with your immoderately brilliant mind must long ago have made yourself complete mistress of the situation."

"I don't know anything about the wretched creatures," she said. She spoke snappily; and, as she looked at him, she did not seek to conceal her distaste. In her own mind, she was not at all certain that a healthy, full blooded Bangala boy might not be preferable to this grotesque imitation of man, this decadent creature, who was all brain, of a brilliant, hard, machine-like type, and whom nobody would ever have credited with a single one of the natural healthy instincts and impulses of a man. She decided that no cannibal could be more revoit-ing than Henri Van Ost, with his insufferable daudyism, his cosmetics, and his superlative conceit. She would probably have found him merely comic had she not been to a certain your own great intelligence." he said "I think, madame, that you belittle

"Well, anyhow, I don't want to talk

"But Sir Glare, your good husband, the great over-lord of the Lobanzo, as they call him." persisted Van Ost.

carrying out his line of thought quite regardless of her impatience, "does he not think as I do about the matter?

In his heart and mind, into which, madame, you no doubt penetrate deeper than other human being, does he not hold exactly the same opinions?

Does he not realize that there is only one thing to make these niggers work

"Oh, Glare talks much as you do, she said indifferently. "He doesn't think much of these niggers-nobody does who's ever been out there. But, then, he's different. He wouldn't countenance any of the awful things "Ohe we if you like. I'm not thin-skinned. I'm talking about my husband. He has a great public position.

and he has a conscience. And he's

"As we are!" he reminded her Theodora gave a harsh laugh, and a shadow swept across her face. For a second a light that was sheer lust-the lust of gain and greed-came into

"You remind me," she said, "that have to stick to this abominable business, though I am so sick of it.

If it weren't that I want money, that I must have money, I should get out Ost. He took a little paper from a small bundle and rolled himself "That is impossible," put in Van again, with another bow, whose very exaggeration of respect was a delicate a smile and an exaggerated bow.

not so greedy as you are-" about the brutes," she retorted.

sick to death of the whole thing."

extent in his power.

with a smile.

-the whip?"

mockery.

her eyes.

of it now, at once.

Give Me a Chance to Cure Your Rheumatism FREE

Mr. Delatio took his own medicine It cured his rheumatism after he had suffered tortures for thirty-six years He spent thousands of dollars before he discovered the remedy that cored him, but I will give you the benefit of his experience for nothing. If you suffer from rheumatism let me send you a package of this remedy absolutely free. Don't send any money to give it to you. I want you

NEW METHOD Cleaning, Pressing and

Repairing

Neatly Done. We make a Specialty of Ladies' Work

M. F. PATTON, Prop. 119 SYDENHAM STREET Near Princess St. Phone 214

Don't Forget-

indigestion is neglected, it may cause a serious illness. Act upon the first symptom-keep your digestive organs in good order by the timely use of Most is a picture gift. See Weese's great display of the choicest art gems; just arrived. We have also a fine line of natty frames and mould-

D. A. WEESE

168 Princess Street. Photo Frames, Pictures and Piano

Open Thursday and Saturday Night For Photo Taking.

Become a Physician

Medicine, Surgery, flacteriology Public Health. Chemistry and Allie Sciences offer the greatest opportun Opportunities to work way through ities to ambitious men and women The Chicago Hospital College of Medicine, located in the greatest medical centre of the world, with surpassed, offers a recognized four or five year course leading to the de-gree of Doctor of Medicine and Surgery. For catalogue address: Secretary, 3830 Rhodes Ave., Chicago, Ill

LADIES' WINTER COATS

Get your winter coat made to measure with choice of styles for less money than ready-made. Also suits, skirts, and dresses for very low prices.

New York Skirt and Suit Co. 203 Wellington Street.

