It is declared by friends of the Army Medical Corps, that the work of the Hespitals Commission in dealing with the care and repatriation of returned soldiers, is incompetent, inadequate and that politics have interfered, as indicated by gradual transfer of work from Medical Corps to the Hospitals Commission. There is a feeling in the Army Medical Corps that the biggest to face has been given by the Government to a "bunch of laymen." Even if officers overseas had to be brought back from overseas they would have to come back through the Army Medical Corps.
