fronted with more difficult conditions, I do so not because of the high prices which will doubtless hold for nearly all food products, but because of the important and special service which Canadian agriculture can render the Empire at his juncture. All who assist in this work render a great service to the State. I do not say the greatest, for that is done by those who, facing death, daily serve their country at the battle front. Thousands of us cannot so serve, but we who are mercifully free from the iron heel of the invaders-we, who know nothing of terrors by sea and the privations on land which others suffer, may well redouble our efforts to supply what they may sorely need. "I especially appeal in this critical FRANCE REAPS HARVEST WITH. year to those in our cities and towns whothitherto have not felt the necessity for directing their energies to food production.