The Whig's Splendid Serial Story dora, with a little shudder of disgust. Madelaine Street, Tottenham Court Road, was not a particularly attractive neighborhood. There was an odor of onions and stale cooking in the heavy, heated, moist air; there was a superabundance of very dirty Dog children and unkempt loafers; a general note of squalor prevailed. and the foreign names over the shops sounded a note of mystery. Star The motor cab lurged into the gar-

Coralle Stanton

Heath Hosken

narrowness, with toes which, although pointed, were at their extreme end perfectly square. The heliotrope trousers were turned up, a l'Anglaise, so high that, although the boots were buttoned like a woman's halfway up the emaciated calf of the man, they displayed socks of a vivid and im-

This was Henri Van Ost as he appeared in London-Henri Van Ost, the general manager of the British Iruhwe Rubber Company, which was just at the moment forming the prin cipal topic of foreign political con-from twenty-five to fifty. He held himself erect enough-his corsets saw to that-and he moved with a jaunty air.

fume-it was the odor of a mixtu-of lavender. Eau de Cologne, and in his buttonhole; also, he carried she had expected. It was literraly appalling. She gave him her hand instinctively. With the air of a courtier on the stage he raised it to his

"At your service, chere madame,

Without another word she followed by the kerb at the corner of Dun-play, madame," he said, speaking in his ugly Belgian French, "but later I am doing there is more than a sufgerated courtesy and with an air of ridiculously overdone mystery that made her feel inclined to laugh aloud.

traffic at a somewhat reckless pace.

by the man's irresponsible driving.

aware that I am being closely watch ed and possibly followed by someone -spies of your good husband, dear madame, no doubt, or possibly police detectives. I am not quite sure in m mind, but I do not choose to take any risks. Aha! They will find a very hard nut to crack in your devote "Detectives?" gasped Theodora.

since the mysterious event of the night before last—the most daring burglary at Dunbury." He chuckle sflently; and she looked at him with blank amazement, not unmixed with alarm. What on earth did he know of that? How on earth could he know "But, m'sieur, you know nothing of that," she exclaimed. "No one does,

It is being kept quiet-quite quiet. It has not been made public. Why, even the police know but very little, and Sir Glare has not informed the Press.

"Possibly, dear lady," answered Van Ost, "but, all the same, I happen to know of it, and I also happen to know that, although the matter has not been made public property. Sir Glare has informed the police, and the police have very good reason to subject me dora, "No one knows that you are in England-I am certain Glare

"Oh, but, as it happens, Sir Glare

When they were about half-way up does know. He is not such a for

"But why you?" exclaimed Theo-

He made a special point of it." to a most annoying esplonage." doesn't know it even now."

as he would have us believe." anything at all?

"More than probably, madam Henri Van Ost, n'est ce pas?" everything to me, chere rouged lips and bowed very low.

he said unctuously.

cannon Street.

ficient reason.

we going?

"Leave

the face of a rat.

price lists "Parfait Amour."

The man might have been any age possible tartan.

bage-strewn kerb and pulled up with a jerk outside a newspaper shop, a nondescript place that appeared to divide its interest between journals and tobacco. Over the dingy window, in faded lettering, was inscribed:

LIBRAIRIE COSMOPOLITAINE "Quick," said Van Ost, opening the door of the cab, jumping to the pavement, and offering his hand. "Don't let us waste a moment. No one has seen us so far; of that I am quite

He was dressed in a suit of heliorope grey material, resembling a kind of tussore silk. He wore a vividly "You know what to do," said Van pink shirt, with a large cinnamon. Ost to the chauffeur. "Be back in colored bow of the type usually but erroneously associated with the Quarmeantime, drive all the while," tier Latin. His collar and cuffs were "Very good, sir," snapped the man, of the same hue and material as his and drove off without another look wonderful shirt, and the latter dis- or word played elaborate solitaires, in which many precious stones appeared to plained Van Ost, ushering his beauti it to order got ten pounds down and have been set, irrespective of taste ful companion along a narrow, evil His boots were of light, lemon newspaper shop to a glass-panelled that. I tell you, mdeame, I know colored patent leather, with white kid door on which was painted in foreign everything there is to be known, and | that you do."

