To Have Beautiful Hair Use NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

No woman can afford to be indifferent to the appearance of her hair. A mass of nice snappy hair, becomingly dressed, will add more in genuine looks than a pretty face, or an expensive gown. Don't allow the scalp to become clogged with dirt and dandruff. Don't allow dandruff to destroy your hair. If your hair is uneven, dead, dull and brittle and comes out by the handful every time you draw a comb through it, dandruff is the cause. To rid your scalp of the dandruff and check the loss of hair should be your first anxiety. NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE will do this and at the same time put the hair and scalp in a sanitary condition. HERPICIDE appeals to those of great refinement on account of its exquisite odor, its purity and cleanliness. It contains no grease and does not stain or dye. There is nothing more dependable than this remarkable scalp prophylactic. The hair responds readily to a regular and intelligent use of NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE. Try it and see. Send 10 cents today to THE HERPICIDE CO., Dept. S, Detroit, Mich., for a sample bottle and a booklet telling all about the hair. For sale everywhere in 50c and $1.00 sizes. Guaranteed by The Herpicide Company. Applications at the better Barber Shops and Hair Dressing Parlors.

THE CONFESSIONS OF ROXANE

(By Frances Walter)

M. VITEAUX AND I TALK BUSINESS SOME MORE

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) Excessive modesty, I think, never had been one of my failings, but when I remember the praise which I bestowed upon myself there in M. Viteaux's office I blush even now. And one of the worst things about it was that I did not awaken to the fact that I was telling this man in glowing terms what wonderful ability I possessed, any more than it occurred to me to tell him that I knew nothing at all about the business into which I was seeking an entrance. I was keyed up by the excitement resulting from my guest. I imagine that I felt very much as a business man feels when he starts out to "land" a big deal. He is so intent upon the matter in hand that he forgets self. It was so with me. Although I had very little confidence at first in my ability to convince M. Viteaux that he should create a position for me in his establishment, I had not advanced far in my argument before I had convinced myself that his business would go straight to ruin unless I was installed there. But I fear that I did not impart my conviction to M. Viteaux. This man had a dual personality, as I have intimated. M. Viteaux was a very different man from Mr. Sullivan. M. Viteaux was the poseur, the Parisian who assured his clients that the hats he offered were of the very latest mode, who managed somehow to fool them by assuming a French accent when he was not so excited that his Irish brogue betrayed him. Mr. Sullivan was the business man of the establishment. It was he who explained to his creditors why he could not meet his bills promptly, who administered verbal castigation to Monsieur Smith when poor Smith allowed a woman to leave the shop minus one of M. Viteaux's latest designs, and it was Mr. Sullivan, I was about to learn, who employed the help. Now, as I lauded myself outrageously and attempted to show him that he needed a "superintendent of styles" in his shop, I saw his whole personality undergo a change as complete as that which marked the passing of Dr. Jekyll and the appearance of Mr. Hyde. He dropped his assumed French accent, laid aside his habit of lifting his eyebrows and elbows, abandoned his excitable temperament, settled back into his chair and looked at me keenly. He was now Mr. Sullivan. "I understand," he said, nodding his head slowly. "You are applying for a position here?" "That is but part of my purpose," I said brazenly. "It is true that I want employment, but I also want to see more of your hats sold, and know that more of them will stay sold." He squinted his eyes at that and stared at me through narrowed lids. "At first I was at a loss to know what you were driving at," he went on, without appearing to have heard my statement. "I did not know whether you would offer to buy out my business, or would suggest that we burn it and collect the insurance. You made it evident from the start, however, that you thought it was unprofitable to me. Now will you please tell me why you arrived at that conclusion." "I might hurt your feelings," "You can't. Go ahead." "I knew it because you cater to the fashionable element while many of your hats are not the kind that please persons of that class." "Won't you be a little more explicit?" "Your designers turn out some beautiful hats, but they also make some atrocious ones. Every customer who gets an atrocious hat becomes your personal enemy." "And you propose?" "To offer nothing, except goods which will stay sold." He was thoughtful for a moment. "Would that mean that we would have to reconstruct the business from the ground up?" "No; only that there should be a little careful supervision." "Which you yourself will give?" "I nodded." "I see," he said; "if you will leave your card I will telephone you later." I complied and was about to leave the office when the door opened, and a woman, very red as to face and very angry as to expression, strode into the room. (To Be Continued.)

German Sour Meat
Materials—One and a half pounds soup meat, ½ cup vinegar, 2 tablespoons cut onion, 3 tablespoons drippings, 1 teaspoon salt, paprika.
Directions—The soup meat is boiled slowly until tender in 6 cups of water. When tender cut into thin slices and put in soup gravy, which is made as follows:
Put drippings and onion into saucepan and cook until onion is tender; then add the flour, which has been browned on pectin in moderate oven. Mix until smooth, remove from fire, add the cold vinegar and 1 cup of stock in which the meat was boiled. Return to fire and boil slowly 11 minutes, stirring until smooth.

Orange Gelatin.
Materials—One cup strained orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 1 cup whipping cream.
Utensils—Bowl, 2 measuring cups, teaspoon, tablespoon, cream whip.
Directions—Soak the gelatin in ¾ cup cold water 10 minutes. Dissolve in 1½ cups boiling water; add sugar, lemon and orange juice. Pour into ice-cream glasses and set in a cold place. Whip the cream and put a spoonful on top of each glass.

WINCARNIS gives New Health to all who are Weak, Anaemic, Nervous, Run-down

THE wonderful results of Wincarnis in cases of Weakness, Anaemia, Nerve Troubles and that Run-down condition, are due to the four-fold power that Wincarnis possesses. Wincarnis is not merely a tonic—it is a Tonic, a Restorative, a Blood-maker, and Nerve Food—all in one. Therefore, when you take Wincarnis you derive new strength—and at the same time new rich blood—and at the same time new nerve force—and at the same time new vitality. Thus the whole system is invigorated, and re-vitalized, and becomes surcharged with a feeling of new life. That is why over 10,000 Doctors recommend Wincarnis. A very important feature about Wincarnis is that you derive a definite amount of good from even the first dose. And every additional dose gives you more strength than you had before—more rich red blood than you had before—stronger nerves than you had before—and more vitality than you had before. This Wincarnis is not a luxury, but a positive necessity to all who are Weak, Anaemic, Nervous, Run-down—to martyrs to Indigestion—to all enfeebled by Old Age—and to invalids striving to regain strength after an exhausting illness. Remember that the health Wincarnis creates is lasting health—not a mere "fish-in-the-pan"—not a temporary "whipping-up" of the vitality—but real vigorous health that makes you feel it is good to be alive. Take advantage of the new and lasting health Wincarnis offers you. Don't suffer needlessly. Remember that Wincarnis has an unrivaled reputation of 30 years' standing. Don't accept substitutes.
