THE FRAME UP OF THE KAISER

Who Wants Peace And Wants It Very Badly Just Now.

BIG SACRIFICES MADE

ON ALL FRONTS THIS FALL BY THE HUNS

For the Sole Purpose of Impressing the Allies With an Undue Sense of Teutonic Power.

(Special to the Whig) Toronto, Dec. 12.—The Star today, commenting on Germany's peace move, says:

"It is not likely that Von Bethmann-Hollweg really believes the Allies can be induced to make peace under present military conditions. He probably knows that the Allied army in Macedonia must be swept out of the Balkans with the aid of Greece and another summer of desperate effort to force German lines in the west be frustrated before the Allies, if ever, will become reconciled to a draw. But Germany dreads the coming ordeal. She feels she cannot wait until the slow-moving Allies come to a decision without urging on her part.

"The people of Germany and Austria-Hungary have developed a passion for peace. Discontent and needs of revolt are on all sides. The food situation is serious, and many months must pass before new harvests are available. The victories in Rumania are devoid of the military significance attached to them in most neutral and some Allied quarters. The troops and guns and shells that should have been held in reserve for the 1917 campaign have been severely drawn on to offset the ill-effects of Rumanian intervention, which are real, if not apparent. On all fronts the fall sacrifices have been made for the sole purpose of impressing the Allies with an undue sense of German power. Germany wants peace and wants it badly, and she has made a supreme effort to frame up a situation which would give her some cause for offering an ante bellum status quo for the 'welfare of humanity.'

SHOE AND LEATHER JOURNAL

Refers to Capt. James T. Sutherland in Current Issue.

Publishing a splendid picture of Capt. James T. Sutherland, the current issue of the Shoe and Leather Journal has the following to say about this popular Kingstonian.

"Capt. Sutherland is widely known in the shoe and leather trade, having been for many years representative for the Cook-Fitzgerald Co., in Ontario, and later, Scott-Chamberlain, Limited, London, until he joined the 'Jims' comes of a well-known shoemaking family that has been in business in Kingston for nearly three-quarters of a century, where his brothers are still engaged in the retail line. The re-election of Captain Sutherland as president of the O.H.A. is a tribute to his popularity, enthusiasm and devotion to hockey. He has always been a staunch supporter of clean athletics."

POULTRY SHOW IS ON.

The Egg Exhibit of Government Department is Interesting.

With the mingled cackling of poultry of all sizes and descriptions, the Armouries was certainly an attractive place on Tuesday, when the Central Ontario Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock Association's show opened in commemoration of the association's twenty-fifth anniversary. The first day's prospects were for a big show, in connection with the show the Agricultural Department have an educational exhibit of eggs, etc., of more than passing interest to farmers. H. Baker, from the Department, is in charge, and among other things is using 3,000 new Canadian coppers to show the relative improvement of the egg industry of Canada as compared to wheat, fruit, etc. He is also demonstrating the proper ways to pack and ship eggs.

OBITUARY

The Late William Mackintosh.

Rev. Dr. MacTavish, formerly minister of Cooke's church, now in charge of the Madoc Presbyterian church, who was in the city attending the meeting of the Kingston Presbytery, received a telephone message Tuesday morning announcing the death in Madoc of William Mackintosh, who for forty years was inspector of public schools in Centre Hastings. He retired a year ago last July, and on his retirement received a fine testimonial in the shape of a silver tea set from the teachers of the inspectorate. He was about seventy years of age, and for twenty-seven of those years he was an elder in the Madoc Presbyterian church. He was also a representative elder, and frequently attended meetings of the Presbytery. He is survived by five daughters and one son. The son is William Mackintosh, who graduated from Queen's last spring and is taking a post-graduate course at Harvard. One of the daughters, Miss Agnes Mackintosh, is in her final year at arts. Three of the other daughters were also graduates of Queen's.

THE COUNTY COURT.

The Civil Case Settled—One Criminal Case May be Withdrawn.

The County Court opened Tuesday afternoon before Judge Lavell. The first case taken up was that of Joseph Elmer vs. John Stansbury, Jr., an action to recover $500 damages for injuries sustained by reason of the alleged negligent driving of a motor car. This is a jury case, and will likely take considerable time. There were two other civil cases on the docket, but one, the Frontenac Coal and Lumber Co., vs. J. W. Litton, has been settled out of court. The defendant was sued for $279.30 for goods and interest thereon, but paid $120 into court in full satisfaction of the claim, and this amount has been accepted by the plaintiff.