L'ACTUALITE Directeur: Jean Ular

Administration, Reduction et Annonces Van Ost opened the door with a key. It gave immediately on to a steep and narrow staircase, ill-lighted and badly ventilated. It was altogether a most unprepossessing spot. "Here we are, dear lady," exclaimed Van Ost triumphantly. "Upstairs I have a room in readiness for us, and there we can talk without danger of being disturbed." "But this is simply impossible." Theodora protested. "I really cannot stay here. It's too horrible. Whatever is it? Wherever are you taking From him exuded a very potent per me? You must surely see how un than he does for the Martian, cerpleasant it is for me.

Jockey Club, called in the perfumery His hands were gloved in lemon kid, and he wore a large pink rose interested. And it is quite safe and public which is just sitting around him an umbrella that resembled a lady's feetly respectable. This is not even Dieu! I will expose him; I will justify a Socialist paper. It is a journal de- all of us. Only give me time, madame, Theodora visibly shuddered at the voted to quite a conventional cause, only give me a few days-that is all been nothing short of madness. Here in Africa. island for all that anyone knows."

asked Theodora a little fractiously. I am used to this sort of thing. I assure you I am most circumspect, dangerous." most suspicious, and most cautious. will fully explain, and you will see Oh, you may implicitly trust me, dear "He is not to be considered."

that for everything I have done and Lady Monk. She shrugged her shoulders, and followed him laboriously up the steep "I am sure of that, m'sieur," she staircase. She was annoyed. The murmured. But tell ne-where are man always annoyed her. His conceit was stupendous. Besides, she was getting very bored; and she had so many more pleasant things to do to-day. The room into which he ushered her was a comparatively well-furnished apartment, and was obviously an doubt it? The African native of the "I am fully alive, believe me, my dear office in pretty constant use. There Lobanzo-ugh! who shall speak of were a good many books-directories. him without being ill? He is not a name could not possibly be in better files. with a sly look of cunning. She thought at the moment that his was He said something in an undertone to the uniformed chauffeur, who had obviously received full instructions your mind. Volla, madame!" beforehand, and drove in the direction of Trafalgar Square; then, swinging round to the right, the nimble little motor cab darted up Charing Cross Road, dodging and overtaking "Where on earth are you taking me?" exclaimed Theodora, whose nerves were beginning to be affected "Not very far, chere madame,' answered Van Ost reassuringly. "I am myself in this matter. Myself?

in other people's business will have to tell." considerable difficulty in carrying out their thronts -- st any rate against my lady and Sir Glare Monk. Ob, yes, apply for a warrant for the arrest of hand and wanted to destroy, and the

and all those in his galere."

trusted me implicitly at a time when pose for which he had brought her to you might very well have done other- this unsavory spot. wise; but I have not shown myself But VanO st, like all foreigners, even round sharply to the left into a broad, busy street.

"I am living incognito." explained spite the tragic importance of this meeting and the imminent events, for and we can get everything over in a very short time. No one che earth would expect to find Lady Monk here would expect to find Lady Monk here —or, for the matter of that, me had been given her in gaining poe-session of the proofs of her folly which others might call by a very much stronger name; and there was also dismay-dismay because of the knowledge that the little bundle of papers she held in her hand was incomplete, since the original secrecircular about which so much had been said and on which so much depended to them all was not in that little bundle, but had been stolen from her boudoir at Dunbury.

"But tell me, Van Ost, how did you get these?" she asked, looking at the papers a little vacantly. "It was difficult," he answered, with shrug of his thin sloping shoulders. "From whom did you get them?" "Drake."

