HUNS LACK MARMALADE

AND THE GERMAN HOUSEWIVES ARE MUCH INCENSED.

Beer, Pigs and Marmalade at Bottom of Most of the Consumer's Troubles—May Curtail Beer Supply.

Berlin, Nov. 28.—Beer, pigs and marmalade are at the bottom of most of the troubles of the consumer, as well as the various food distribution commissions. Recently Privy Councillor Abel resigned from the commission whose duty is the allotment of the weekly meat rations, which attracted so much public attention that an official explanation was considered necessary.

According to the official version, Herr Abel resigned because the rest of the commission voted down his proposition to increase the weekly meat ration of 250 grammes. To-day Dr. Kuzinski, director of the statistical bureau at Schoenberg, in a letter to the press, flatly contradicts the official version, contending that, knowing the result of the cattle and pig census, it was impossible that the members of the commission should have voted against an increase, since the number of pigs counted alone would justify the committee in adding 100 grammes weekly to the ration of each of the 70,000,000 Germans. The number of pigs enumerated was about 18,000,000. According to other statistical authorities, the result of the cattle census would justify even a much larger increase of rations, but a sparing policy probably will prevail for a while in order to insure a comparative abundance.

Less Beer, the Prospect.

The supply of Bavarian beer for Prussia and the rest of Germany again is threatened with curtailment. Fifty thousand German hotel proprietors petitioned the Government to refrain from cutting down the supplies of malt and beer sent to the Bavarian breweries, because their existence and that of hundreds of thousands of their employees depended on the uninterrupted flow of Munich and other beers. The Government will read the latter statement with great interest, as the new civil bill provides a remedy for just such people as are here threatened with the loss of their jobs.

Housewives are greatly incensed at the dearth of marmalade in store in the public markets, and there are dark rumors about much of it having been cornered by unscrupulous speculators. The Berliner Tageblatt, having investigated these rumors, finds they are unfounded. It was a lack of sugar that prevented manufacturing large quantities of marmalade in the summer and early autumn, but as the sugar supply from the new beet crop is gradually increasing, manufacturers will be able to turn large quantities of raw fruit stored for this purpose into marmalade.

FEAR PHTHISIS AFTER WAR

French Prepare to Treat Infected Prisoners From Germany.

New York, Nov. 28.—French surgeons and scientists are putting forth every effort to be prepared to cope with a spread of tuberculosis throughout the nation after the war, according to Charles Butler, an American architect, who has been in France for the last two years, and who has been designing several hospitals now used by the French military authorities.

Mr. Butler, who came here for a few months' vacation, is going to spend the time investigating conditions in leading institutions for treatment of tuberculosis with a view of giving information to the French government when he returns. "About 96 per cent. of the French prisoners now in Germany have tuberculosis," he said yesterday. "This is due to lack of proper housing, to poor feeding, and to the fact that the Germans are deliberately putting prisoners infected with the disease in with well men, thereby spreading the infection."

"The question of what is to be done with these men when they return to France is in the hands of the Minister of the Interior and the Minister of war. The sick men will not be allowed to leave the army, and therefore they will be under the jurisdiction of the War Department, and can be prevented from wandering at large and endangering the health of the whole community. The hospitals of the Interior has charge of hospitals for the civilian cases."

Had Awful Attacks of Heart Trouble FOR 5 OR 6 YEARS.

Diseases and disorders of the heart and nervous system have become frightfully prevalent of late years.

One can scarcely pick up a paper but he will find recorded instances of sudden deaths through heart failure, or of prominent men and women unable to prosecute their ordinary business or profession on account of a breaking down of the nervous system.

We do not desire to unnecessarily alarm anyone, but to sound a word of warning.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly, palpitates and throbs, has shooting pains through it, it is time to stop and think.

To all sufferers from heart and nerve troubles Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills can give prompt and permanent relief.

Mrs. Frank Arsenau, Newcastle, N.B., writes: "I had awful attacks of heart trouble for the past five or six years, and as I had tried many kinds of medicine without getting any better, I decided to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and to my surprise I found ease from the second dose. I continued taking them until I had used six boxes, and now I feel as well as can be."

