At the Grand.
For the first half of this week an attractive programme of entertainment has been secured for the Grand Opera House. Gladys Coburn will appear in a five-reel Fox film, "The Primitive Call." Billy Burke, the famous international stage star, will be seen in the seventeenth chapter of "Gloria's Romance." This instalment surpasses all precedents in its suspense, thrills and romance. Charlie Chaplin, the world's comedian supreme, will for these three days in the greatest of all his comedies, "The Cure." According to expert opinion this picture affords the screen comedy king really more side-splitting opportunities than did any of the prior Chaplin releases. Polite vaudevills will complete an excellent bill.

At Griffin's.
The Lasky-Paramount Picture "The Golden Fetter," which will be seen at Griffin's today, Tuesday and Wednesday, presents a most stellar combination in the persons of Wallace Reid and Anita King, both of whom have attained fame and popularity in previous Lasky productions. The fourth episode of that wonder serial "The Secret Kingdom" and a particularly funny comedy will be shown along with our usual high class vaudeville.

At the Strand.
Constance Talmadge will be seen at the Strand for the first three days of this week in the latest Triangl play, "A Girl of the Timberclaims," a thrilling story of the big woods, depicting what a determined woman can do in this world's work. She leads men, fights men, and never loses her sweetness. Francis Ford and Grace Cunard in the third episode of "The Purple Mask," and comedy reels and polite vaudeville.

MILITARY CIRCLES.

Pte. William Bourke of the 14th C.D.F. speaks in high terms of Lieut.-Col. P.G.C. Campbell and other 253rd officers formerly of the old 14th. He says he enlisted for overseas service but was found physically unfit. The 253rd officers, he told the Whig, are most capable men and if they cannot make a soldier out of a recruit no other officers can.

The ladies of St. George's Cathedral entertained a fine gathering of soldiers at the military Y.M.C.A.

There was an unusually good gathering of soldiers and friends at the military Y.M.C.A. hall Sunday evening. Previous to the song-service Canon Fitzgerald spoke very fittingly to the soldiers who are about to leave for the east.

"Join the 14th Regiment for home defence," is the call to the young men of Kingston. Apply at the 14th Regiment office in the Armouries.

It would be a glorious record for Canada if she could finish this war and secure enough men on the volunteer system. Join the 14th Regiment, C.D.F., and make compulsory training of any kind unnecessary.

Corpl. McCarthy, of the 14th Regiment Guard, was in charge of a detachment from that unit at the church parade last night. Corpl. McCarthy fought in France early in the war, was badly wounded and sent back to this country.

There is considerable talk about the pay authorized for the C.D.F. battalions. As a matter of fact a single man draws 10c per day, only 70c a week, less than in the C.E.F., and a married man $2 a month less, or about 7c a day.

The bugle band of the 14th Regiment, soon to be formed, will likely be composed of lads under eighteen, who are anxious to "do their bit" with the consent of their parents.

Brig.-Gen. T. D. H. Hemming, G.O.C., reviewed the garrison parade of troops which attended St. George's took a reviewing stand at the corner of Clarence and King streets and received the salute there.

Col. G. Hunter Oglvie, A.A.G., left on Monday for Brockville to inspect drafts.

Lieut. Bruce Cannon, A.M.C., left on Monday for Ottawa to report for duty as medical officer. He will proceed as far as Halifax with the draft and then join the A.M.C. draft for overseas. Lieut. Cannon was at the front with No. 1 Field Ambulance under Col. A. E. Ross.