"But how?" "By the simple expedient of buying them from one of his most trusted servants," he answered, with a cunning smile. "Oho, dear lady, these humanitarians have their price, just as other people. Why, Drake is making a pot of money out of this cam-Theodora obeyed his invitation with paign on behalf of the wretched niggers he glorifles, this tirade against the Lobanzo and the B.I.R.C. Look at his paper and his weekly publications—they have enormous circulations. And then again this ridiculous novel, this vapid exhibition of sloshy, sentimental gush-The White Man." Pshaw! He's making a fortune out "This way, chere madame," ex of that alone. The fellow who wrote a chimerical royalty of about one and smelling passage or hall alongside the a half per cent. I have found out all nail if I can only tide over the next few days without being caught. Then there's the tremendous income from donations and subscriptions of the Lobanzo Natives Protection Association and the Darkest Africa Emancipation League, and that sheer fraud of an institution of his called the Universal Brotherhood of Mankind Society. It's a scandal, madame-a wicked fraud on a credulous public. "I know, I know," she murmured.

patiently; "but all this doesn't help us in the least." But Van Ost was wound up. He was declaiming as to a public meeting. "Drake," he cried in impassioned tones, "this scoundrel Drake cares no more for the native of the Lobanzo tianly far less than either you or I. "Not at al., madame; it is nothing and certainly Sir Glare Monk. Bah! nothing, I assure you. A respect. I am sick with such a man; he is not able newspaper office of a friend of a man at all, madame-he is a turgid mine, in whose work I am financially humbug, playing the fool with a silly -and, if I may say so, mademe, per- asking him to make a fool of it. Mon tapping the little bundle of papers imapparition. It was far worse than To have seen you at my hotel, or to I ask. Why, this Drake creature, he have come to your great and magni- has never been out of this country in cent mansion-Pslaw! It would have his life; he has never once set foot well, we might as well be on a desert "You talk exactly like Glare," said Theodora in a bored tone of voice. "But how can you be sure of that?" "Really, Van Ost, I am not in the least interested in all this. I don't "But, madame, have I not eyes and, care whether Drake has been to the him to the taxicab which was waiting ears and a brain? I have observed. Lobanzo or whether he has not. All I know is that he looks very much like have not lived through the last year making a mess of things, as far as I "Forgive the great eagerness I dis- without knowing something-aha! I am concerned, and consequently he is "He is nothing," said Van Ost airily

"But, for all that, he is doing an unconscionable amount of harm," she

"Quite so; but that is because the public has been fooled with lies." retorted Van Ost excitedly.

"Are they lies?" asked Theodora wearily. "The Lobanzo was such a long way away."

"Why, certainly, madame. Can you of affairs. Madame's safety and good account books, and some newspaper man; he is a creature; he is animal, worse than animal. He is gross; he came across you in Ostend, you have "Pray be seated," said Van Ost, is unspeakable! How is it to be conwith a grandnoquent gesture of an sidered possible for a moment to treat gloved hand, "and permit me to re- him, to regard him, in our minds even, store to you what must, I am sure, as Monsieur Drake would have us be of immense value to you, and what treat him, eh? Our Christian brother? must also take a great weight from Mon Dieu! He knows no honor, no decency-he must be whipped, not With another of his theatrical ges- spoken to. He is lazy-ah, how lazy tures he took from the breast pocket no one so well as myself can tell of his coat a neat bundle of papers, Argument with him has no avail, kept together by a broad elastic band. Punishment must be meted out to him "These, madame," he said, "are the -punishment, chere, madame, that he only documents which can possibly will understand. Imprisonment? It is incriminate you - the only things just what he most likes; it is a rewhich ca ngive you away, or, for the ward, not a penalty. European chas- I arguing with you? I was talking matter of that, give myself away, tisement? Eh? Ha, ha, it is to him Though for my humble self"-he bow- as a luxurious massage. We must take ed obsequiously and at the same time him as we find him, hein! This ima little deprecatingly-"for myself, becile Drake and these people who chere madame, I hope I have already awallow all he chooses to tell them. shown you how little it is that I study and aft in their comfortable houses and talk about the Bangala, the Boxo-Pshaw! It is nothing." He snapped ko, the Aruwimi as human beingshis gloved fingers above his head and pshaw! They should just take a little laughed. "Mr. Valentine Drake and summer holiday in the B.I.R.C., and his society of philanthropic meddlers they would soon have a different tale Lady Monk shook her head imensieur Drake and the others of his place she found herself in, which persuasion on a charge of criminal she wanted to get out of. Yet it was libel. I would rope them all in—Drake noticeable that, for all her haughtiness and her scarcely veiled contempt for "But, my dear Van Ost-" Theodora the strange specimen of humanity with commenced, when he interrupted her whom she was thus incongruously but Am I not a man of my word? You papers, which was obviously the pur- at 4 per cent.

