THEATRICAL NEWS

To-night at Grand.

For to-night, Tuesday and Wednesday the Grand Opera House the schedule contains a wealth of high class entertainment. A five reel Metro feature with Francis Bushman and Beverly Bayne is "The Diplomatic Service," a play of unusual merit will be shown. Miss Billie Burke, the talented and winsome little actress, will appear in the third instalment of "Gloria's Romance." This chapter is said to surpass its predecessors in quickness of action, elegance of scenery, and a further deepening of a wonderful plot. A two reel Universal photoplay, a Comedy and the Pathe News will also be screened. Polite vaudeville will be on the boards.

"Daddy Long Legs."

The comedy sets forth the story of a pretty, foundling girl, who is rescued from an orphan asylum by a big-hearted man of the world and sent to college. She is not permitted to know her mysterious benefactor, but is told to write reports of progress to "Mr. John Smith." She catches a glimpse of his shadow, however, cast in grotesque elongation by the lights of his motor car, and nicknames him "Daddy Long Legs." Her quaint letters to him, which fairly radiate pathetic affection, lightened by whimsical humor, go straight to the heart of the lonely philanthropist, and he determines to meet her without disclosing his identity. This meeting is the beginning of the fascinating love story. At the Grand Opera House on Monday, Jan. 22nd, matinee and night.

At Griffin's

The leading feature at Griffin's for to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday is one of the Famous Player productions, "The Rainbow Princess," with dainty Anna Pennington, who made such a success of her first trip to Finland under the assumed name of Sussie Snowflake. She has once more consented to appear on the screen for the entertainment of her thousands of admirers, and has accordingly created another splendid triumph in "The Rainbow Princess." Patrons will have an opportunity of seeing the clever little star of Ziegfeld Follies in one of her most captivating roles. The vaudeville, The Orrs, are a team of very clever and highly amusing entertainers. The house also shows Episode Seven of that great series, "The Crimson Stain Mystery," and that always laughable Frank Daniels in a new comedy series, the whole making an all-feature programme of real merit.

At the Strand.

An exceptionally attractive programme has been booked by the management of this playhouse for the first three days of this week. The headliner will be "Wounded Somme Heroes" at the Ontario Military Hospital, Orpington, Kent, England, showing care and treatment of our wounded by Ontario medical staff, which includes many prominent Kingstonians. Among those seen at work are: Dr. Edward Ryan, former medical superintendent of Rockwood Hospital; Dr. J. E. Kane, Earl street; Dr. Daniel Kennedy, son of Michael Kennedy, Portsmouth; Nursing Sisters Mills, Black, Lunnen, Blackaby, McKenna, Kennedy, and many other graduates of Rockwood Hospital. Dorothy Gish will be seen in the latest Triangle play, "Atta Boy's Last Race," a rushing racing story with a real horse race. "Black Eyes and Blue," a two-part Keystone comedy. Other good reels and polite vaudeville complete one of the best programmes ever shown at the Strand.

Ideal Theatre.

The bill for the week of Jan. 15th is an exceptionally strong one. Monday and Tuesday the old Kingston favorite, Francis Ford, is featured in "Poisoned Lips," also "Main, No. 4490," featuring Herbert Rawlinson and Agnes Vernon. Wednesday and Thursday that glorious serial, "Liberty," along with Violet Mercereau in "The Angel of the Attic." Friday and Saturday, "The Cry of Conscience," featuring Raymond Nye, and a smashing LKO comedy, two reels, featuring Dan Russel in "Where is My Husband." Usual admission.

Secured New Service.

A NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

Is to be Urged Upon the Borden Administration.

(Special to the Whig.) Ottawa, Jan. 15.—Members of Parliament and Senate arriving for the opening of the session on Thursday are all frankly and genuinely puzzled over the political outcome. Some believe a general election is inevitable; others say that the creation of a national coalition government will avert this. It is stated authoritatively that strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the Government to undertake the formation of a National Government. Baron Shaughnessy and men of like calibre in business are, it is said, among those who urge this. A general conservative caucus has been called and the whole matter will be thrashed out.
