THE SUBURBAN ROAD AREA

IS ADOPTED BY THE FRONTENAC COUNTY COUNCIL.

A. M. Rankin, M.P., Said Work Would Start Next Spring—Council Asked to Help in Getting Recruits for the 253rd.

At the Thursday afternoon session of the County Council, Lieut. Col. P. G. Campbell, Major R. D. Sutherland and Sgt. Major Freeman made an appeal for aid to the 253rd Queen's Highland Battalion. They asked that the reeves do all they could in their municipalities to help in securing recruits for this new unit being organized in Kingston. Col. Campbell said that all recruits joining the battalion would come in on the same footing and have the same choice of advancement. He stated that later on, if the council felt disposed, it might consider making a grant to the battalion. Warden Halliday said that the interests of the 253rd would be duly considered.

At the Friday morning session the council adopted a report from the commission of the suburban roads area of the City of Kingston, which stated that the suburban roads in the system of county roads of Frontenac under the Highways Improvement Act, towards which the city shall contribute pursuant to the Ontario Highways Act of 1915, would be:

Front road, from Portsmouth three miles. Two miles of road running from Collins' Bay northerly to Westbrook. York road from Kingston to Lennox and Addington, eight miles. Sydenham road from north of Cataract to Counter's Corners, one and nine-tenths miles.

Eleven miles of road from first concession Pittsburg, easterly to boundary line of Frontenac and Leeds. Kingston and Phillipsville road from Barrfield to Cunningham's Corners, four and six-tenths miles.

Kingston and Perth road from northern limits of City of Kingston running northerly to Shannon's Corners, four and seven-tenths miles. Bath road from north-western limits of city to boundary between Frontenac and Lennox and Addington, six miles and 158 1/2 rods.

Kingston, Storrington and Kingston Mills road from northern limits of the city to Hickey's Corners, five miles, and from Tuttle's Hill to Cunningham's Corners, three miles. Road from Redden's Corners, Kingston township, one and three-eighths miles.

Four and three-tenths miles of road from Counter's Corners to Hickey's Corners, Kingston township. Six and four-tenths miles of road from Burns' Corners, Pittsburg township, to the finger board.

After the area outlined had been adopted by the council and referred to the good roads committee, A. M. Rankin, M.P.P., the council's representative on the Suburban Area Commission, gave some information with regard to the system. It was hoped to construct the roadways at a minimum of cost, and this could be done by the aid of the city and the penitentiary warden. For construction, the city and the county would each pay thirty per cent. of the cost and the Provincial Government forty per cent. For maintenance, the city and county would each pay forty per cent. and the Government twenty per cent. The necessary by-law would be presented to the council at the January session, and work on the area would start next spring.

Applications were received from Thomas Dowker, George Killins and Thomas Gallagher asking to be appointed to the position of county high constable, in place of the late John Purdy.

HARROWSMITH STORE WAS BURGLARIZED

Large Haul Was Made From C. Redden—Band of Thieves at Work.

Burglars on Wednesday night entered the general store of C. Redden at Harrowsmith, by cutting out a pane of glass in a door. Mr. Redden is unable at present to state his loss, as the extent of the burglary has not yet been ascertained. The indications, however, are that the unwelcome visitors made a good haul. Among the articles stolen was a large quantity of fowl, and about two dollars in coppers, which had been left in the store. Unusually, Mr. Redden has been in the habit of taking his bills and silver home with him at night.

Apparently a band of thieves are at work in the Harrowsmith district for a number of farmers have reported the loss of chickens and grain.

YOUNG WOMAN IS MISSING

WAS FORMERLY ENGAGED AS A NURSE AT ROCKWOOD HOSPITAL

Has Been Missing From the City for Three Months—Provincial and Kingston Police Have Been Searching for Her—Home Near Renfrew.

Where is Miss Mina Eady, a former nurse at Rockwood Hospital, whose home is near Renfrew?

This is the question that provincial police, as well as the Kingston police, would like to know, as well as the relatives of the young woman, who has been missing for three months. The police are working on the case, but up till the present no trace of her can be found.

A provincial detective was in the city on Friday, assisting, and with members of the local police force followed up a number of clues concerning the movements of the young woman.

Miss Eady is eighteen years of age, and her father and sister reside near Renfrew. The sister has been in Kingston for two weeks looking for her sister.

