MUST HAVE KINGSTON WHIG. S. G. POWLEY, OAKVILLE. COULDN'T DO WITHOUT IT.

He Comments Upon Its Broad-Mindedness, Dr. Edwards' Looks and Col. Hunter's Big Heartedness.

Oakville, April 8.—(To the Editor): I enclose remittance for my subscription. I don't know of anyone more deserving of prompt payment than the publisher of a paper, if the only article that I can think of that has not advanced in price in the last couple of years, and yet some of us would be ready to "kick" if we missed a copy or two. I tell you, Mr. Editor, I think if you stopped our paper the same week some of us stop our payment you would not go long without your money for I don't think there are many who would want to do without their paper (especially the Whig) for a paltry sum of one dollar.

I might say just here that I take both the Kingston papers in order to be posted thoroughly with regard to matters in my old "home town" and vicinity.

If you look over your books you will see that we have taken your paper a great number of years in our home, and I believe I appreciate it more than ever since I came up here. Why it is like getting a letter from everybody to read your "news from the country side."

I don't think I am at all prejudiced when I say that if I want to get a fair square account of anything I go to the Whig. It has been remarked that Dr. J. W. Edwards' money for as any other man we know of, I don't think it is altogether an account of his good looks, though we must admit he is not a bad fellow to look at or listen to either. I believe it is due to the fact that the publisher of the Whig is a broad-minded, far-seeing man, always ready to give credit to whom it is due.

I might further add that we never hear any fault with regard to Colonel Hunter's leniency at the Police Court, "bless my soul" if you knew the Colonel as well as I do you would know that his heart is as big as "all out doors," and that he always possessed a strong weakness for fallen humanity and was ever ready to lend a helping hand to his fellow man or woman as the case might be. Long may he live to dispense justice.

Now, Mr. Editor, if you wish to print any or all of this article you have my permission to do so, if not we will be just as good friends as ever, and if at any time you would like to hear from the cosy little town of Oakville just drop us a line to that effect and I will gladly contribute what I can to the good of the cause.

—S. G. POWLEY.

THE RENNET SITUATION. How to Handle the Stomachs of Calves.

J. M. Smith, Long Lake, is keenly interested in the rennet situation and has written the Whig asking that information he has obtained be given generally throughout the district so as to prove of general assistance to the farmers in the present situation. He enclosed a letter from A. W. Sirrett, District Agricultural Representative which reads as follows:

"In regard to the number of calves stomachs which would be required I can only quote from an English authority Prof. McConnell. He states that four calves stomachs placed in one gallon of brine in which has been dissolved two pounds of salt, that is, it takes the two pounds of salt to make the gallon of brine for extracting the rennet from the stomach.

To this is added one half of a sliced lemon and one half ounce of saltpetre. After standing for one month, one half pint of this liquor strained would coagulate 160 gallons of milk in an hour, but more must be used for speedy work."

Mr. Smith adds in his letter, "I have not any other suggestions to offer but the country knows the shortage of rennet extract and I may say that pepain, which is used instead of rennet, does not give as good satisfaction and does not give as smooth a surface to the cheese."

REFORM MOVEMENT. The German People Are Anxious For Change.

Copenhagen, April 9.—America's entry into the war evidently has had an immediate and strong effect upon the reform movement in Germany. The conviction that the instant modernization of the Prussian constitution and the proclamation of a more democratic basis of government and diplomacy in the Empire, without waiting for the end of the war, is necessary as a military and political measure to counteract the reactionary circles.

Headaches So Severe Eyeball's Fairly Split. Nervous Trouble for Five Years and Heart's Action Was Weak—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the Cure.

Kingston, Ont., Apr. 9.—This letter will appeal particularly to persons subject to nervous headaches for the writer suffered almost every thing possible in this line.

"Nervous headache is one of the first indications that the nervous system is breaking down. The use of headache powders or similar treatments merely afford temporary relief at a terrible expense to the nervous system and serve to silence the warning that is sounded for you to restore the nerves before nervous prostration, paralysis or some form of nervous collapse has developed.

In contrast with such treatment is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which removes the cause of trouble by building up the starved and depleted nerve cells. The results may not be so sudden, but the benefits will be lasting, and you will avoid the dreadful consequences of a nervous breakdown.

Mrs. G. Storring, 17 St. Catharines St., Kingston, Ont., writes: "I have been suffering for the last five years with nervousness, headaches, so that my eyeballs would fairly split, dizziness and weakness of the heart, and a general run-down condition. I doctored for several years with different doctors, but without getting relief. Through reading one of your books I thought that possibly I could get benefit from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, so I decided to try it. I got one box, took the pills, and feeling better, followed it up with more. Now I am feeling much better, am stronger, and able to get around and do my work without difficulty. I would recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to anyone suffering from nervousness and run-down condition."
