ITCHY SALT RHEUM

Sometimes Called Eczema — Removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Salt rheum is one of the worst and unfortunately one of the most common of all diseases. How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales, and then does this all over again! Sometimes it covers the whole body with inflamed, burning patches and causes intense suffering, which is commonly worse at night.

Local applications may do some good, but they cannot permanently relieve. The disease will continue to annoy, pain and perhaps agonize, until the blood has been purified and the general health improved.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla, the good old reliable family remedy. It has given perfect satisfaction in thousands of cases. Insist on having Hood's Sarsaparilla, for no substitute acts like it. Get it today.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

At The Grand.

An interesting programme of high class photoplays and polite vaudeville has been secured for to-night and Friday matinee and night at the Grand. Valeka Surratt, America's foremost emotional actress, will appear in "The Victim," a powerful portrayal of how a clever woman out-witted a detective. The might of the law, a father's injustice, and the schemes of a vengeful man combine to make the plot of this picture.

The role taken by Miss Surratt is one in which every resource and power is brought into effective play, and she takes the fullest advantage of her many emotional opportunities. The scenic environment of California, where the subject was produced, lends itself faithfully to the atmosphere of the story. A two reel Universal photoplay, a comedy, and the Pathe News will also be shown. The feature vaudeville includes a Rag time Trio, in comedy singing, and a single acrobatic act.

The Miserere "Il Trovatore."

To one who has heard Il Trovatore, especially if fortunate enough to have heard it presented in a capable manner, the Miserere will always remain in the memory as one of the brightest gems of the contemporary stage. Imagine yourself back in the fifteenth century looking at one of those grim old Spanish fortresses with its turrets stretched across the edge and in the distance the waves lashed the rocky coast of Spain. Upon this scene of tragic desolation a woman winds her way toward the tower of the fortress, which is used as the prison wherein prisoners are confined for State offenses; so much by way of description. On Thursday night April 12th, the Boston English Opera Company comes to the Grand Opera House in its special costar performance of Il Trovatore with Joseph F. Sheehan as Manrico and Mlle Nelli Gardini as Leonora. To hear the haunting strains of The Miserere as sung by these two artists, succeeded by the foremost critics to be the greatest exponent of experience in the world today, is to experience a treat such as is seldom afforded one in this day and age.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

William H. Kibble's scenic and dramatic production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Saturday April 7th, bargain matinee and night. Mr. Kibble's company carries all the special scenery and effects required to give a perfect production of this old, ever popular play. The company embraces over fifty people, a chorus of over twenty colored men and women, ponies and six men, and a special train of cars is employed in transporting the production. A grand street parade will be given at noon on Saturday.

"The Million Dollar Doll."

One of the features of "The Million Dollar Doll" which will appear at the Grand Easter Monday, matinee and night, will be the illuminated "Runway" on which a number of the songs and dances will be given, over the heads of the audience. The "Runway" is one of the latest novelties and brings the company and audience in close touch with each other, breaking down that barrier, known as "behind the footlights." This novelty has proved a veritable sensation in many of the cities, and some of the "Runway Numbers" have received as many as 8 and 10 encores a night. This is only one of the many new and novel features presented in this new musical comedy, which has been heralded as the most pretentious musical offering of the day. There are 40 pieces with this splendid attraction, including the Orr Brothers and the best singing and dancing chorus ever brought to Canada. Handsome girls and gorgeous costumes are a big feature with this classy musical comedy.

At Griffin's.

Commencing to-day the Griffin's theatre will present famous Mary Pickford in her new photoplay, produced by her own company and released by Artcraft, "The Pride of the Clan." Every Scotchman in the country hails with delight the news that "Little Mary" has selected the role of "Margot MacTavish," as her next screen impersonation. For a long time Caledonians have had to see the most popular girl in the world characterize the charming lass of the heather, and that she will forever immortalize the typical winsomeness of Scotland's fair daughters with characteristic effectiveness is readily expected. However, the wonderful heart appeal as well as the dramatic finesse displayed in "The Pride of the Clan," makes it an offering that will prove of universal appeal. During her long and brilliant career on the screen "Little Mary" has portrayed characters of a her recent photoplay, "Less Than the Dust," having met with record-breaking success throughout the entire country. It is a long way from the banks of the Ganges to the wind-blown fields of Scotch heather, but it is a trip that Miss Pickford has taken in interval between "Less Than the Dust," and "The Pride of the Clan," a story of the northwest coast of Scotland. The second feature on the same bill, "The Happiness of Three Women," co-starring Hattie Hadden and Myrtle Steadman, was adapted for the screen from Albert Payson Terhune's unusual story of the same name. House Peters is one of the most popular and distinguished masculine stars in the photodramatic world. He will be remembered as the dashing bandit Ramirez in "The Girl of the Golden West," and also as leading man for Blanche Sweet in a number of other Lasky productions.

At the Strand.

Dorothy Gish will be seen at the Strand in her latest and best Triangle play, "Stage Struck." Miss Gish plays the part of a country girl with stage aspirations who becomes the victim of a swindler, who operates a fake dramatic school. Her fight she wells against poverty and degrading associations, and the manly appeal of her city sweetheart, make a play which for sheer human appeal will not soon be forgotten. Comedy reels and polite vaudeville will also hold the boards of this popular playhouse.
