BORN WITH ITCHING BURNING ECZEMA

Healed by Cuticura Trial Free

"My grandlaughter was born with parts of her body being large cruption and it became very itchy and burned. She was cross and irritable and for four years I lost sleep. She had the troubl seven years before neard of Cuticura Soap she is healed." (Signed) Mrs. Peter Ontario, November 11, 1915. Sample Each Free by Mail With 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard: "Cuticura, Dept. J. Boston, U.S.A." Sold throughout the world.

Johnson, James St., W., Gravenhurst,

Draperies Curtains

At least once a year your draperies and curtains will require to be dyed or cleaned.

This can be attended to most satisfactorily and with the minimum of trouble and expense by having us do the work. New trimmings supplied if required. Estimates gladly given:

write or telephone about this helpful household PARKER'S DYE WORKS

69 Princess Street, Kingston, Ontario.

For Prices

brands apply:-

MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT ational Broweries Limited Room 31 36 Chaboillez Square. MONTREAL.

INDIA PALE ALE
CROWN STOUT
PALE BITTER ALE
DOUBLE STOUT
MALT EXTRACT

EXTRA INDIA PALE ALE BLACK HORSE ALE

EXTRA STOUT BLACK HORSE PORTER Lagore :-KINGSBEER CLUB SPECIAL

INDIA PALE ALE

BOHEMIAN LAGER The above goods are all full strength and are supplied to consumers direct from the Brewery ONLY in localities where no licensed traders reside.

Dominion Fish Co. Bulk Oysters 60c and 70c

Farms

a quart.

farm properties and have at presen a large number of farms for sale. We are thoroughly posted on farm values in Kingston district. If you wish to buy or sell it would be to your advantage to consult us.

Bank of Montreal Bldg.

"McLaughlin" Garage

Parmers and Automobile Own-ers, attention please! . We han-dle the best grades of lubricating olls "Veedol" and "Polarine," also Model T Ford oil. All kinds of automobile necessories kept in tended to. Storage by the day, week or month.

Robt. J. Fursey, Prop.
Phones No. 1600-931.
St-37 Montreal St. near Princess

THE LOST

Who Stole It?

By CLARISSA MACKIE

BVVVVVVVVVV

Mr. William Donnay sat in his study reading. He was an old gentleman, very rich and lived in elegant style. All his immediate family had died and left him alone in his old age. There was but one person to inherit his wealth, a grandson, and the young man found it irksome to wait until he should step into his grandfather's shoes.

Mr. Donnay, senior, had a fad which interested him at a time of life when activity did not. In the upper part of his house was a large room in which were stored many and varied curios. There were relics of war, pottery that had been dug up by archaeologists after having been buried some 2,000 or 3,000 years. There were Egyptian ornaments and one mummy. Jewels that, had decorated the person of some ancient princess were in cases, and even those intrinsically valuable were exposed to the clutches of any one who might take a fancy to them.

On this particular morning when Mr. William Donnay sat reading in his study there was a knock at the door | ther's death will dispose of it to ex and his valet, Simpson, entered. Mr. Donnay looked up inquiringly.

"There's been more stealing, Mr. Donnay," said Simpson, "The amber necklace has been taken from its case in the museum."

Mr. Donnay's brow darkened. "And the diamond pendant has gone

Mr. Donnay did not hasten to reply. but when he did he said: "Well, Simpson, I presume I must investigate these thefts. I'll see my lawyers and learn what can be done.

Gerald Donnay had seen the valet enter his grandfather's study and followed him, stopping near enough to the door, that had been left partly open, to hear what was said. When mannemann be had heard it he hurried away to his grandfather's attorneys.

It was 2 o'clock in the afternoon when an office boy admitted the young man to the law offices of Harley & Rogers, but it was long after 3 when George Harley hurried in from court. When the lawyer entered with a brief nod of greeting to the stranger the youth came forward eagerly.

"Mr. Harley?" he inquired. "Yes," returned the lawyer, admitting the client to his private office and scanning the card which he found on his desk. "You wished to see me, Mr. Donnay?"

"It is a very pressing matter," said the other, drawing a chair close to the desk and sitting down, "a matter of the utmost secrecy.'