"At the present time my sister is using them for nervousness and finds great comfort by their use."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. or three boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Address to Governor-General.

Toronto, Nov. 28.—In the Legislative Building to-day the Canadian Press Association presented an address to the Duke of Devonshire the new Governor-General. The address was read by the president, J. G. Elliott, of the Kingston Whig. He was accompanied by the Advisory Committee of the Association. The address was thus:

Your Excellency—The Canadian Press Association, Dominion-wide in its membership, begs to express its hearty appreciation of the honor conferred upon this Dominion by His Most Gracious Majesty the King in selecting you as his representative and advisor in this land. We congratulate the people of Canada upon having so distinguished, so upright and so honorable a representative of that splendid class of English peers whose lives have been given up so freely to public service.

The Canadian press, as aforesaid, desires to declare its unwavering adherence to the British Crown and to British institutions. It acknowledges with pride the splendid record Britain has made for freedom and righteousness and the upholding of the weak and the oppressed under all circumstances; it rejoices that in the present struggle she has again demonstrated her belief in truth and honor, and in the maintenance of friendly and helpful relations among all nations.

Canadian journalism stands for all that is true and noble in public and in private life. Purity and unselfishness are the characteristics that it calls for and appreciates and desires to be perpetuated so that this Dominion may be regarded as the brightest gem in the British Crown.

During Your Excellency's regime we trust we may be of helpful service in aiding you in the upholding of British (which are also Canadian) ideals of true government.

The pressmen welcome Your Excellency and your family to Canadian soil. We trust that your stay will be eminently enjoyable, that you will find the widest measure of hospitality and generosity on the part of the people, and that this country through its contact will be blessed by all those splendid attributes of heart and mind with which Your Excellency and family are so richly endowed. Along with thousands of affectionate Canadians we offer our most ardent felicitations and pray that yourself, the Duchess of Devonshire, and your daughters will find with us such joyful experiences that we will ever remain a part of your lives and a sharer especially with Your Excellency in all the delights that follow a splendid career spent in devoted service to our Royal Sovereign and the British realm.

TRIPLETT DIVORCE CASE

WIFE OF PASTOR DRANK HIGH-BALL IN AN HOTEL.

Mrs. Triplett Said She Went There To sign a Lease of Some Thousand Island Property.

New York, Nov. 28.—The New York witnesses in the suit for divorce brought by the Rev. J. Edwin Triplett, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Woodbury, N.J., and in the countersuit brought by Dorothy A. Triplett, now of the Bronx, were examined before C. V. D. Joline, acting as Advisory Master in Chancery. The episode on which Mr. Triplett based his suit for divorce occurred at a hotel in New Haven May 15th last.

Mrs. Triplett said that Jack Wilson Shaw, who posed as a real estate dealer at 501 Fifth Avenue, and who negotiated with Mrs. Triplett's mother, Mrs. Doris M. Nelson of this city, for the sale of some Thousand Islands property she owned, induced her to go to the hotel with him. He took her there, she said, to have a glass of wine.

Joseph H. Buckley of 141 West 145th street, who was room clerk at the New Haven hotel, told of the arrival of Mrs. Triplett and a man. He said he saw them in the dining room and there were two highball glasses on the table. Twenty minutes later, he said, the woman left the hotel.

The principal witness of the day was Jack Wilson Shaw, a process server, of 1,376 Inwood avenue, the Bronx. He admitted that he was the man with Mrs. Triplett who signed the hotel register "J. L. Curtis of Boston." When Shaw was asked whether he had accompanied Mrs. Triplett to New Haven, he refused to answer on the ground that it might tend to incriminate him. Under cross-examination he admitted that he had told Mrs. Triplett that his name was Jack Wilson.

Pressed for a reason for giving Wilson as his name, Shaw took refuge in the fact that the answer might incriminate him, as he was under a criminal charge in Connecticut.

Mary Triplett, the twenty-year-old sister of the pastor, testified her sister-in-law was both cruel and unkind. She said she had heard Mrs. Triplett call her brother a liar and a coward.

