MILITARY CIRCLES

Don Smith, son of Harry Smith, and Harold McGuire, son of Archie McGuire, Narance, a returned soldier, 72nd Queen's Battery, Kingston.

Sergt. Fields, R. C. H. A., is in the General Hospital.

Hereafter cooks, tailors, cobblers and orderly room clerks will have to toss aside their aprons and pencils and pens, forsake the stove, work bench and the typewriter to go out and shoulder a rifle and do some squad drill with the rest of their pals.

The social evening conducted at the Military Y. M. C. A. hall on Saturday was unique, in the fact that it was "Returned Soldiers Night." A large number of returned men, together with a fine assemblage of other soldiers, made a splendid gathering. Pte. Prince, a returned soldier, entertained with his singing and reciting. Another excellent item was an instructive address on "War Experiences" by Sergt. Learmount, of the P. P. C. L. L., who spent over fifteen months in the trenches before he was wounded. Miss Sutherland, Miss Craig and Miss Develyn also contributed to the programme. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Malcolm and her committee, after which Mrs. Robinson led in some choruses. S. H. Greenslade, secretary, was chairman.

In spite of the stormy evening there was a good attendance at the soldiers' social hour held at the Military "Y." Sunday evening. Mr. Finlay, of Sydenham Street Methodist church, rendered a solo, and Rev. J. W. Ellis, of Queen Street Methodist church, was the speaker.

The members of the Special Service Company attended exhibitions of "Can-ada in Khaki" at the Strand theatre last week. The admissions were paid out of the canteen fund.

Lieut.-Col. Butcher, headquarters musketry staff, is expected here on Tuesday on an inspection trip.

Capt. S. MacGregor and Bissell leave on Tuesday morning for Brockville to hold medical boards on the 23rd Battalion.

Lieut. Munsie on Monday took over his new duties as adjutant of the Social Service Company. Lieut. Crozier is acting O.C. of the company.

Capt. W. J. McManus leaves on Tuesday to organize two posts at Iroquois and Cornwall to be manned by the men of Special Service Company now at Mills Roaches. The company is now providing forty-one men under Capt. Campbell, late 235th, for the munition plant guard at Trenton.

Lieut.-Col. P. G. C. Campbell, commanding 253rd Queen's University Battalion, left at noon on Monday for Niagara, and will go to London and Windsor on recruiting work. He will return on Friday.

British Drop Bombs on Baghdad. (Special Telegram.) London, Jan. 22.—British visitors from the Mesopotamia army dropped bombs on Baghdad to-day.

THEATRICAL NEWS

To-night "Daddy Long Legs." Speaking of "Daddy Long Legs," which comes to the Grand to-night, the Montreal Herald says: The play itself is clean throughout and sparkles with human interest in every phase. That is was enjoyed by all those present was very evident.

Miss Edna Walton's "Judy Abbot" the orphan, was piquant and refreshing in her girlishness and most appealing in her humor. Mr. Roscoe made a strikingly manly philanthropist and his reading of the part showed a splendid adaptation. His acting was restrained and his modulated tones added much to his pleasing personality.

At the Grand. An exhibition of the better class of interesting photodramas and polite variety entertainment has been arranged for Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. An exceedingly fine five-reel feature has been booked for this engagement—"Life's Shadow," with Irene Hawley and William Nigh in the leading roles. Miss Billie Burke will appear in the fourth chapter of "Gloria's Romance," the epoch-making serial which the Grand is offering for the first half of each week. A two-reel Universal photoplay, a comedy, and the Pathe News will also be shown. An unusual vaudeville bill will be shown. Billy and Eva McClintock will present their comedy singing and dancing specialty.

Guy Bates Post. "The Masquerader" will be presented at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, Jan. 25th, in this play Mr. Post plays a dual role. On the one hand he appears as John Chilcote, of distinguished family, wealthy and honored, a member of Parliament and leader of his political party, but an addict of morphine. The other character is John Loder, a young man who comes of good family, which by reason of financial reverses left him without any but a sparse living and the money he could earn by his writing. He is greatly ambitious and had yearned always for a life in the political arena. Comes to Jim Chilcote with an offer to change places as their physical likeness is such as to defy detection. By changing Chilcote gives himself up to his love of morphine. Round this pair the drama is woven. Mr. Tully has surrounded his star with an exceptional company of players.

At Griffin's. Puppy Love, calf love or whatever you choose to call it, that frightful epidemic, which somehow or other seems to act as a scourge upon the youth of our country, invariably as they reach the mature period of life, usually at the end of seventeen long years of world experience, is the theme on which Booth Tarkington built his humorous masterpiece, "Seventeen," a play of the type of which will be shown at Griffin's to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday. Jack Pickford takes the part of "Seventeen" who has renounced woman once and for all in favor of more substantial interests, and who has decided that his future rests in higher planes. Louise Huff is placed in the role of the feminine "bit of stuff" for which "Seventeen" suddenly renounces his stoicism. It is a terrible calamity that befalls this young man in the prime of life and with the responsibility of a whole world on his fast-bending shoulders it seems as if suicide, the destruction of self, is the only fitting solution, but somehow or other even this flits away, and there is serenity once more, but "Seventeen" is not through with woman. The management also shows Episode No. 3 of that thrilling serial, "The Crimson Stain Mystery," and another of those always laughable Frank Daniels' comedies, with the usual line of high-class vaudeville, the whole making one of the best bills ever presented.

At the Strand. For the first three days of this week a first class bill has been selected by the management of this playhouse. Constance Talmadge and Wilfred Lucas are co-starred in the latest Triangle play "The Microscope Mystery," a story of simplicity and intrigue, of love and violence, of mystery and surprise. And an extra added attraction, Charley Chaplin will be seen in "The Floor Walker." A two part Keystone Comedy "Safety First" "Ambrose," with Mack Swain and other reels will also be shown. Polite vaudeville completes a high-class programme of vaudeville and pictures.

The Girl From Frisco. Has arrived at the King Edward Theatre and will be there every Monday and Tuesday afternoons and evenings for the next fourteen weeks. This is the new serial that has created so much interest in the larger cities, throughout America. "Social Pirates" Wednesday and Thursday. Usual admission.

DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE ARRIVES IN TORONTO To Inaugurate the Great Patriotic and Red Cross Campaign.

(Special to the Whig.) Toronto, Jan. 22.—Wrapped in a typically Canadian furcoat and hat of the same material, the Duke of Devonshire, Governor-General, and his staff, arrived here to-day to inaugurate, with a big meeting in Massey Hall to-night, the two and a half millions in four days' Patriotic and Red Cross campaign. His Excellency will spend a busy two days here visiting various institutions. To-morrow he will be made a L.L.D. of Toronto University.

Hogs reached the high water mark in Calgary when one thousand hogs sold for $12.65 and promise to go even higher. Germany and Japan soon will be an exchange of invalid prisoners as war by the way as Holland and the United States.