"A case of private inquiry?" "Something of the sort. You see, Mr. Harley, I live with my grandfather, Colonel Donnay, and the old gentleman is-er-rather eccentric-dreadfully penurious, don't you know?" He laughed in an embarrassed manner.

"Doesn't like to see a young fellow enjoy life, eb?" questioned Harley. "That's it! Growls every time I ask for a check, and be seems to forget that some day all the money will be mine-unless he changes his will, and he's apt to do that any moment." "And the matter about which you wished to consult me?" suggested Har-

The young man grew paler, and his voice dropped almost to a whisper. "It's about a necklace an amber necklace of great value. It has been in the Donnay family for many generations, and, aside from the fact that it is made up of 100 carved beads of pure amber, there is a pendant which is almost priceless; it is a large canary diamond." He paused and moistened

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Hair! Double It Your Beauty In Just a Few

25-Cent "Danderine" Makes Hai

Thick, Glossy, Wavy and Beautiful.

cation of Danderine you can not find The amber necklace, a jumble of scata single trace of dandruff or falling tered beads, was found in a box of colhair and your scalp will not itch, but | lars, half concealed by a package of what will please you most will be letters from Simpson's English friends. after a few weeks' use, when you "What did I tell you?" demanded see new hair, fine and downy at first Gerald breathlessly. -yes-but really new hair-growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to egetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life- grandfather will say now!" chuckled producing properties cause the hair the young man. to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately son has deceived him, has been faithdoubles the beauty of your hair. No less after all." suggested the lawyer. difference how dull, faded, brittle "Of course you know this means imand scraggy, just moisten a cloth prisonment for Simpson." with Danderine and carefully draw it | Gerald winced. "Of course grandfathrough your hair, taking one small ther will never prosecute him." be said strand at a time. The effect is hastly. "At least I can prove that I amazing-your hair will be light, am innocent," he ended in an injured fluffy and wavy, and have an appear- tone ance of abandance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance. Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or the location of your own room and that tollet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—leave front spartment on the same you surely can have beautiful hair floor as the servants' wing. It was and lots of it if you will just try hoor as the straighted and bore evi-

"And the necklace has been stolen?" Gerald Donnay started violently, and his light blue eyes wore a frightened

"Who told you that?" he demanded. "I surmised it. Please go on with your story, Mr. Donnay."

"Pardon me, Mr. Harley; I am much upset by the whole occurrence. My grandfather keeps the necklace in his museum on the top floor of the house. Last night it was intact in its case. This morning my grandfather appeared at the breakfast table much agitated. saying that the amber necklace had disappeared and there was no sign of burglary. You see, it places me in a very unpleasant position." "Why?"

"Because only yesterday I had asked my grandfather to help me out of a grave financial difficulty. He refused. His natural inference is that I helped myself to the necklace."

"He cannot have a high opinion of your integrity," remarked the lawyer "He basn't. In fact, he has more than once unjustly accused me of helping myself to various articles of value about the place." "And what is your theory?" asked on the other's face. "Do you believe it was an inside job?" "Yes; I am sure that I can lay my hand on the guilty man. It is grandfather's valet; Simpson, an Englishman who has been with him for many years

-a sly rascal, believe me, sir!" Young

George Harley, fastening his keen eyes

Donnay spoke vindictively. "Simpson is still in the house?" "Oh, yes. Probably he has secreted the necklace and after my grandfacellent advantage.

"And what can I do in the matter?" "This." said Gerald Donnay, lean ing over and tapping a long forefinger on the polished top of the desk-"this Mr. Harley. I want you to go to my grandfather's house with me and prove to him that I am guiltless in the matter of the amber necklace. Also help me to find the real thief!"

"You are sure that we can fasten the guilt upon Simpson?" "Positive," said the other confidently. "Can you come home with me now.

Mr. Harley?" Harley was thoughtfil for a few moments, staring at the is e. anxious face of his client Suddenly he jumped up and reached for his het and overcoat. "Let us go now, Mr. Donnay. My car is at the Five minutes later they were speeding uptown to the quiet cross street where the Donnays fived.

During the ride George Harley learn ed that the household consisted merely of Colonel Donnay and his grandson, Gerald, and that the colonel was enjoying his usual health.

When they mounted the brownstone steps of the mansion the door opened, and a manservant presented bimself. He was a quiet, middle aged man with graying bair and rosy cheeks and trustful eyes.

