BASEBALL BRIEFS

Jack Egan, former International League umpire, has been appointed manager of the Providence team in the International League.

War's gloom disappeared in many American cities when the baseball races got under way. Crowds were so large at some of the places that they had to close the parks.

International League scouts are combing the big leagues camps in quest of material. The Barry circuit opens its gates for the season on Wednesday next.

Mary Killlea, formerly shortstop for the Hamilton team in the Canadian Baseball League, is being given a trial with the Buffalo Internationals. Killlea made a hit with Manager Donovan with his fielding but could not accomplish much at bat.

"Chick" Knaupp, an infielder, has been sent to Toledo by the New York Yankees. Knaupp was drafted from the Shreveport club by the Yanks.

This fellow Pay, who is now playing shortstop for the Petersburg club, of the Virginia League, at which place the Leafs have their training, is George Pay, the smart little infielder who was with St. Thomas in the Canadian League several years ago.

"Bill" Abstein, former Providence first baseman, who afterwards was with the Pittsburgh Nationals, and various teams in the American Association, has been appointed manager of the Hartford team, of the Eastern Association.

John Priest, once with the Rochester team, has been signed by Paul Krichell, the ex-Leaf catcher, to play second base for the Bridgeport team.

Manager Bill Donovan, of the Yankees, has no less than seven former International League stars, with Bob Shawkey, Wally Pipp, Arragon, Gil Schooley, Mabel Shockley and Paddy Bauman on his roster this season.

Danny Moeller, of Des Moines, who was sold to the Milwaukee American Association Club by Cleveland last winter, has notified the Brewer management that he objects to playing in a minor league and will refuse to sign a contract or report.

James McAuley, infielder, has been released by the Pittsburgh National League club to the St. Louis Nationals. The Pittsburgh Club asked for waivers on McAuley and the St. Louis Club refused to waive. McAuley was with Rochester last season.

Pete Wood, a brother of Smoky Joe Wood, who went to Cleveland via the Red Sox route, will perform on the Newark firing line when the season opens.

The release of Joseph Coffindaffer, pitcher, and William Ratsch, outfielder, to the Springfield, Ohio, club of the Central League is announced by officials of the Pittsburgh National League club.

Outfielder Yardley, of the St. Louis Americans, and Shortstop Stevenson, fielder with Rochester in 1915, have been signed by the Little Rock Southern Association Club.

Dick Kinsella, of Springfield, son of the former New York Giants scout, and Springfield Club owner, has reported to the Peoria baseball team, and will try for a place in the outfield. It is his first attempt to break into professional baseball.

Four new managers are in the International this year. In Larry Lajoie, with the Leafs; Mike Doolan, with Rochester; Jack Egan, with Providence, and Tom Needham, with Newark. This quartette have all had major league experience, and are well versed in baseball. Egan last year was business manager of the Providence club, and after retiring from baseball was an American League umpire.

The International will get under way on Tuesday, with Toronto at Baltimore, Buffalo at Newark, Rochester at Richmond, and Montreal at Providence. At the present time none of the clubs appears to have very much on any of the others, as each has several weak spots that need strengthening. Rochester has several holdouts, including Bob Fisher, the former Leaf.

John Priest, once with the Rochester team, has been signed by Paul Krichell to play second base for the Bridgeport team.

Scott Perry, of the Chicago Cubs, is to get a bonus of $1,000 if he wins 20 games this season. Scores of National League games please take notice, as Perry wants that $1,000.

Hugh Fullerton, the master mind among the deplists, in predicting the finish of the Pittsburgh Pirates and "finish" is right in this case—says Manager Callahan will have to depend a lot on Doc Johnston at first base.

John McGraw, it is said, is going to insist that the National Commission take action in the Cobb-Herzog row. Just how he expects, as it is his evident purpose, to get Cobb punished for something that his own players started is not clear.

Jack Bradley, the University of Illinois catcher, who was booked by the Cleveland club for New Orleans, but objected to an assignment so far south, has been turned over to Milwaukee.

Major League scribes and scorers no longer will have to bother with the name of Pleimich. Connie Mack has transferred the services of his catcher of that name to Atlanta of the Southern League. Pick is a pretty good catcher, but not first division material, according to Mack. Get that first division stuff!

Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Nationals says the Giants will have to get his club on the field and not in the newspapers.

What Orcutt, former Canadian League, now an outfielder on the Wilkes-Barre team of the New York State League, was married the other day in Lynn, Mass.

BASEBALLERS SECOND

To Cricketers in the Matter of Throwing Bombs.