wanting—say so, madame, say so, and the most frivolous, was serious in give me at least the satisfaction of matters of the brain, and of business. hearing from your lips that I did not and, although he could thrust and fail you even at the sacrifice of my parry verbally with the best, he did own reputation—nay, even of my own not feel inclined at the particular Theodora fingered the little dossier maze of obscure innuendo, which was nervously, and stared at the self- Lady Monk's favorite mode of conconfident, boasting Van Ost with ducting the conversation on the rare mingled feelings of disgust, relief, and occasions when they met. He did not that enviable state of affairs is due to my arrangement and my advice." "Oh, yes, yes-I have never denied she exclaimed. "And I have shown my gratitude. You are a miracle, my dear Van Ost; your financial genius is extraordinary. There has never been the slightest hitch: everything has run on wheels. But I am sick of it, all the same. I know that no one has the faintest suspicion that I have anything to do with the B.I.R.C.—Glare least of all. know I owe that to you. I know that since I started speculating in rubber shares just to amuse myself, and I been a very good friend to me. "It was my privilege, madame, recognized in you a woman of unusual business ability. It was an honor to assist you." "It has been a convenience to you. Van Ost," she put in, with sudden asperity, "to see the greater portion of the shares in your company pass into the hands of someone whom you eould rely upon to act as you chose. Don't let us best about the bush. You have been of use to me, but I have also been of use to you. But why am about money. I have to trust you. must have money; I have never wanted it as I want it now." The Belgian shrugged his shoulders deprecatingly. "You must be (Continued next Saturday.)

A Real Milking Shorthorn.

One of the dual-purpose Shorthorns at the O.A.C. has made a remarkable record. In her first four lactation periods she gave an aver-"My good Van Ost," she said, "your age of well over 10,000 lbs. of milk I have seen to all that. I am what you opinion of the wretched niggers of the a year. In her fourth year, not yet call master of the situation in very Lobanzo is of no interest to me." She concluded, and which began on the truth. The time is now ripe for your moved her shoulders in a shrug that | 20th of June last, she has a record noble husband, whom we have so un- consigned those unimportant children of 11,400 lbs, to the first of October, wittingly compromised, and who, let of the human race to limbo. Nothing and she is still giving 26lbs. a day. us confess it, has served us so well— interested her at that precise moment the time has come for him, I say, to except the papers that she held in her about 1,500 lbs., is in prime beef condition, and has the appearance of an animal bred for purely beef pur-

Holland to Issue Loan, with an airy wave of his lemon-kid very necessarily brought into contact, shortly issue a loan of 125,600,000 she eyed him with a certain curious guilders, according to a despatch to "Aha, madame, is it not that I have deference, and waited for him to take Reuter's from The Hague. The loan most brilliantly saved the situation? the initiative in the destruction of the will be issued at 97, bearing interest

> The Lady's Expenses. Helena, Mont., Nov. 25 .- Miss Jeanette Rankin, of Missoula, who was elected to Congress on the Republican ticket on Nov. 7th, spent $687.70 on her campaign, according to her expense account on file to-day at the office of the secretary of state > Kansas Returns. Topeka, Kan., Nov. 25.-Official figures on the presidential election in Kansas, just completed at the office of the secretary of state, follow: Wilson, 314 588; Hughes, 277,656; Benson, 24,685; Hanly, 12,882.

If the good die young it is because they have no say about it.

You will like its Fine Granulation

Buy your sugar in these neat 2 or 5-lb. cartons, which you can place directly on your pantry shelves. Just cut off the corner and pour out the sugar as you need it.

