

Football in Gas Helmets as Part of Military Training

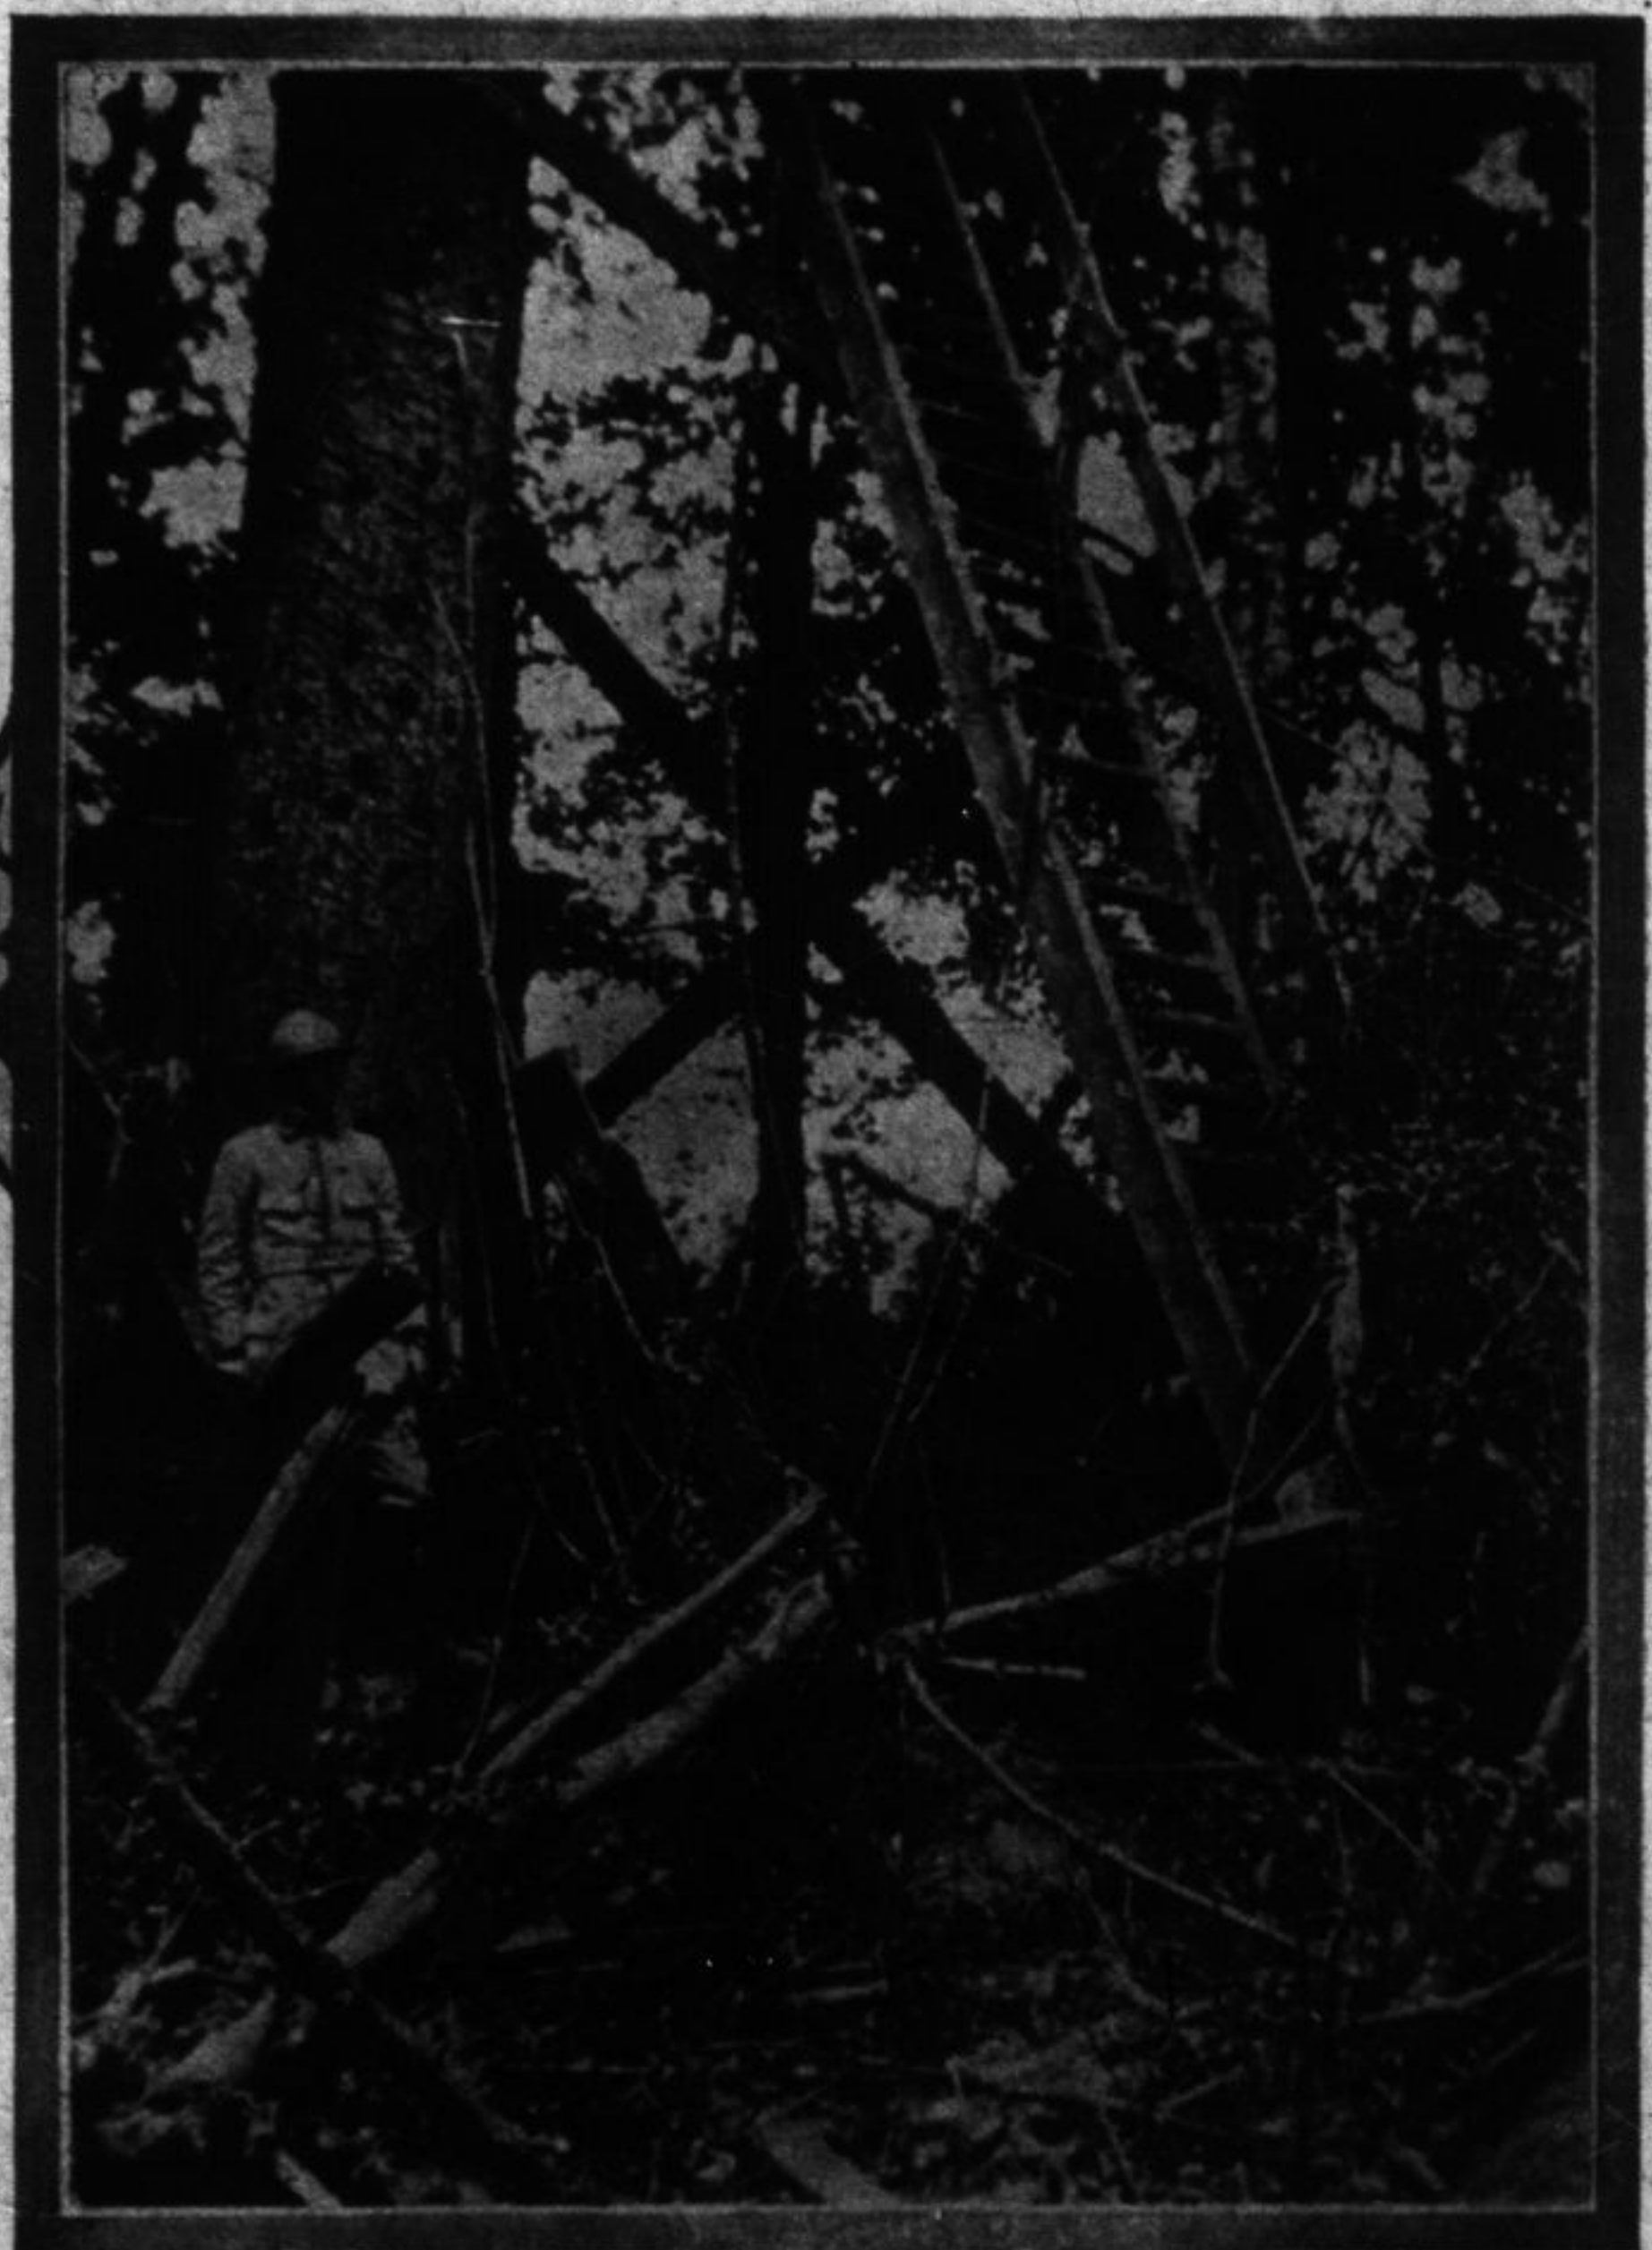

Two men down. Men of a Royal Fusilier battalion playing football in gas-helmets as part of their military training. They thus become accustomed to wearing their gas-helmets while engaged in strenuous action. The goal keeper beaten by a well placed shot. A clever save from a low shot.

Latest Official British Photographs Taken on the Western Front

Result of the latest recent great drive of the British. Millions and millions of these shells are seen in this pile.

Bosch Observatory, found in the woods at Estrees (Somme).

used in the swamp land. Photograph shows Serbian artillery horses pulling a despatch bearer from the dug-out.

Big Bosche shell found in the ruins of Vermandovillers (Somme).