"If Canadians who enlist in the army imagine that proficiency in throwing a baseball will be of service to them in any drill which they may receive, in throwing bombs from trenches," says a man recently returned from the French front, "they will find their mistake."

"Bomb-throwing involves a style peculiarly its own. You must remember that the thrower stands in a trench from eight to ten feet deep; the Allies' trenches are usually eight feet, those of the Germans ten. The bomb is thrown very much after the motion of a cricketer's bowling. The left hand is held upward pointing in the direction in which the bomb is to be thrown. The right arm is held stiff and out to one side, and the throw, or toss, is made with a gentle stiff-arm overhand sweeping motion, which sends the bomb or practice missile clear of the trench and over toward the objective trench.

"It is not an easy throw to learn, but once grasped there is no trouble about it at all. A baseball throw has been tried by Canadian soldiers in the trenches, but the result has not been at all satisfactory."

The Golfing Luck

The ball that slips up to the green, and skids against the pin, is hooted at as duffer's luck.

Let experts knock one off the tee. That screams of driving skill. Yet hops right o'er the boundary fence—'Tis a darn unlucky pill.

It's funny how a hole in one is viewed as unearned graft. The drives that die beside the cup mark heights of linkman craft.

The St. Lawrence Racing Association has announced its annual programme. It will hold meets at Valleyfield, Three Rivers, Sherbrooke and Quebec. A number of Ottawa harness horse owners will probably enter for some of the events.

Poughkeepsie regatta race was reduced to three miles by the Rowing Association stewards. Last week when war broke out they reduced the regatta to nothing.

MONTE CARLO WANTS BIG LEAGUE TEAMS

The Casino Management Plans Novel Training Trip After the War.

Next winter, or the winter after the war ends, baseball fans who want to enjoy a winter season of the sport would do well to reserve quarters at Monte Carlo. For, if the plans of the Casino managers do not go astray, the first Monte Carlo season after the war will have as its pièce de résistance six weeks of baseball between the New York Giants and another leading team.

The grounds have already been chosen. They are the present football grounds in Condamine, and the Casino authorities are only waiting for definite signs of the end of the war to open negotiations with American club owners, with a view to bringing two or more teams to Monte Carlo for a winter season.

Their idea is that instead of the teams going south in February for six weeks' training they could go to Monte Carlo about the middle of January and give a season there which would take the place of the spring training at Marlin and other southern resorts.

FRED. CLARKE INVENTS NEW PLAYERS' GLASSES

Former Pirate Manager Combines Cap and Sun Goggles.

If they live up to the claims of their inventor, who is none other than Fred Clarke, former Pirate manager, sunglasses will enable baseball players to catch flies in the face of the strongest sun, says a writer in Popular Science. The glasses are riveted to the peak of the cap and work on a hinge. When not needed to shield the eyes, they rest against the cap.

When a ball is hit the fielder simply touches the rim of the glasses and they fall down in front of the eyes in just the proper position so that, he has a chance to see the approaching ball even though he is looking directly at the sun. The glasses cannot fall off, and they can be shifted out of the way with the quickest kind of a movement when not wanted—two advantages which make them far superior to the old style of "spec."

NO AMERICAN HENLEY.

Big Rowing Event Cancelled on Account of War.

The American Henley regatta, one of the largest rowing classics in the world, and scheduled to be held at Philadelphia on May 12th, was officially cancelled at a special meeting of the regatta board of stewards. The event was called off because of the withdrawal of many of the best entries. Princeton, Columbia, Yale and Harvard having all disbanded their crews on account of the war conditions.

Frank Kramer to Retire.

Friends of Frank Kramer, the national bicycle champion, are of the opinion that at the end of the coming outdoor campaign the greatest of all bicycle riders will retire from active competition. Kramer is a member of the committee of the American Racing Men's Union, and the enthusiasm he is showing in this movement is a strong indication of his contemplated decision. Kramer has several flattering offers to go into business, and these invitations will be held open for him until October.

Kramer has been riding a bicycle ever since he was able to touch the pedals with his feet. During his eighteen years' racing Kramer has won more local and national championships than any other rider.

Battle Songs on Diamond.

Friends of the game declare that baseball this year will perform a national service by affording a distraction from the grim tension of war.

It is expected that the big American baseball parks will be arenas for the outlet of popular enthusiasm awakened by the great conflict, and that the crowds will sing battle songs and cheer good news from the fro.

Sportsman's Patriotic Associations are being organized in the United States. They will supply comforts and athletic goods to Uncle Sam's soldiers.
