Gananoque

(From Our Own Correspondent)

March 21.—Elliott Cole, Arthur Street, while on his way to work on Tuesday morning slipped on the icy walk in front of the Roman Catholic church on Stone street and fell, rupturing one of the cords of his leg near the knee. His injuries will confine him to his home for the next few weeks.

The Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's church held a very well patronized afternoon tea in their lecture room yesterday.

Li-Col. Dr. J. A. McCammon spent the past few days in town with his wife and family on Stone street.

W. E. Meggs, Toronto, spent the week-end in town with his wife and family, King street, and left Monday noon to resume his duties.

Frederick McCrea, who for several years past has resided here with his aunt, Mrs. Addie Carpenter, Charles street, has left to join his father, at Scottsburg, Sask.

Thomas Scott, Victoria avenue, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Darling, Leeds township, and was accompanied back home by Mrs. Scott, who had been spending a couple of weeks there.

Address to Mrs. Breckenridge. Renfrew, March 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Breckenridge, who will within a few days remove with their family to Pembroke, have of late come in for many expressions of good-will from their wide circle of friends here. Last week the Methodist Ladies' Aid and W. M. S., at the home of Mrs. Rochester, presented Mrs. Breckenridge with a souvenir in the form of a silver service plate on Friday evening the members of Harriet Rebekah lodge held a social evening in her honor, and on Wednesday evening of this week Mr. and Mrs. Breckenridge were at home to a company of Oddfellows and Rebekahs. Having the high esteem of all who know them, Mr. and Mrs. Breckenridge go to Pembroke with a community's best wishes for a happy and prosperous future.

Some High Finances. Arnprior, March 21.—Recently two young girls were discovered making a house to house canvass for contributions to the Red Cross. In order to make an impressive appearance they carried a list containing the names of several people who were supposed to have given them various amounts. Chief Hunt was notified of the actions of the girls, and upon investigation he found they were not authorized to collect for the Red Cross. They had collected $3.15, which amount they had used for personal adornment. The amount was made good by friends of the girls, who were given a severe lecture by the proper authorities for their improper conduct.

To Be Held in Court House. Cornwall, March 21.—On account of the cramped quarters of the police court room in the town hall the preliminary hearing of Emerson St. Pierre and Nettie Riehmire, held for the death of William St. Pierre, will be held at the county court house, according to County Crown Attorney Harkness. The hearing commences today, and interesting developments are expected.

Miss Margaret Storie, Arnprior, has been accepted for overseas nursing duty, and has gone to Kingston to report for duty.

VERONA NEWS BUDGET.

The Stork Visits the Village—253rd Men Busy Recruiting.

Verona, March 20.—Ice harvesting is over. A large quantity was housed. Mr. and Mrs. T. Hoffman, High Falls, returned home Thursday from Thurlow, where they went to attend the funeral of her brother, Cornelius Mills, who was accidentally killed by the overturning of a traction engine.

Pte. Conboy, of the 146th Battalion, wounded in the knee in France, was in the village last week. His wounds are not of a serious nature and hopes are entertained of his complete recovery.

R. Yorex and S. Crummer, 253rd Battalion, are here recruiting. A few young men have decided to don the khaki in the near future.

The friends of R. Hoffman, 253rd Battalion, are pleased to hear he has undergone an operation for appendicitis successfully and is in a favorable way for recovery.

Miss Laura Storms, student of S. H. S., is home slightly indisposed.

Richardson Storms has sold a carload of seed oats, purchased from the Richardson firm last week, to farmers in this vicinity. The seed was quickly grabbed up at 75c a bushel.

The assessor has been going his rounds. The interior of the Free Methodist church has been repainted and the walls repaired, reflecting credit upon the artistic work of M. Revell.

Pte. Herb Knox, of the 146th Battalion, Kingston, spent a few days here with friends last week.

The work on the homes of S. Macomber and A. Kinham, leaving at each place a baby-boy.

Mrs. C. Laidlaw has returned from the Kingston General Hospital slightly improved. Mrs. John Gerald is quite ill.

Miss Spratt, Kingston, is the guest of Miss Florence Trousdale.

AN AGREEMENT REACHED

Between the Union and the Employing Printers.

A meeting of the members of the Kingston Typographical Union No. 204 was held in the Y.M.C.A. parlors on Tuesday evening. A report was received of a recent conference between the union representatives and the employing printers of the city, at which an agreement had been reached. Under the new agreement the minimum scale of wages for printers will be increased $1.00 per week, beginning in April, with a further increase of another $1.00 per week the following year. This agreement will remain in force for two years, as it was felt that the interests of the business would be enhanced by having as near as possible stable conditions. The minimum wage for printers is now as follows:

1917—Typesetting machine operators, $20.00; machinist-operators, $21.00; all other journeyman printers employed by the week, $18.00, $19.18, $21, $22 and $19 respectively. In a great many cases much higher wages than these are being paid already.

CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE.

Fine Imposed as a Result of Loss of Life at Prescott.

Brockville, March 21.—At the spring assizes, before Justice Latchford, James Small, Prescott, charged with manslaughter over the death last fall of Miss Eva Clarke, who fell down an elevator shaft in a creamery conducted by the defendant on Water street, Prescott, and received such injuries as ended in her death a few hours later, was allowed to plead guilty to criminal negligence. In view of a largely signed petition, presented on behalf of Mr. Small, who is widely known and respected in the district, his Lordship imposed a fine of $200.

Addressing Soldiers' Letters.

London, March 21.—In view of the great importance of preventing any information concerning the embarkation of troops becoming generally known, letters for officers and men must be addressed to the last station in the United Kingdom of their unit. Any letter contravening this will be treated as undeliverable.

In evacuating Novon the enemy carried off by force fifty young French girls, from 15 to 25 years of age.

The blonde probably is the greatest temptation man is called upon to withstand. Weakness and murder will out.

"Just my luck," exclaimed the questioner. "Blest if I ain't the biggest fool in the world. I found a lot of that stuff on a widder's farm an' went an' married the widder."—Exchange.

A 100-mile Per Hour Ship.

Remarkable details concerning the trial trip of a new Italian warship have been published in the Italian press, from which it appears that the vessel, which is fitted with oil engines, is capable of covering over one hundred miles an hour when traveling at full speed. The foam of the huge waves it throws up makes a track several miles long behind the ship, and the disturbance is so great that it is claimed no submarine could venture within effective radius, or if one did, any torpedoes fired would become the sport of the waves and be thrown far away from their target. Whether that would happen or no, it would certainly be a feat for a submarine to torpedo a vessel moving at one hundred miles an hour.—London Chronicle.

Sole Survivor of Ship.

George Winterbourne, midshipman on H.M.S. Defence, sunk in the Julian battle, and sole survivor of that warship, has been found wandering in a dazed condition about England, says London Mail. The official report said that there were no survivors, but Winterbourne claims that he was picked up unconscious by a collier and landed near Newcastle. He has been wandering since then, living on the twenty pounds he had in his belt.

GERMAN TEACHER HANGS ON

Hun Refuses to Resign From English School.

"He is a good teacher, popular with the pupils, and we demand justice for him, though he is a German."

This is what a number of his friends are saying about Mr. Max Grabner, who is threatened with dismissal from the post of master of languages at the Newport (Mon.) Intermediate School for Boys, says The London Chronicle. He has already been asked to resign, and refused to do so. Until the present year he was also teacher of French at the Newport Technical Institute.

"A Parent," writing to a local paper, quotes a remarkable piece of dictation which, he says, was given by Max Grabner for translation from English into French on March 7 of this year. Here is the gem:

"This is what they say? Germany is only an appendage of France. Its home life is comfortable; it is a life of ease. If this existence entices you, so much the better. Germany itself has higher duties and higher aspirations. We breathe our lungs full of the broad breath of history."

Here is the miserable middle-class existence. We have no friends, all fear us and regard us as dangerous because we are intelligent and morally superior. We are the most free people of the earth, because we know how to obey. Our law is reason; our strength is the strength of spirit; our victory the victory of thought; our characteristics are humanity, mildness, Christian virtues and character. In a world of wickedness we represent love, and God is with us. What Germany wishes is to organize Europe."

Will Mr. Grabner, asks "A Parent," tell us why he chose that passage to dictate to English children?

It should be stated that Max Grabner has resided in England for many years, and was naturalized in 1913.

The Singing Sailors.

When King George visited India for his royal coronation his Majesty's ship Renown was selected to convey the King-Emperor and his suite to the East. On board was a band of 22 Christian sailors called the "wee-wees" by their comrades. They held a daily meeting for praise, prayer, and Bible study in the "10-inch room," and their Christian songs were heard by all on board. While their ship lay in the Bombay harbor, these men were frequently entertained in the city. On one occasion they adjourned after dinner to the flat roof of the house and there sang the hymns they love. One of them told me that as people passed along the streets below they looked up "as though they thought the angels were singing." They were invited to spend a week end at a hill station some miles from the western capital. On Sunday afternoon they determined to go on "a route march," singing the hymns of Jesus along the roads and through the villages, to the wonderment of the natives, whose eyes had never beheld a British military band before. In the evening they had "a sing-song" in the "compound" of their host's house, their joyous happiness arresting the passerby and impressing the young Englishmen and Eurasians of a large railway company. When visiting Madras they were taken for a long train ride that they might see the city and its environs, and again they broke out into Christian song. As they passed the great general hospital they were singing "Throw Out the Life Line," and patients, nurses, and native attendants rushed out to the verandas and balconies to see and hear the singing sailors. These men girdled India with Christian song."

