BOUND TO GET TO FRONT.

Youngster Went Away With Battery Unknown to His Parents. A story which goes to show how anxious the young fellows are to get to the front, has been reported to the Whig. A lad, who is the son of a well-to-do farmer of the county signed up with the battery, and his story was that he was a ward of the Orphan's Home. On the day of leaving, another Kingston boy who was with the battery, had his mother prepare a box of food for the youngster, telling his mother that he was an orphan boy. The mother did so, and was greatly surprised one day this week to receive a letter from the mother of the boy, thanking her for her kindness in remembering her son before leaving. After getting away the lad wrote his mother, and asked her to see that the lady, who was so kind to him, was thanked.

"The Hat Store" A Hat to Hat Talk

Do you wear the same hat every day, morning, noon and night? If you do, it is simply because you have formed the habit—got into a rut. Hat variety is equally as important as variety in any other part of your apparel—if not more so. It is the last thing you put on, but the first thing others notice. Many men have several suits of clothes, three or four pairs of shoes, a good variety of neckwear, but only one hat. Begin to-day with a new one. Soft hats and stiff hats in styles galore, at every price.
