ROUGH WEATHER WEDNESDAY.

Weather Man Gave Citizens a Very Sudden Change.

Wednesday, Jan. 10th, will go down into history as one of the roughest days of the year. From real springlike weather there was a change to real old time wintry weather. With a piercing north wind and a flurry of snow, it was most disagreeable to pedestrians who had to make their way about the city. The street car service managed to keep going, but it was pretty hard work.

THEATRICAL NEWS

To-night "Mother Love."

A new play by a new author is always interesting for the reason one never knows when another Pietero, Ibsen, Thomas Fisch or other talented dramatist may be discovered. Therefore, there is an unusual amount of interest attached to the engagement of "Mother Love" at the Grand to-night.

Robert Lawrence, the author, is well known as a stage director and has revised many manuscripts for other dramatists, but "Mother Love" is really his maiden effort as a playwright. The theme has been used before in several different plays, perhaps the most notable being "The Greatest Thing in the World," as played by Mrs. Le Moyne several years ago. "Madame X," "Mother," a play produced by William A. Brady with considerable success, and this season by Hartley Manners in "The Harp of Life," in which Laurette Taylor is appearing in New York. However, the theme is big enough for any number of playwrights, for after all is said and done "Mother Love" is, without doubt, the most beautiful, sublime, self-sacrificing love of which the heart and soul is capable.

At the Grand.

For to-morrow, Friday and Saturday the Grand has arranged a bill which should tickle the taste of the most tired of theatre-goers. The five-reel feature will be "The War Bride's Secret," with Virginia Pearson in the leading role. Charlie Chaplin, the funniest man in the world, will appear in "The Rink," which is an extravaganza involving a series of shrieksome adventures by a frolicsome waiter, his customers of the cafe, and those who resent the bold ways of the inimitable Charles. The Fido News will also be shown. Polite vaudeville will hold the boards.

At the Strand.

Capacity business, many turned away and those fortunate in securing seats were well pleased with the programme at the Strand last evening. Charles Ray, Margery Wilson and Margaret Thompson were seen to advantage in the latest Triangle play, "The Honorable Algy." "Bombs," a two part Keystone comedy, with Charles Murray, was a riot of fun and frolic. Other good reels and refined vaudeville, with Miss Nan Madigan in a complete repertoire of new songs, rounded out a well balanced programme of vaudeville and pictures. In conjunction with the above the complete destruction in midair of the giant German baby-killer Zeppelin L-21 over London will be shown for the last time to-night.

MAY USE COURT HOUSE.

For Dining and Sleeping Quarters for Military Nurses.

The suggestion has been advanced by those interested in the establishment of the 1,000-bed Kingston military hospital to use the top floor of the court house as a nurses' home—the west wing for dining quarters and the east wing for sleeping quarters. These quarters could accommodate the seventy-five nurses who would be employed with the big hospital. Dr. W. T. Connell stated to the Whig on Wednesday that further than making the suggestion, no action had yet been taken, as the Military Hospitals Commission architects would attend to the details.

From other sources, it is learned that the first patients are expected to arrive in the city about the first week in February.
