ST. ANDREW'S NEW MINISTER

REV. J. W. STEPHEN PREACHED HIS INITIAL SERMONS.

He is a Gifted Preacher, and Large Congregations Were Delighted With His Personality and His Preaching—His First Discourse.

Rev. J. W. Stephen on Sunday preached his initial sermons as minister of St. Andrew's church, and large congregations were exceedingly well pleased with the man, his message and his method. He is an attractive speaker, with a winning personality, a rich, full voice and a telling gesture. His thoughts, too, are polished, and his words are eloquent, but his thoughts are practical as well, and his words are warm and appealing and play upon the heart.

The new minister of St. Andrew's is a strong man, with a strong face and a strong mind. Undoubtedly, he is a man with the courage of his convictions. Yet, undoubtedly, he is a man of "sweet reasonableness." He creates confidence in others, and St.
Andrew's will assuredly continue to prosper under his leadership.

Rev. Mr. Stephen took for his moral text: Isaiah XL, 31:
"They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint."

Need of Renewal.

Spiritual strength, declared the preacher, came through waiting upon God. Life was not self-contained, but needed to be renewed. There were three stages in life: Growth, equilibrium, when the forces of construction and destruction were about equal, and, lastly, decay and death.
Wherever there was life there was need of renewal. Nature tried to keep away from a break in the continuity of life. There was a tendency in the body, in the mind and in society to renew. A renewal was needed not only of the body and of the mind, but also of the heart. A boy started out full of hope, elastic of mind and body. But after a while disillusionment came, and unless his heart was renewed he ran a risk of dropping his high ideals.

What was the meaning of waiting upon God? The conventional idea was reading the Bible, going to church and serving God to the best of one's ability. But there was a deeper meaning involved in the Biblical idea. Waiting upon God meant to have a sense of Divine presence and nearness. Nothing comforted so much in distress as to feel God near and to know that He cared.
Sorrow was not always beneficial. It often embittered and caused men to lift their puny hands against God.
To overcome this tendency there was need of waiting upon God.

The Divine Key.

A clock that had grown indistinct in tick and strike was renewed by being wound up. And there was a divine key for the renewal of the soul-jaded energies of man. The spiritual tick of many had become indistinct in the world and in the church, and needed to be renewed.
What was needed in the church was a renewal of the soul energies.

Many souls had become run down because of the great calamities in Europe. Out of their anguish they were asking, "O Lord, how long shall this war drag on?"

But there was something more important than the duration of the war, and that was whether they could be true and self-sacrificing while it lasted. How could they find the key that would keep them up to the mark? They could find it in the words of the text?

There were three things that waiting many souls had become run down because of the great calamities in
this war drag on?"

RUSHES MAY BE ABOLISHED

THE QUESTION WAS BROUGHT UP AT MEETING OF THE A.M.S.

A Report Was Brought in From a Joint Committee of the Students With the University Senate.

The inter-year debate between the years '17 and '18 in Arts brought a large number of the students to the meeting of the Alma Mater Society on Saturday night. The subject was "Resolved that a system of co-operation among equal states rather than of imperial federation should be the guiding principle in the British Empire." The affirmative side was upheld by J. H. Talbot and D. G. R.
Cowan, '17, while the negative was vigorously defended by D. H.
McQuarrie and G. E. Kelly. Profs.
W. E. MacPherson, W. C. Clark and Humphrey Mitchell acted as judges, and rendered judgment in favor of the negative.

On the recommendation of the executive committee, T. P. Love, W. G.
Cornett, S. J. Hanley and Mr. Blackburn were appointed a committee to arrange for the A. M. S. elections.

John Dawson presented the final report of the committee appointed to arrange a uniform system of bookkeeping among the clubs under the jurisdiction of the A.M.S., and made a number of suggestions and recommendations.

H. C. Kendall, on behalf of the committee appointed to interview the Senate regarding the rushes, reported the progress that had been made at the meeting. After outlining fully the dangers and foolishness of the rushes as they now exist at Queen's and the responsibility that the university incurred in allowing them to take place, he moved that the report be received.

The recommendations were that in all cases the planning of the rushes should not be left to the sophomore years, but that the older years be called in for advice. Owing to the loss of time through these rushes it was decided that a recommendation would be brought in urging that the initiations be held either on University Day or some other holiday. An important clause also urged that the rushes as at present constituted be abolished, and that another form of initiation be substituted, and that all the initiations should be held within the precincts of the college.

Another recommendation was that the parades on Princess street on certain nights be abolished.

This report was merely received for discussion, and as yet has not been ratified or adopted by the A. M.
S. It seems very likely that it will be, however, as the students themselves, who initiated the movement, soon to realize the futility and danger of the rushes.

Mr. Kendall put the case very fully, and the Senate agreed with all the suggestions that the students made.

Has Gone to England.

George Lee, assistant vice-president of the Canadian Locomotive Works, sailed from New York on Saturday for London, Eng. to be ab-

When the Back is Lame

IT IS A SIGN OF Kidney Trouble

Bachache is the signal sent out by the kidneys the minute they become overtaxed.

Those who heed the warning when it first comes, usually have but little trouble. The danger lies in delay.
You can cure the lame, aching back by curing the aching kidneys beneath —for it is really the kidneys aching and not the back.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a special remedy in kidney and bladder troubles only, they are not a "cure all."

Mrs. Wm. Travers, Campbellton, N.B., writes: "It is my pleasure to write you in regard to your Doan's Kidney Pills. I have been using them for kidney trouble which used to affect my back so I could hardly bend down, nor could I lift anything.
I learned about your pills from your B.B.B. Almanac, so I began using them, and in no time I was completely cured. I give all the praise in the world to Doan's Kidney Pills and always recommend them to my friends."

When asking for Doan's Pills always see that you get the oblong grey box with the trade mark of a
"Maple Leaf."
