that it is a pleasure to know it is doing so much good for old people in other parts of the country. Mahood Drug Co., Limited, Kingston. Also at the best druggist in all Ontario towns.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK CROSS, FEVERISH

"When Constipated or Bilious Give California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or if feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels, without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has direct action on the children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is pany." Refuse any other kind with made by "California Fig Syrup Company."
