MILLAN PLAYED GREAT GAME.

Son of Ald. D. J. Millan is on the Dental Hockey Team in Toronto.

Ruby Millan, son of Ald. D. J. Millan, is on the Toronto Dental team, which played the 227th Battalion at Hamilton on Wednesday night, and in which the "Dents" lost by a score of 8 to 4. The Hamilton Times says that Millan at centre played a rattling fine game. He scored two goals, but an injured eye slowed him up in the last twenty minutes.

Great credit is also given C. Stewart and J. Stewart, two other Kingston boys on the dental team. C. Stewart was in the dental team, and the Hamilton papers state that he gave a real exhibition of net tending. He was in hot water all through the first period, but he warded off shots with ease, and his good work kept his team in front during the first twenty minutes of play.

Barrett-Olsen Wedding.

A quiet wedding took place in St. Mary's cathedral Wednesday morning at 8.30 o'clock, when Captain A. Barrett was united in marriage to Mary Louise, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Olsen, of Kingston.

The bride was gown in amethyst satin with hat to match. The bridesmaid, who was Miss Ethel McLaughlin, of Cape Vincent, cousin of the bride, wore burgundy satin with hat to match. The groom was attended by Nelson Nanard, of Kingston. The gift of the groom to the bride was a seal coat with sable trimmings; to the groomsmen a pearl tie pin. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a ring set with twin pearls. The many beautiful presents show the high esteem in which the young couple are held. They left for Toronto and New York. After their return they will reside in Montreal.

Treat For the Grand.

There is an extra good treat coming to the patrons of the Grand Opera House in the near future. C. Ramago, business manager of the Toronto branch of the Fox Film Company, of New York, is in the city arranging for some special features for this house, and the programme promises to be one of the best ever put on. This company has forty-eight exchanges, and one special feature is comedy reels.

D. W. Haynes, business manager for Klaw & Erlinger's "Daddy Long Legs" Company, was in the city today. This production, which has met with such great success in every place it has appeared, will be presented at the Grand on Monday, Jan. 22nd, matinee and night.

THREE LIQUOR CASES UP KINGSTONIAN AS MAYOR

FINES IMPOSED IN TWO AND THE OTHER ADJOURNED.

James McKibbin Got Plenty of Liquor, But Could Not Tell Who Gave it to Him—Jug of Whiskey Caused Trouble for Other Two Offenders.

In spite of the fact that the old town is on the "dry" list, it just looks as if we must have a few liquor cases in the Police Court from time to time. After every quiet spell some person has to do something contrary to the Ontario Temperance Act.

A little jug, filled with whiskey, proved the downfall of Percy Robinson and his friend, Stanley Cornwall. The latter called on Robinson at his home Thursday night, when Robinson announced that he had received some liquor. Just as the two were about to go out, Cornwall spied a little jug under a table. Robinson was in another room at the time, getting his overcoat. The temptation was too great, so he crept up, so he just helped himself, and freely, too, for he poured out enough to fill a big tumbler. Then he downed it. Robinson took on a good "cargo" previous to this, and later on, when the two were on the street they were being drunk, or as the charge read, "intoxicated in a public place."

Robinson, who was the first arraigned, pleaded guilty, and told the Magistrate that he had secured his liquor from Hull. He was fined $10 and costs, with the option of one month in jail. Cornwall was given a heavier touch. His fine was placed at $20.

James H. McKibbin had sufficient liquor on Thursday to put him under, but for the life of him he could not tell how he got it.

"I couldn't tell you how I got the liquor," he said to the Magistrate. "I am a soldier. I came down here from Trenton to get my discharge. I am a stranger here. A man gave me a drink on one of the back streets near the Barracks, and I guess I took too much."

Magistrate Farrell was not satisfied with the story, so he remanded the accused for a week, in order to give him time to identify the unknown who gave him the liquor.

Constables Dan McCarty, Leslie Clark and Leslie Armstrong made the arrests.

THE WAINWRIGHT, ALTA., STAR SPEAKS WELL OF HIM.

He Was Born Here, Lived in Nanaimo and Victoria, and Went West in 1912—A Citizen Whom Everyone Delights to Honor.

The Wainwright, Alta., Star, has the following to say regarding a former Kingstonian who was recently elected by acclamation as mayor of that provincial western town:

Matthew Greer, the newly elected mayor of Wainwright, first saw the light in the early sixties, being born in Kingston, Ont., but when quite young moved with his parents to Nanaimo, where he received his education in the public schools of that enterprising burg. Upon reaching manhood he migrated to Victoria County, and engaged in the lumbering business. In 1912 he got the western fever and after a tour of the west decided to settle in Wainwright. Soon after his arrival here he entered into partnership with Colin Cattley (who was a victim of the Germans on the Lusitania) in the livery and sales stable business in which he is still engaged. In 1914 he was elected to council. At the urgent request of a large number of ratepayers he assumed the mayoralty, and was elected to that office by acclamation. Prior to coming west Mr. Greer was for over eight years treasurer of the combined township of Laxton, Digby and Longford, an experience which amply fits him for the trying and onerous duties which pertain to the mayoralty of this flourishing town. In creed he is a Methodist. Above all, he is a citizen whom everybody delights to honor.

MENU AT THE FRONT.

Enjoyed by Some Queen's Battery-men on Christmas Day.

The following is clipped from a letter received in the city this week from a Kingston boy in the 46th (Queen's) Battery under Major L. W. Gill:

"Well, this is Christmas day and we are in fine shape as far as eats are concerned. There are four of us housed in a little barn, and we are quite comfortable. When we came to sum up the contents of the boxes received from home this week we found that we could present the following menu for our Christmas dinner: Soup (maggie peas and beans), fish on toast (sardines on hard tack), chicken, potting turkey, potting duck, plum pudding, Christmas cake (three large ones), cocoa, Oxo, bread, Crothers Meadow Cream Soda, water ice, wafers, raisins, figs, nuts.

"Quite a meal for a war-time session. The only trouble was that I had to eat without the aid of knife, fork and spoon, as my mess tin has been lost temporarily, and it surely required some juggling skill, but I enjoyed that, meat as I never enjoyed one before. What difference if the soup had a little soot from our Happy Thought Range (an old ammunition tin)—it tasted great anyway. Perhaps not so hot as the plum pudding which the ammunition tin originally carried for Fritz's benefit, but still very good.

"All the boys are fine and fit after our experience at the Somme, and we are as happy as the day is long."
