MILITARY CIRCLES

Major the Rev. G. I. Campbell, as recruiting officer says he is endeavoring to raise to full strength twenty-one units and battalions in the Third division. This requires at least 9000 more men, no easy task.

Gunner John Raven, born at Kingston, is one of the youngest soldiers at the front. He enlisted in the 6th Canadian Mounted Rifles when he was under fifteen years of age and at present is attached to the Howitzer Battery. An older brother, Arthur is in uniform in Kingston.

Lieut. Ramsey Morris, 38th Batt., has been in a hospital in England for some time suffering from injury to his eyes, sustained just before the Canadians left the Ypres salient. Mrs. Morris and Miss Grace Morris, Peterboro, will sail this week for England to see him and remain with him for a time. His brother, Lieut. Basil Morris, spent six days with him while on leave in England recently. Both the lieutenants have many warm friends in Kingston.

Major Chas. Ackerman, Peterboro, is to succeed Major W. D. Johnston in command of the 247th Battalion who is resigning. Major Ackerman, before the war was an officer in the 57th Regiment, went overseas with the 2nd Battalion and after seeing hard fighting was severely wounded and invalided home. Associated with him as second in command of the 247th will be Capt. O'Flynn, of Belleville, another veteran of the 2nd Battalion, recently back from the front.

It is understood that Col. Roy, of the R. S. A., has received orders to proceed shortly to England to take up instructional duty. This transfer will no doubt be welcomed by him as bringing him at least that much closer to the front.

Clive Carruthers, U. C., 1912 Oxon, a Rhodes Scholar, is in Kingston to qualify for a commission in the artillery. He is a son of Prof. Adam Carruthers of Toronto University.

G. H. Hayes and H. Kilpatrick, Pembroke have joined Queen's Ambulance Corps. Mr. Hayes was assistant postmaster and Mr. Kilpatrick, a courteous drug clerk. Calvin Church gave Mr. Hayes a fitting souvenir and address.

It is said on good authority that an additional battalion is to be organized, with headquarters in Belleville, under the command of Major A. R. Allen, lately of Barriefield camp.

Of the 235th Battalion officers five have already seen active service at the front. They are Major Southey, 21st battalion; Capt. Meath, 39th battalion; Lieut. Mills, 2nd battalion; Lieut. Coghill, 1st battalion; and Lieut. Dodds, 39th battalion.

St. Andrew's club will resume its work of entertaining soldiers this evening. St. Andrew's Hall is a pleasant place for soldiers to spend a hour or so.

Nine recruits were secured last week at the Princess street recruiting depot, which is considered a good number for this time of the year. It is expected that when navigation closes there will be a considerable increase in the number of recruits.

The names of a few of the officers of Queen's Highland Battalion have been sent to Ottawa for approval.

The following committee will cooperate with the officers of Queen's battalion in the matter of securing recruits and funds: Sanford Calvin, Elmer Davis, W. R. Givens, Dr. J. J. Hartz, W. H. Macnee, C. A. Macpherson, R. Meek, Neil Polson, Jr., R. Uglow and W. Waldron.

There is again a rumor abroad that Queen's Hospital, which is now in France, will be moved to Russia, but Lieut.-Col. Colonel says he has received no word of the proposed transfer.

A course in bayonet fighting and physical training is to open here on Tuesday with Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown, G.S.O., as commandant, and Lieut. James O. Bews as officer instructor. The course is the first since the soldiers left Barriefield camp, at which several very beneficial courses were held. The work was carried on so successfully at the camp that headquarters is anxious that it be continued through the winter.

Lieut.-Col. R. J. Gardiner, A.D. M.S., 3rd Division, has returned to Kingston, after an inspection of Ottawa military hospitals and homes. Col. Gardiner was much pleased with the state of affairs there. He took twenty-eight soldiers out of St. Luke's hospital and accompanied them to Kingston. These men had gone to St. Luke's from Petewawa for treatment.

Col. C. H. C. Van Straubenzle has been given command of a district, according to the London, England, Gazette.

It was reported Sunday week that Lieut. George Kerr, son of J. C. Kerr, Chatham, and a graduate of the Royal Military College, had been killed in action; on Friday word came that a mistake had been made, the gallant lieutenant was alive and well.

Eight invalided soldiers arrived at the "Elmhurst" Convalescent Home on Saturday. There was one Kingstonian in the number, Lance-Corporal Fred Walwright, of the 4th Battalion.

