

Alkali in Shampoos Bad for Washing Hair

Don't use prepared shampoos of any kind, that contain too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required.

OLD SUBSCRIBER WRITES

GIVING HIS VIEWS ON THE GREAT WORLD WAR.

The Greatest War May Be Considered the Best War as it is Dethroning King Alcohol.

R. F. Brady, an old subscriber of the Whig, writes to the Whig as follows from Grimes, Oklahoma: "I read your paper, of which I am proud, as I think its principles are based on fairness. I note the article by James H. Bawden, of St. Louis, and while I may easily be noticed that I didn't make as good use of my school days as Mr. Bawden, and while I regret the same, I can but blame myself. Like Mr. Bawden, I have been for fifteen years in the presence of Germans, being that long in Oklahoma, and my knowledge of the Germans makes me desire to see the down dog given a fair show."

Not long ago we got a report whereby the Allied diplomatic position was as critical as Russia and was on the verge of a separate peace. Now I cannot express my feelings, and the authority was the Kansas City Star, a reliable paper, but the outcome was simply that it is always darkest just before day—which I feel has dawned. What would I or Mr. Bawden think of a former Canuck who didn't care as to how the war ended? When we would think it over we would respect the fellow who cusses President Wilson, for like Mr. Bawden and myself, they have a feeling of loyalty to the land of their birth.

Wherever the traveller went the Australians and New Zealanders said: "This is the American price, and there is the American sample. You meet the American price and produce the American quality and the order is yours." Thus one commercial traveller secured between $500,000 and $750,000 worth of business in Australia and New Zealand last summer. Every one of these orders was an order transferred to a Canadian factory from a United States factory. Australia and New Zealand are a type and symbol of every British and allied country after the war. The people who have fought together will want to buy from each other, rather than purchase goods from enemy or neutral peoples. Canadian manufacturers should prepare to enter in and possess the new world of opportunity that will open to Canadian industry in the markets of every British and allied country after the war.

TURKS IN GERMANY.

A New Plan for Spreading Kultur in the Orient.

Some 250 Turkish scholars, including a few girls, recently arrived in Germany in order to fill the void of arrangements which have been made for the more or less free education of a number of Turkish youths at German high schools. This is part of the Teuton scheme to Germanize Turkey. Up to the present 12 different German towns have offered to provide the necessary maintenance for one such scholar each, while 30 German families in Berlin and the provinces have declared their willingness to receive and educate one of the visitors free of charge, and the Turkish war office is paying for the journey and equipment of 15 others who will then be supported by the German-Turkish Association. In other cases semi-maintenance is to be provided, and in others still the children will be educated entirely at the expense of the Teuton states.

British Trade. A Canadian manufacturer called his chief traveller last spring and said: "I want you to go to Australia and New Zealand. I don't expect you to get any orders, but size up the chances of our doing business over there. Take six months or more for the job, and let us know where we will get off at if we try to sell goods in Australia and New Zealand after the war."

Why He Supported the Fund. The task of raising the Canadian Patriotic Fund is not all serious work. It is illumined here and there by flashes of humor, and everywhere there crop out touches of human nature that add zest to the work.

Has Made a Record. Mr. Norton Gardiner, Brockville, early in December had in addition to a large amount of Red Cross supplies, knit and sent overseas 250 pairs of socks, 35 Balacava caps, 25 pairs of wristlets, and at last reports was keeping up the good work.

CHURCH MUST BE AROUSED

TO MEET PRESENT CONDITIONS FOR MISSIONARY WORK.

Responsibility of Christian People Brought Home in Strong Address by Rev. Alfred Brown—Dangerous Period in Missionary Enterprise.

The responsibility of the Christian people, along missionary lines, was brought home to the congregation that assembled at the prayer meeting held in the First Baptist church on Thursday evening in a strong address delivered by Rev. Alfred Brown, pastor of St. Stephen's Methodist church. "Missions and Missionaries" was the subject of the address, and the speaker dealt with it in a masterly way. Rev. T. DeCourcy Raynor, the recently inducted pastor of the First Congregational church, was to have been the speaker of the evening, but he was unable to be present, owing to the fact that he is in Hamilton making preparations for the removal of his family to Kingston. Rev. Douglas Laing presided, and a number of the city ministers took part in the service. The choir assisted in the musical part of the programme. There was good attendance. The last of the series of special prayer services will be held to-night in Queen Street Methodist church, when Prof. W. G. Jordan, of Queen's University, will speak on "The Church and the World."

A speaker had once stated that our missionary efforts must be along the methods of the 20th century, and not of the 19th and 18th centuries. The British war office had experienced a great awakening, and it may be that the church needs a similar awakening along missionary lines. The church must be aroused to the dangers and the needs. The church owed a great deal to God and suffered humanity. During the coming years there was need of more important work to meet the great demand, and this called for a vast increase in faith and consecrated effort. The work would be greater, and therefore the responsibility would be greater. Tribute was due the pioneers who had, in early days, tramped up and down the country sounding the missionary call. The church must push forward. What to-day was a frontier for missionary work must on the morrow be organized ground. There was need of united prayer and support for missions and missionaries. The missionary work demanded the support of the church, and was entitled to it. The gospel alone had the regenerating force. We must not merely talk about missions, but we must pray for missions and also for the missionaries. If the world was to be saved and held for Christ it must come through missionary work.

O. R. A. SEASON OPENS

Here This Evening With Artillery Playing Kingston Juniors.

On Friday morning the Artillery Brigade hockey team was hard at work on the Covered Rink getting ready for the game this evening, and thought the team was not definitely selected it certainly looked like a fast aggregation. The ice is hard, and with the Kingston Juniors as their opponents, the game should be a fast one. The Juniors will line up about the same as in Belleville, as follows: Walsh or Toland in goal; Evans and Hall, defences; Elmer, Simpson, centre; Gratton and Sewel, wings; Burgoyne, of Toronto, will referee.

Great interest is being taken in the Frontenac prospects for their game against the 236th (Belleville) team here on Monday night. The players are hoping for good hard ice.

Take the case of a Quebec county councillor. His council had been asked to contribute a certain sum yearly, and an officer of the fund called on him to secure his endorsement of the proposal. He listened to an explanation of the details, and then started to estimate what the new taxation would imply to him. "All right, I'll vote for the grant. I find that it will cost me eight dollars—but I'd rather pay even twenty dollars than to go to the war!"

Mrs. Adelaide Baldwin Mulock, wife of Cawthra Mulock, Toronto, is suing for alimony. She asks for $2,000 a month and law costs until the trial of the action.

Judgment in Mining Case. Judgment was given for the plaintiff for $100 by Judge Lavelle in the case of Silla vs. The Anglin Mines Mining Company. The plaintiff's claim for damages for negligent cutting out of fire was dismissed.
