CONCERT WAS BIG SUCCESS

FINE PROGRAMME RENDERED IN PRINCESS STREET CHURCH.

Sum of $100 Realized as Result of Efforts of Men of the Congregation—Those Who Took Part in the Programme.

The concert given in Princess Street Methodist church on Tuesday evening was a great success. The church was filled to the doors, and the programme was arranged entirely by men of the congregation, and showed clearly just what the men can accomplish when they set out to do things. The affair was voted by all in connection with the church. Mayor Richardson presided as chairman, and after a few appropriate remarks introduced the programme, which included solos by W. H. Mack, duets by Messrs. Mack and Claxton, solo by S. S. H. Jones, J. D. Bankler, Ald. D. Couper; readings by William McErdridge; violin solos by Master Pelham Richardson and Mr. Mackle; cornet solos by W. Timms; selections from Queen's orchestra.

In addition to the musical programme, the audience heard a fine address by W. F. Nickle, M. P., who gave a racy account of his recent trip overseas, and told many interesting stories of the work of the men at the front.

Another interesting feature was the mock meeting of the Quarterly Board, in which nine members of the Board took part.

The committee in charge of the programme was composed of P. H. Baker, F. H. Rutherford and S. S. H. Jones, and they are deserving of great credit. The sum of $100 was realized, and this will be used to reduce the mortgage on the church.

HOUSEKEEPERS CAN HELP RECRUITING.

Help us by helping the merchant. Be patient with present day deliveries. Remember in many cases the merchant is considerably handicapped by having his employees enlisted or about to enlist for service overseas. Do not wait till the last moment to place your order. Do it the day before if possible, and by so doing you will help recruiting to a very marked degree. If deliveries are late, remember the cause.

HE BLEW OUT THE GAS

YOUTH IN POLICE STATION CREATED SENSATION.

Took the Old-Fashioned Way When Told to Turn Off His Light—Constable Made Discovery in the Nick of Time.

One can hardly imagine it, but the police had a man in their custody on Wednesday morning who blew out the gas, instead of turning it out in the proper manner, when he did so because he had an intention of committing suicide, but for the simple reason that he did not know any better, and this was certainly a good reason. He did not suffer from his experience, but he got a most valuable tip, which he did not carry with him through the rest of his life. Garrett Henderson, a youth gathered in for a violation of the Ontario Temperance Act, is the one in the limelight—or rather in the gaslight case. Wednesday morning the gas was burning in the long corridor of the police station where he was confined, having been remanded by the Court. He was told by one of the constables to turn off the gas, so he took the old-fashioned way and just blew it out.

A few minutes later one of the constables on duty in the station happened to go into the corridor, and the smell of escaping gas almost knocked him down. Henderson, however, did not appear to feel the effects of the gas.

THREE BROTHERS SEE SERVICE AT THE FRONT

One of Them, Pte. T. W. Olmstead, is Receiving Treatment at Kingston.

Pte. T. W. Olmstead, who was invalided home after being wounded and who is now undergoing treatment in Kingston, has two other brothers in uniform. Pte. Olmstead and his brother, Pte. E. G. Olmstead, enlisted at Brockville with the 59th Battalion and went overseas last March with that unit. E. G. was taken a prisoner at Courcellette on Oct. 8th, and is now at Dulmer, Germany. An elder brother, Pte. W. B. Olmstead, enlisted early in the war with the Canadian Army Service Corps, and is still at the front. The three are sons of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Olmstead, of Portland, Ont., who have in all four sons and one daughter, the other son being too young to enlist.

ANOTHER AUTOIST FINED

DROVE ON WRONG SIDE OF THE STREET WITHOUT LIGHTS.

Police Constable Caught George Andrew Violating Motor Vehicle Act—Public Must be Protected.

"I guess I am guilty all right," said George Andrew in the police court on Wednesday morning, when he was charged with running his automobile on the wrong side of the street and also operating it without lights. The magistrate imposed a fine of $5 and costs, or fifteen days.

Thomas Mullinger was the constable back of the charge. The offence was committed on Nov. 30th. The constable caught the autoist while he was travelling on Princess street. The police have special instructions to be on the look-out for violators of the Motor Vehicle Act. So many complaints are made from time to time about speeding cars, running without lights, that strict attention must be paid to these things in order that the public may be safeguarded.

BROTHER WAS CLOSE BY

When Trumpeter Layzell Was Killed by a Shell.

"Please do not break your heart or worry about the rest of us. We will be glad when the war is finished. Percy died for his country's honor, the same as we came out here to do. Good-by and God bless you."

The following pathetic paragraph appears in a letter from Donald Layzell to his mother, Mrs. B. Layzell, Bagot street, in which he tells of the death of his brother, Trumpeter Percy Layzell, who was killed by the explosion of an eight-inch shell. Three other brothers are serving overseas.

The writer stated that his brother was given a military funeral, and that nearly all the members of his battery attended. He was beloved by all the men, and general regret was expressed over his death.

"I happened to be in the same section at the time of the shelling," but Percy was the unlucky one," said the writer. "I am sending you one of his last pictures, which he had taken in the same town in which he was killed. We were going to have our pictures taken the day as he was killed."