"The valet, Simpson, attending the door during another servant's absence." guessed Harley, and he was right. "My grandfather, Simpson?" demanded Geruld sharply. "Taking a nap, Mr. Gerald, and he begs not to be disturbed."

"Very good! Now, Mr. Harley, suppose we go up to the top floor," said Gerald as he led the way up several flights of richly carpeted stairs to the top floor of the house/

"This is the museum," he announced. opening a narrow iron door at the head of the last staircase, "and here is the place from which the amber neck-

George Harley glanced around at the rich collection of antiques which crowded the cases and walls of the narrow gallery. Then he stared down at the velvet lined tray where the amber necklace had temptingly lain "Where is Simpson's room?" asked

"On the floor below-in the wing. will lead you there."

Gerald Donnay started for the door, but George Harley stooped to pick up a small pale yellow object from the floor under the case. He slipped it into his pocket and smiled strangely.

On the winding stair he picked up another one and was equally reticent about its finding. Gerald Donnay led the way along a narrow ball to a door at the end which gave upon the corridor of the wing where the servants were quartered.

"Here is Simpson's room." he said. throwing open a door. Harley was rising from picking up a third bead, and be did not detect the triumphant smile that lighted the young man's face. It took them but five minutes to search the prim belongings of Abel Simpson, and it was absurdly plain Within ten minutes after an appli- that the old valet was a clumsy thief.

"Where is the pendant-the canary_

"Jove! It has disappeared! The old rascal has recognized its value and undoubtedly concealed it. I wonder what "He will feel bad to think that Simp-

"I hope so," was Harley's dry reply as they left the room. "Now, Mr. Don. full day's work. Cascarets are betnay," he resumed briskly, "show me | ter than saits, pills or calomel be-dence that Gerald Donnay possessed !

an indulgent grandparent. "This is my room," said Gerald impatiently, as they entered the room. "There can't be anything to interest you here, Mr. Harley."

The afternoon was closing in, and the room was growing dim.

"Would you mind making a light, Mr. Donnay?" said the lawyer quietly. When Gerald Donnay switched on the electric lights and turned around it was to face the muzzle of George Harley's automatic pistol.

The young man's face was a study in expression as his long jaw slowly dropped and his pale eyes started from their sockets. Slowly, his shaking hands were lifted above his head. "Don't shoot!" he said weakly.

"I won't-provided you hand over that diamond pendant," ordered Harley, poking the nose of his weapon into Gerald's thin back. And when the diamond pendant had been removed from the mattress, where Gerald had sewn it, and Harley had placed it in his pocket, the lawyer said to the cringing thief: "Now, forget that we discovered the broken necklace in Simpson's room. Remember that you placed it there, and also remember that the beads which you 'planted' so cleverly that they marked a trail from the museum to Simpson's room, were your undoing. They are also scattered along the hall from the valet's room to your doorthis you did not know! Now, shall we interview Colonel Donnay?"

FROM THE BATTLEFIELD BY A BOY LIEUTENANT.

"Our Spirits Endure," He Wrote-Letter Was Enclosed in the Will of the Dead Young Hero.

letter from 2nd Lieut. E. L. Townsend, London Regiment, who was killed in France, appears in the London Daily Mail. It was sent to his my sympathies and my interests father, W. L. Townsend, 2-4, New somehow or other-why, I cannot Basinghall street, E.C., enclosed in stell-were so wide that there was the gallant boy's will, to be opened scarcely an amusement, an occupaonly in the event of his death: September, 8, 1916. Dearest Mother and Father.

You are reading this letter because have gone under.

Of course I know you will be terribly cut up, and that it will be a long particular subject; but there his time before you get over it, but get over it you must. You must be im- whereas my interests comprised nearbued with the spirit of the Navy and ly the whole field of human affairs Army to "carry on." You will still and activities. And that is why it is have little Donald, who is safe at any rate for some while. If he should ever have to go on active service I

You must console yourselves with the thought that I am happy, whereas if I had lived-who knows?