Foiled.

A chemistry professor at the University of Kansas tells this story of a seedy looking man who stole noisily into a chemist's office and closed the door softly behind him.

"Kin anybody hear what I say in here?" he asked anxiously.

"Not a soul," the chemist assured him.

Whereupon the man produced a package, carefully wrapped, and handed it to the chemist, with the query: "What is this stuff, anyway?"

After examining the contents the chemist replied: "Why, that is iron pyrites, commonly known as fool's gold."

"What is it worth?"

"Oh, about $4 a ton in carload lots."

"Just my luck," exclaimed the questioner. "Blest if I ain't the biggest fool in the world. I found a lot of that stuff on a widder's farm an' went an' married the widder."—Exchange.

THE TRAGIC ARMENIANS.

Facts About Christian People Massacred by Turks.

Dr. William T. Ellis, writing in a Philadelphia weekly, says of that terribly-persecuted people, the Armenians, whose cause was championed by the late William E. Gladstone:

"The Armenians have always centered around Mt. Ararat. Their home has been since the earliest Scripture mention of them, in the Highlands and mountains from which flow the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. The Armenians themselves claim this land as their birthplace. Their own name for their people is not 'Armenian' but 'Haik,' after the great grandson of Japheth, from whom they claim descent. Fifth in line from Noah, according to their own chronicles, they have maintained their identity to this day.

"We are not left to the people's own records for testimony to their antiquity. In addition to frequent mention in the Old Testament, the famous rock inscriptions at Persepolis and Behistun, Persia, contain many allusions to Armenia. The 'uniform records at Van also attest the nation's antiquity, and Herodotus deals with the Armenian nation. The king of Armenia was an ally of Cyrus the Great, and sixty-seven years before Christ the Armenians were in league with Rome. In the meantime, Armenia had been conquered by Alexander the Great, and had later thrown off the Macedonian yoke. The oldest highways of conquest ran through the famous plateau where Russians and Turks are now struggling. It is no new experience for Armenia to be a battlefield.

"This is not the place to rehearse Armenia's entire political history. The vicissitudes of her national life ended in Asia Minor in the fourteenth century, when she was allied with the Crusaders and, along with the king of Cyprus, offered the last national bulwark of Christianity in the East. Enough has been written to make clear that the Armenians are an ancient people, with a proud past and worthy of the respect of mankind. Turkey's foul attempt to exterminate this people becomes doubly awful in the light of the heritage which they have brought down to us from remotest times.

"It was amidst persecution that Gregory, himself a prince of the blood royal, travelled to Armenia and won the ruling king to Christ, so that Christianity was proclaimed the state religion in the year 302. Gregory is known in church history as 'Gregory the Illuminator,' and he became first bishop of the Armenian church, which now is called the Gregorian church, in honor of him.

"The Armenian church participated in the third, fifth, sixth, and seventh Ecumenical Council, being kept from the fourth by the fros of persecution. A misunderstanding concerning the deliverance of the Council of Chalcedon respecting Nestorius led to a cleavage between the Armenian and the Greek churches, although both are thoroughly Trinitarian and quite similar in organization and administration, as well as in doctrine."

No Mercy For Him.

He was one of those officious foremen, one who tried to make those under his charge realize that he was somebody of importance. But one day he met his match. Stepping up to the shop humorist, he said:

"You're a minute late this morning."

"I know; but there's a reason."

"When I was coming along to work I heard a man in the river yellin' for help. I ran to him, was pullin' him out, but let him drop in again."

"But why didn't you save him?"

"Not likely," was the dry answer.

"Why?"

"Cos he was a foreman."—Exchange.

Sunbury Red Cross "At Home."

On Thursday evening, March 15th, the Sunbury branch of the Red Cross held an "At Home" at the home of Benjamin Keik. The large house was well filled, about 150 people being assembled, a large number from the city being present. The evening was spent in instrumental selections, songs, recitations and games. Addresses were given by Rev. J. T. Caswell, R. H. Fair, Frank Anglin and T. Makin. The proceeds of the evening amounted to $37.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

If Peevish, Feverish and Sick, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; gives a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your house. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California F. & S. Syrup Company."

Only Fine, Flavoury Teas are used to produce the famous

Alkali In Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulled coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.