From what can be learned, it appears that Miss Eady, who resigned from Rockwood hospital early in May, resided in this city until early in August, when she suddenly disappeared. If the earth had swallowed her up.

MILITARY CIRCLES

Recruits for the Army Service Corps re-inforcements are coming in steadily from all points in the district and the organization of the work by Major J. Hamilton is proving to be a success. He has officers stationed at various places and all are reporting good returns.

Capt. L. Sparks, "C" Squadron, Canadian Mounted Rifles, has relieved Major W. Allan Stroud of the recruiting work for this district to allow the major to return to Hamilton for training work. Capt. Sparks has taken over quarters in the Chief Recruiting Office on Princess street.

Major G. I. Campbell in an interview in Ottawa said that he was not in favor of holding concerts or entertainments for recruiting purposes, meetings should be held where speakers would drive home the seriousness of the great conflict and need for universal co-operation.

Recruiting in the 3rd military district is gradually picking up, as shown by the official return for the last two weeks of November in which 628 recruits were signed. The result is not satisfactory, however, and a circular is being sent out urging officers to greater efforts. There are now 4,098 men in the district including the 628 recruits.

A draft of one officers and thirty men from Queen's Field Ambulance Corps is being chosen for overseas service immediately.

Sergt. Desmond, Dental Corps has been granted a commission.

Lieut.-Col W. J. Brown has returned from Ottawa.

Major J. Hamilton is leaving this evening for Ottawa on military business.

THEATRICAL NEWS

At the Grand.

To say that the entertainment at the Grand last evening was enjoyable would be putting it mildly. Two favorite stars, Friend Canine and Harry Hilliard, were seen in the feature picture, "Little Miss Happiness." The story abounds in heart interest. Charlie Chaplin was seen in his latest laugh-factory, "Behind the Screen," a vehicle for chasing the blues. Surrounded by a galaxy of comedy stars, Chaplin is funny beyond comparison. The Pathe News, the animated newspaper of worldwide current events, upheld its purpose last night, interesting and amusing all. Arthur Barrett whistled the following: "Yaka Hula, Hula Dula," "Sunshine Smiles" and "Mocking Bird." This same bill to-night, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

At the Strand.

Last evening a large and appreciative audience witnessed the latest Triangle photoplay, "Manhattan Madness," with Douglas Fairbanks in the leading role. In "Manhattan Madness" the athletic star is of both east and west. Born and reared in New York, after graduating from an eastern college, he goes west, becomes a cow puncher for sheer love of the outdoor life, and eventually invests his money in a ranch. After several years' absence, he returns east for a visit, finds life in Manhattan extremely tame, and later wagers $5,000 that his friends cannot give him a thrill. The picture then reveals the adventure that follows the wager. The hero gets his thrill, loses his bet, but wins a bride. Mr. Fairbanks' gymnastic capabilities are excellent.

"Religion in Song."

An important new book, by Professor W. G. Jordan, of Kingston, has just been issued by James Clarke & Co., of London, entitled "Religion in Song," being studies in the Psalter.

This volume is intended to give in a brief space a clear statement concerning the origin and historical background of the Book of Psalms. There are many commentaries, critical studies, and popular expositions of the Psalter, but none that attempts exactly the same task. It discusses the structure of the book, the nature of ancient and modern scholarship, and the relation of these poems to earlier literature. Under such titles as "The Hymn Book," "The Songs of Zion," "The Pilgrim Psalms," particular groups of poems are studied.

Now ready for delivery at R. Ugle & Co's., Price, $1.25 copy. One of the best holiday gift books of the year for thoughtful readers.

Somme Club Entertain Soldiers.

Last evening members of the Somme Club gave a most delightful social to over 130 soldiers at the Military Y. M. C. A. hall, Brock street. The evening's social was very informal, and consisted of games, competitions, music, songs and refreshments. The programme was in the hands of Miss Anita Sutherland, secretary of the club, who was ably assisted by officials and members. A couple of competitions, for which prizes were offered, caused a good deal of interest. The first was a memory contest or passing the tray, in which Pte. F. Donaldson was the winner. The second contest was in the form of a hand-shaking contest, the one getting the largest number of names of persons he met having won the prize. Pte. D. Campbell was the winner.
