ESCAPES THE RAIDER.

American Ship Gave the Slip to the Seadollor.

New York, April 25.—An American steamship was chased for five miles by the German sea raider, Seadollor, off the coast of Brazil on April 12th, according to the captain of the vessel, which reached this port to-day. The Seadollor, previously reported by the victims of her raids on their arrival at Rio Janeiro, was formerly the American bark Pass of Bahia, into which the Germans had fitted gasoline motors.

The captain of the steamship, which is engaged in the South American trade, said the raider was sighted at 6 a.m. bearing down on him at a point 39 miles north of the equator and between 200 and 300 miles off the coast. The pursuer, he said, put on all speed, but he was able to throw her off after a desperate chase.

Although within range the raider did not attempt to fire on him. She had Norwegian flags painted on her sides, he said, and mounted two guns apparently of 8-inch calibre.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

If Peevish, Feverish and Sick, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach ache, diarrhoea remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the California P. & S. Syrup Company.

CO-ORDINATION OF RAILROADS.

They Come to the Rescue With a Strong Will.

In the rush of the thick-crowding events and the multifarious manifestations of patriotism, the action of the railroad companies, held last week, has not been appreciated at all. In response to a call from Daniel Willard of the Council of National Defence, forty-five other railroad presidents met in Washington on April 11th.

Every railroad of importance in the United States had its representative, immediate or by proxy. Without discussion, the conference passed unanimously Mr. Willard's resolution for the appointment of a committee of five Presidents with complete control during the war of the operations of all the railroads in the country. This committee of five will be in session at Washington while the war lasts. In these trained hands the whole American railway system of 250,000 miles or more will be operated as a single system, a unit, directed and operated intelligently, synthetically, and efficiently, to the best advantage of the United States.

The value, military and economic, of this co-ordination of railway transportation will be of the greatest. The generous American spirit, which prompts it, a spirit that has moved great industry after which industry to enlist in the mobilization of American resources, is priceless. Here the managers of some $17,000,000,000 of railway property grant control of it to five men so that the government may have the best service in war.

Surely the display of a common patriotism of a common devotion to the country, by the great industries and interests, must create popular understandings and sympathy that will outlast the war. The railroads, for example, so ready to serve the country in war, may be allowed to serve it in peace, and get a living wage for it. It is one of the benefits of war that, bringing together all classes and opinions, it teaches toleration and broadens knowledge.

CARNEGIE INSTITUTE.

To Engage in War Work for Government of United States.

The Carnegie Institute of Washington, with its wonderful research resources has been turned over to the United States for military purposes. This is interesting locally because Prof. Norman Bowen, an honor graduate of Queen's University, and son of C. Bowen, baker, holds a very important place on the institute staff. The Institute's product is principally that which competes with pre-war German manufacturing, such as lenses for periscopes, telescopes, microscopes, field glasses, etc.

For the last two years Prof. Bowen has been engaged in research work on the Pacific for the Institute.

Mrs. Ferrier, 119 Alfred Street, was removed to the General Hospital in James Reid's ambulance on Tuesday.
