ARTHUR FREE ENDS LIFE

HUNG HIMSELF IN JAIL CELL AT BROCKVILLE.

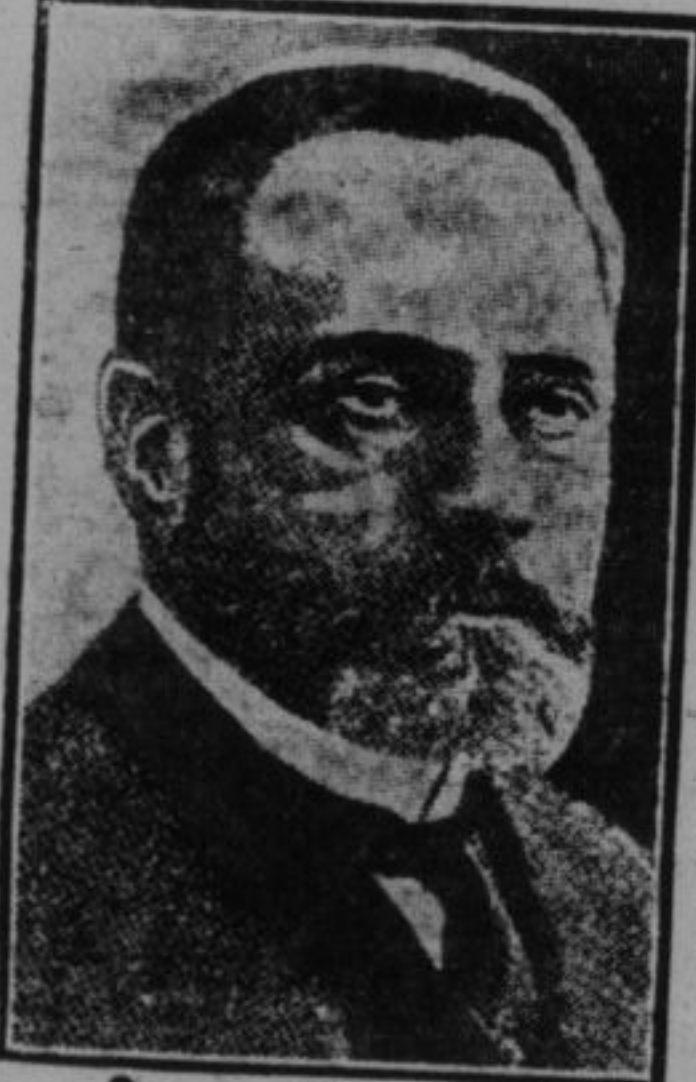

Used Sheet From Bed—When Discovered Remains Were Limp, Indicating Deed Had Not Long Been Committed.

Brockville, March 29.—Yesterday morning at seven o'clock Henry Free, turnkey at the county jail, on making his visit to those confined in the cells was horrified on reaching cell No. 2, on the first floor upstairs, to see Arthur Free, who was on Monday last committed for the murder of Mrs. Hill, hanging by the neck from an iron bar in the top of the cell. He at once unlocked the iron door and going into the cell cut the body down and notified Jailor Seace, who immediately called Dr. R. N. Horton, jail surgeon, and Dr. W. E. Harding, coroner. Both physicians hurried to the jail and an examination revealed the fact that the man was dead.

The outward indications suggested that he had not been dead very long as the body while cold was not at all rigid. The features were calm and peaceful looking.

Free had not at any time shown any disposition towards garrulity and was a quiet and well-behaved prisoner. He used the sheet from the bed in his act of self-destruction. The top of the sheet into strips, tied one of them over an iron enlacement at the top of the cell, placed the end of the other portion around his neck in a slip-knot fashion and then moved off the bed. His feet were almost touching the stone floor of the cell.

Free was a son of Reuben Free, residing in the township of Leeds, in the vicinity of Seely's Bay. He was twenty-five years of age, and had spent all his life in that township. He married Miss Lizzie Earl, formerly from Lyndhurst, and who gave damaging evidence against her husband at the preliminary hearing in the police court here on Monday. Free was arrested on March 17th at Cape Vincent by Chief of Police Wylie, of that place, and brought to Brockville on Monday, March 19th by Constable Cornelius Brady, of Seely's Bay, and Provincial Detective Boyd.

RUSSIAN WORKMEN RELINQUISH DEMAND For an Eight-Hour Day and Will Speed Up Munition Making.

(Special to the Whig) Petrograd, March 29.—Nicholas Romanoff is a model prisoner. He has uttered no word of complaint at his treatment. The former czar spends the greater part of his time in the garden of Tsarskoe Selo palace. The royal prisoner has made a request of the provisional government for permission to send his son, the former Czarovich, to Norway, on account of his health. The request has not yet been granted.

Evidence accumulated daily of the utility of purpose of all classes to fight for victory against Germany. Workmen of the munition factories, in order to speed the war, have voluntarily relinquished their demand for an eight-hour day.

APPAM IN BRITISH HANDS

Also $300,000. Proceeds of Sale of the Cargo.

Norfolk, Va., March 29.—The United States District Court here yesterday, on the order of the Supreme Court, turned over the prize ship Appam to Floyd Hughes, representing the British-African Steamship Navigation Company, owners of the vessel prior to her capture by the Germans.

The court ordered that $300,000, the proceeds of the sale of the cargo, be paid to the English owners. The money is in Norfolk and Richmond banks. The unsold portion of the cargo, consisting of ore, is ordered restored to the owners. The German defendants are ordered to pay all costs in connection with the case.

HERE'S A NEW CITIZEN

INTRODUCES HIMSELF TO KINGSTONIANS.