Lantic Sugar

comes also in 10 and 20-lb bags for housewives who like to buy in larger quantities

"The All-Purpose Sugar"

2 and 5-lb Cartons 10 and 20-lb Bags

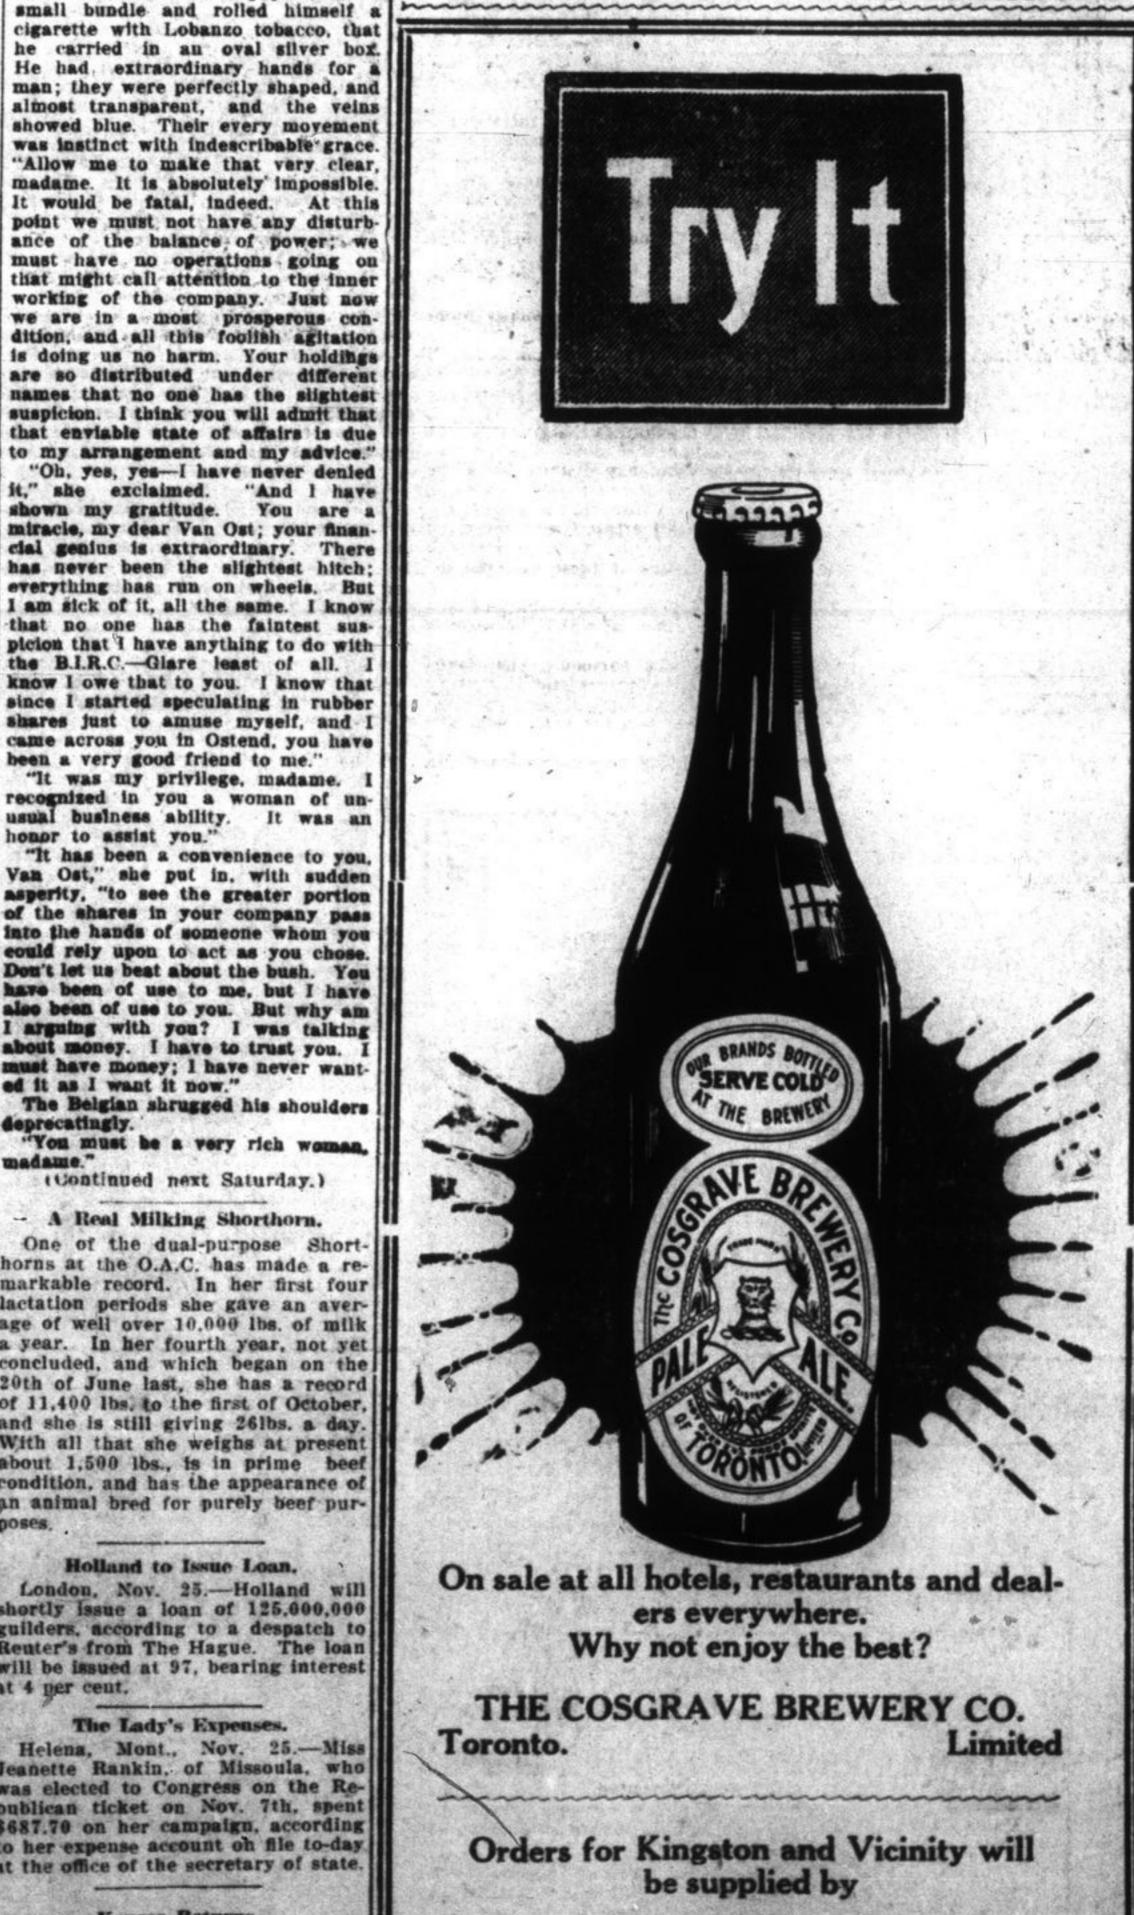

A. & N. The Army and Navy Association of Canada.

Head Office: Cor. King and Princess Streets. Branch Store: Cor. Princess & Albert Streets Phone 1934 NOW OPEN FOR BUSINESS. General Grocery and Mail Order Business.

Syrup of Tar & COD LIVER OIL STOPS COUGHS Sold in generous size bottles by all dealers. THE J. L. MATHIEU CO., Props., SHERBROOKE, P.Q. Makers also of Mathieu's Norvine Powders the best remedy for Headaches, Neuralgia, and feverish colds.

473 Princess Street

Kingston.