Kodak films and supplies at the Red Cross drug store. Sunday was a charming November day, clear and cool. Send your Christmas parcels overseas early. R. H. Toys has gone to Toronto on business.

THEATRICAL NEWS

At the Grand.

For to-night, Tuesday and Wednesday an excellent bill has been secured. In the feature picture Harold Lockwood and May Allison will be seen in the "The River of Romance," a story brimful of thrills, dramatic surprises and delightful romance. A two-reel Universal feature, a rib-tickling comedy, and the popular Pathe News will also be shown. Headlining the vaudeville will be the Clifton Sisters, described as a duo of dainty dancing darlings, who come highly recommended in their singing, dancing and pianolone act. Also, Dad Lozier, bone soloist and exponent of novel minstrel end-man stunts.

"September Morn."

"September Morn" has found her way to the stage—with her wealth of song, mirth, melody, happiness and joy. Ruth Wilkins "The American Gaby Deslys," is in the role of "Argentina," the dancer, while William Moore, a remarkably clever eccentric comedian, will be seen as "Rudolph Plastric," the artist. In addition to this splendid cast of talented principals, "September Morn" comes with a big chorus of dancing and singing girls, prettily costumed and attractively coached in many dashing ensembles. The big fun show will be seen at the Grand on Saturday, Nov. 11th, matinee and night.

Robert Edeson at Strand.

The feature photoplay booked at the Strand for the first three days of this week is a five-part Gold Rooster play, "The Light That Failed," by Rudyard Kipling. Robert Edeson, assisted by Jean Gollins and an all star cast, is seen at his best in this wonderful story. A two-part Essanay drama, the Selig Weekly of latest current events and other good reels are on the bill. The vaudeville will consist of Jimmy Russell in a comedy singing turn, and McFarlane and Wright.

At Griffin's.

The bill at this popular playhouse for to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday is an exceptionally strong one, headed by the beautiful Pauline Frederick in an impressive pictorialization of Clyde Pitch's greatest dramatic triumph, "The Woman in the Case." This subject is without doubt one of the finest and most powerful productions of the Famous Players list of features, and is in itself a very complete evening's entertainment. The vaudeville, Ryan and Lillie, is a team of clever entertainers. The house also shows another chapter of that sensational serial, "The Girl and the Game," and one of these very laughable Frank Daniels' comedies. The above programme, augmented by a high-class orchestra is one of the best ever presented to the public of Kingston and is deserving of patronage.

Ideal Theatre.

Dorothy Davenport and Emery Johnson in a Red Feather feature entitled, "The Barriers of Society." This is a story of the sea, and the plot is very interesting. Wednesday and Thursday, third episode of "Liberty," also Francis Ford and Grace Cunard in "Brennan of the Moor," a strong Irish play which gives these two stars ample scope for their abilities.

At the King Edward.

The raging, tempestuous scenes of "The Secret of the Submarine" are continued in another pulsating two-act chapter. The brilliant beauty of the great seascapes is in powerful dramatic contrast to the terrors of the treacherous waters filled with floating mines, where the British and foreign spies strive for mastery. Again, Thomas Chatterton and Juanita Hansen in tremendous adventures. Again, a chapter of gigantic drawing power. At the King Edward to-night and Tuesday. Usual admission.

Obituary

Loss of Twin Daughters. In two sad, short weeks Mr. and Mrs. Robert Purcell, of Barriefield, have lost their twin infant daughters. On Oct. 21st Phyllis Helen, aged six months, died of pneumonia, and on the 28th Gertrude joined her little sister in the better land.

TWO EXTRA MILLS WOULD BE NECESSARY

If City is Compelled to Build and Maintain Shelter for Care of Children.

In speaking to a Whig representative on Monday afternoon, Mayor Richardson pointed out that if the city was compelled to provide and maintain a shelter for the care of children that the estimated cost for the same to the city would be between $20,000 and $30,000 for buildings and grounds, with an annual expenditure of $2,000 or $3,000 a year. This would mean an additional tax of two mills on the taxpayers. His worship pointed out that the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society would be held on Tuesday afternoon, and that if citizens objected to this expenditure it was up to them to attend this meeting and enter a protest. The Children's Aid Society had entered an act on against the city for $717 for the care of wards, while it is claimed by the city that the city has paid for the keep of these wards at the Orphans' Home and the Infants' Home, and that the present arrangements for the care of the children has been most satisfactory.

St. John's Ambulance Association. Annual meeting, new Medical building, Queen's University, Tuesday, Nov. 7th, 8 p.m. All friends invited.