A Western Canadian Among the New Additions to the City's Business Life.

This new citizen is McKenzie. Get to know the name.

I am using this paper as a means to introduce myself to the people of this city.

In so doing perhaps some information about myself would not be inappropriate. To begin, I am a Western Canadian, and although I first saw the light in Old Ontario, I don't want anyone to consider me an Eastern Canadian, because I went west as a boy and that great country (which the average eastern citizen utterly fails to understand) has put its distinguishing stamp in my makeup that will last as long as I do myself.

Always endeavoring to acquire something new during the fourteen years that have elapsed since I went west (on a ten dollar harvest excursion ticket with two dollars and a basket of food between myself and starvation), I have had many experiences and many occupations. I put in six years proving up 640 acres of Government free land and while my first homestead started to study photography. Shortly after opened a studio at Hanley, Sask. Later opened one at Saskatoon, which I sold because there were so many opportunities in real estate speculation that I took that up in preference to photography. But it is a hard game to get away from and I soon was back at it again. I managed two studios in Saskatoon for other men and another at Edmonton. I have made photographs in every province west of this one, spent nearly two years in the Rockies, and ran a small studio at Prince George, B.C. while that town was booming.

I have many interesting photographic souvenirs of that part of Canada, which lies west of Ontario.

Since coming east I have worked for five different Toronto photographers to get some more experience. When I see a man who is doing better than I, I like to work for him and learn, and that is why I worked for Charles Aylett, who is recognized as Toronto's most original and versatile photographic artist, who makes no mystery of his clever work, but very generously tells what he knows to others so that they may improve their work and help to make photography a better profession. That is what any broad-minded man should do, but I regret that most photographers are not of that type.

I have bought the Blakemore studio over the Royal Bank 180 Wellington street. It is more like a barn than a studio at present, especially after an occurrence on Monday. I hope I have done nothing as yet to cause anyone a desire to wreak vengeance, but the fact remains that someone during my absence did a lot of mischief last Monday. However, I expect soon to be able to produce my best efforts in portrait photography and gradually improve the appearance of the studios as business warrants.

If any Kingston citizen who wants portrait work of a different kind to what he has been getting in Kingston will call on me, I promise he will never be sorry.

I think I have said enough for the present and thank anyone who reads and follows me as far as I have got.

TREATMENT OF ALIENS

So Far Internment Camps Are Not Contemplated.

Washington, March 29.—Secretary Baker took occasion to confirm the impression that the government is planning to deal liberally with German or other foreign subjects resident in the United States in the event of war. He was asked specifically if the War Department was negotiating with the Interior Department for sites of internment camps.

"There is no such plan in contemplation," he replied. "All resident aliens who are obedient to our laws will be perfectly safe from interference."

Asked if that applied to German army reservists, the secretary said: "It applies to everybody who is here and who may be permitted to come here and who behaves well."

In other quarters it was indicated that German residents might be registered, in the event of war, in order that the government could have some knowledge of their movements and make certain that no person guilty of misconduct shall escape justice.

British Citizenship League. Moscow, Sisk., March 29.—The British Citizenship League, which is a movement of protest against Teutonic influence in the province, was launched here at a crowded meeting. For some time feeling has been rising against the alien element, which has been working through educational and other mediums. The Sons of England have taken a strong part in this work.

Snowbound; Starved to Death. Montreal, March 29.—Shut off in a little shack in the most inaccessible section of the St. Maurice district for three weeks by snow, Francois, an old trapper, was starved to death with his ten dogs. He had gone into the woods to hunt and took an insufficient supply of food.

The Government is about to take over the Brant House, the big summer hotel at Burlington, as a military hospital.

MAY MOVE POST OFFICE
Petition Being Circulated to Have It Changed.

Cape Vincent, N.Y., March 29.—The patrons of the postoffice are being asked to sign a petition for the moving of the office from its present location, on the corner of Broadway and James streets, to the Odd Fellows Temple, which is to be built in the near future, on the site recently purchased from Thomas Holland and which is located in Broadway and about 200 feet east from the postoffice. The petition already has a number of signers, and it is thought by the Odd Fellows that enough names can be secured to get the sanction of the postoffice department for its removal.

The postoffice is now located at near the central part of the village as possible to get it.

NECESSITY FOR TEACHING.
Gives $25,000 to Endow a Chair of Patriotism.

New York, March 29.—A letter from Mayor William P. Thompson of Chicago was read at the annual meeting of the Lincoln Memorial University Endowment Association, in which the mayor inclosed a $25,000 cheque to endow the University with a chair for teaching American patriotism.

A necessity exists for such a department in American educational institutions at this time, Mayor Thompson wrote, declaring "that if this nation is to escape the pitfalls of lawlessness, revolution and anarchy it must adhere to 'the things for which Lincoln stood.'"

JEWISH STUDENTS NOT BEHAVING WELL

Correspondent at Riga Says They Are Defying Authority of Militia.

London, March 29.—The Times' Riga correspondent, after eulogizing the loyal spirit of the army, navy and civilians in that region, says: "I am grieved to state that the Jews are not behaving well. They have become citizens of free Russia, but they do not display a sense of responsibility befitting their new position. Similar complaints had reached me at Petrograd. Hot-headed, hysterical Jewish youths are playing into the hands of worse than demagogues and Russia's external enemies."

"The Jewish students at the University of Dorpat have established their own militia, and are defying the authority of the local militia and the provisional Government. Under the influence of the resulting anarchy there has been bloodshed and destruction of property."

"If anarchy comes to Russia there is bound to be reaction in which the Jews will be the first sufferers."