Remember the saying attributed to Solon, "Call no man happy till he is. dead." Thanks to your self-sacrificing love and devotion I have hau a happy time all my life. Death will

It has always seemed to me a very pititul thing what little difference the disappearance of a man makes to any institution, even though he may have played a very important role. A mo ment's regret, a moment's pause for re-adjustment, and another man steps forward to carry on, and the machine clanks onward with scarce a

The death of a leader of the nation is less even than a seven days' wonder. To a very small number it is given to live in history; their number is scarcely one in ten millions. To the rest it is only granted to live in the position. their united achievements. But for this war I and all the others would have passed into oblivion like the countless myriads before us.

We should have gone about our trifling business, eating, drinking sleeping, hoping, marrying, giving in marriage, and finally dying with no more achieved than when we were born, with the world no different for our lives. Even the cattle in the field fare no worse than this. They, too, eat, drink, sleep, bring forth young, and die leaving the world no different from what they found it.

But we shall live for ever in the esults of our efforts We shall live as those who by

BEST FOR LIVER, BOWELS, STOMACH, HEADACHE, COLDS

They Liven the Liver and Bowels and Straighten You Right

Don't Be Bilious, Constipated, Sick, With Breath Bad and Stomach

Tonight sure! Take Cascarets and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Wake up with your head clear stomach sweet, breath right and feeling fine. Get rid of sick headache, biliousness, constipation, furred tongue, sour stomach, bad colds. Clear your skin, brighten your eyes, quicken your step and feel like doing a cause they don't shock the liver or gripe the bowels or cause inconvenience all the next day.

Mothers should give cross, sick,

In the great out of doors or at the evening reception Baker's Cocoa is equally acceptable, invigorating and delicious.

Walter Baker & Co. Limited

DORCHESTER, MASS. MONTREAL, CANADA

Our spirits and our memories shall endure in the proud position Britain shall hold in the future. The measure Charm Ceylon Tea of life is not its span, but the use made of it. I did not make use of my life before the war, but I think

One sometimes hears people say, when a young man is killed, "Poor fellow, cut off so early, without ever having had a chance of knowing and enjoying life." But for myself, thanks to all that both of you have done, I have crowded into twenty years enough pleasures, sensations, The following remarkably touching and experiences for an ordinary life-

their sacrifice won the Great War

Never brilliant: sometimes almost a failure in anything I undertook; tion, a feeling which I could not appreciate. And as I have said, of most of these I had tasted.

I don't suppose I ever met anybody who vas not my superior in knowledge or achievement in one knowledge and his interest ended. no hardship for me to deave the world so young.

Well, I have talked a lot of rot somehow feel that his invariable which must have given you great good luck will bring him through. pain to read and which will not bring you much comfort. I had intended to try and say words of comfort, but that scarcely being possible, it has drifted into a sort of confession of

To me has been given the easier task; to you is given the more dicicult-that of living in sorrow. Be have delivered me from experiencing of good courage that at the end you may give a good account.

> Kiss Donald for me. Adieu, best of parents,-Your ERIC. loving son.

> "Out here we all thought him one of the keenest and most capable officers we possessed, and I can assure you he was thoroughly popular with "That he was absolutely fearless I > know from my own experience in at-Just before he led us over the parapet he impressed upon us that there > was to be no turning back whatever "He did all that an officer could do by personal example to instil a measure of confidence in us all." Such is a soldier's tribute to this > gallant young officer, a youth of wenty, killed when leading an attack on a position on the Somme. This letter is, in its way, a glorious war shrine. Reading it now or in time of stress that may be before us. every patriot will be stirred by this hero's words to fresh and high en-

> > SO SHY.

Also Demure as to Coloring Is This Late Style Turban. With a mist gray suit of broadcloth goes this piquant little turban, a black

Black, Green, Mixed. Packed in Kingston by

GEO. ROBERTSON & SON, Limited.

- At All Grocers -

tive power of Oxo Cubes. It is remarkable how quickly a cup of Oxo will revive and strengthen you after the fatigue of a long day. Hardly less remarkable is its remove your gloves, a cup of Oxo is ready Many ladies make a point of having a cup of Oxo before they leave home. It fortifies them against the cold and is wonderfully sustaining.

7 Culo to a Cub

HER SUIT HAT.

billious, feverish children a whole Cascaret anytime as they can not Rock wings in natural tones of gray injure the thirty feet of tender bow- and white. This is the kind of a bat always so becoming to short women.