GRAVES CASE TO KAISER

Imperial Permission Necessary for Embassy Attache to Testify.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Formal request that Prince Hatzfeldt, Counselor of the German Embassy, appear as a witness against Karl August Graves, self-styled international spy, has been made by the State Department in a note to Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador. Graves was arrested here recently on a charge of attempting to extort $3,000 from Countess von Bernstorff. He is now out on bail awaiting a preliminary hearing on Dec. 6th.

The request has been forwarded to the German Foreign Office in Berlin. Ultimately it will come before Emperor William, who must give his personal approval before the Prince can appear.

TRYING TO END STRIKE

Hon. Robert Rogers Attempting to Adjust Crow's Nest Trouble.

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—The Department of Labor stated yesterday afternoon that a conference was now in progress between the Minister of Labor, Hon. Robert Rogers, and the Crow's Nest Pass mine workers represented by D. Ross, of Fernie, B.C., member of the U.M.W. executive, and president W. Green, of district 18, which embraces the affected territory.

While reports reaching the Department are somewhat indefinite, there are grounds for the belief that a number of the miners are continuing work, pending the result of the conference.

WHOLE FAMILY LOSE LIVES IN A FIRE

Dwelling Caught Fire While Seven Occupants Asleep—Were Trapped.

West Cape May, N.J., Nov. 28.—The smell of smoke and the crackle of flames aroused neighbors of Lewis Wilson, a farmer, shortly after day-light yesterday morning and they ran from their homes to find the two and a half storey frame farmhouse of Wilson blazing from cellar to roof. They knew that Wilson, his wife, her mother and two sons and two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson had been in the house and realized, when they could not find one of them, that all seven were still inside the blazing house.

There is no fire department in this town, and the fire had made such progress that the farmers could not check it with the little water they were able to draw from the well and throw on the flames from buckets. It was impossible for anyone to enter the place, though they knew that the Wilson family was dead or dying inside. So the neighbors were forced to stand by helpless until the farmhouse burned to the ground.

When only a part of the brick chimney and a heap of embers remained to mark where the house had stood, the heat made it still impossible to search for bodies, and it was late in the morning when the bodies of Wilson, his wife Margaret, and her mother, Mrs. Katherine Gibson, were found. Even then there was no trace of the bodies of the children, Gertrude, 11 years old; Thomas, 9; Lyman, 6; and Beatrice, a year and a half, and it is supposed that they were consumed.

3,219,000 WOMEN AT WORK

IN THE BRITISH ISLES OUTSIDE THEIR OWN HOMES

They are Occupied in Many Pursuits—766,000 Women Have Replaced Male Labor—How They are Distributed.

London, Nov. 14.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The saying that woman's place is in the home has little application in war time. There are now in the British Isles 3,219,000 women employed outside their own homes. During the first two years of war the increase of women workers, exclusive of purely feminine occupations, was 866,000. Of these 766,000 directly replaced male labor. In other words, more than three-quarters of a million women left their homes to replace that number of men for military service.

In most instances the women went into the munition plants, where a considerable number of them have given up their lives in "doing their bit."

There seems to be no limit to the class of work women can do. At first it seemed strange to see girl conductors on the buses, girl window cleaners, van drivers, and messengers. But as the war progressed the field broadened, and now even in building, mining, and quarrying scores of women are employed.

In most of the factories and shops, the breweries and the railway yards, jumpers and regulation overalls are the approved costume. The bus and tram conductors are jaunty in their neat blue tunics, and skirts reach just below the knees—low enough to overlap close-fitting black leather puttees. This is seldom a glimpse of stocking. The bus companies issued an order recently that no silk hose should be worn.

The number of women employed in railway work has increased more than 200 per cent. There are women ticket collectors, porters, engine cleaners, and workshop laborers. In Glasgow and some other cities women are being tried out as tram drivers or motorwomen.

The number of women recruited to industrial occupations between July 1914, and July, 1916, was 262,000. Of this number 263,000 directly replaced men. In commercial occupations the increase in women work-