It was announced that the case against N. C. Asselstine, charged with the theft of a dog, would not be heard as the plaintiff was not present.

The other criminal case is that of a convict charged with assaulting a guard.

In his address at the opening of the Court, Judge Lavell referred to the taking over of the Court House by the Hospitals Commission, and that this act brought home that losses were being sustained at the front and men were needed to replace the losses. He hoped that the establishment of the hospital would remind men of their duty in this great struggle.

Peter Demetoff was sentenced to two years in penitentiary by Judge Cosgrove in the General Sessions at Toronto for wounding Olga Stasowa, her mother, Eudoka Stasowa, and Harry Jessel.

Flora Bella one-step and Girl from Brazil one-step, new Victor record at Lindsay's.

THEATRICAL NEWS

At the Grand.

A pleasing mixture of high-tone photoplays and refined vaudeville put the big crowd into spasms of delight at the Grand, last evening. Dorothy Green and Clifford Bruce appeared in the feature picture, "The Devil at His Elbow," a thrilling story taken on board a big steamer at sea, and also on a submarine. Other films were a three-act Universal feature, "The Voice of the Tempter," a rib-tickling one-reeler, "The Inspector's Double," and the ever welcome Pathe News. On the vaudeville bill, Miss Phyllis Devlin, Kingston's favorite young vocal entertainer, enraptured the audience with the following: "Idle of Dream," "Every Little While," an English number, and by special request, "Long, Long Trail." Boule and Druar presented a singing and pianologue speciality. Among their songs were, "The Toreador," "Carmena," and a character number, "O'Hara." This programme will be repeated to-morrow afternoon and evening.

To-night, "Merry Wives of Windsor"

Kingston will welcome to-night at the Grand Opera House Thomas A. Wise in "The Merry Wives of Windsor," with his co-stars Constance Collier, as Mistress Ford, and Isabel Irving as Mistress Page. Mr. Wise will appear as Falstaff, a part in which his fame is now secure for all time.

While Miss Collier and Miss Irving will receive a royal welcome, as befits their distinction, Tom Wise will receive a human one. He is well known here professionally and will be for the rest of his life in the hearts of all who have come in contact with him, his wonderful disposition, his amiability and his true manhood.

At the Strand.

Capacity business and hundreds turned away at eight o'clock was the order of things at the Strand last evening. Lillian Gish was seen to advantage in the latest five part Trich, "Diana of the Folies," a play of domestic life and the sixty-seven gowns worn by the women are marvellous and interest in them is only surpassed by the excellence of the production. Charley Chaplin in "Police," and a two part Keystone comedy, "She Loved a Sailor," are two of the best comedies ever seen in Kingston in some time. Jack Harris in a musical and comedy turn completed a well balanced programme of vaudeville and pictures that will be shown again to-day and Wednesday.

At Griffin's.

A very large and highly pleased audience attended at Griffin's last evening to witness the second episode of "The Crimson Stain Mystery," the wonderful serial that has them all going with its sensational climax and thrilling situations. There is something doing every second. This remarkable serial is creating a greater degree of interest among the patrons of the screen drama than any serial photoplay that has ever been produced. These popular stars, Maurice Costello and Ethel Grandin, add materially to the interest and hold the attention of the audience from start to finish. The feature picture is a Lasky production of unusual merit, entitled "Each Pearl a Tear," with the well-known star, Fanny Ward, in the principal role. The vaudeville consists of a team of very clever colored singing and dancing comedians, a Frank Daniels comedy completes an evening of real entertainment. The same excellent bill will be shown to-day and Wednesday.

Stephen Leacock's New Book.

Prof. Leacock, the author of "Sunshine Sketches," has issued his new 1917 book on up-to-date fun, entitled "Further Foolishness," being sketches and satires on the follies of the day. It deals with Peace, War, Politics, Literature and Love, in fact everything now in the public eye. Just in time for your holiday gift. List price $1.25, at Unglow's.

Potatoes.

We still have about 200 bags of potatoes and must move them all out by Saturday night at $1.85 a bag. Call and see them at McLaughlin's Garage, opposite the Windsor Hotel Hotel gateway, Montreal street, or phone your order to No. 81, A. Vanluvan.
