KILLED WIFE WITH A GUN

AND TOOK HIS OWN LIFE WITH SAME WEAPON.

James Clarke, of Brockville, in fit of Mental Aberration, commits a Terrible Deed.

Brockville, April 26.—James Clarke, aged 25, shot and killed his wife and afterwards killed himself with a shotgun. He was a moulder by trade, but had been in ill-health lately and was for a few weeks in the hospital for the insane here, but was not considered dangerous. The tragedy was discovered when his daughter, who is employed in an office, returned from work at noon yesterday.

The conjecture is that at eight o'clock Miss Clarke left the lower floor of the house and proceeded to the cellar. She was followed apparently by her husband, who carried a new "Victor" breech-loading gun. From the position of Mr. Clarke's body, it is thought that she was in a stooping position and was shot from behind. The charge entered her body at the neck and passed through the right side. She died soon after.

The body when viewed by coroner W. E. Hartung was cold, indicating that she had been dead for a few hours.

Mr. Clarke after shooting his wife returned to the first floor and then went into a back room at the head of the upper stairs, where he placed the gun over his body in the region of the heart. He was lying on his back when discovered with his head to the door and with a bullet wound in his breast.

Mr. Clarke before his marriage was Miss Annie Beauchemin, daughter of Mathieu Beauchemin, a stone-setter in the town since October 56 years ago. She spent her early life there and was married to Mr. Clarke at Frelighs. She moved with her husband to Brockville some years ago. He accepted a position in the mounding department of the James Stuart Mfg. Co., which he held until ill health forced him to resign. His family consists of two daughters and two sons.

Pte. Brown, Gananoque, was visiting relatives in town the fore part of this week. William Pratt, King street, at a peaceful Saturday, and needless of the names. Headquarters were preparing, the boys had left their lines, when like a bomb, there came a wire,

That filled us with alarm, "Mobilize immediately, we leave for France to-night."

East and west and south and north sped orders on wheels, swift as they had in truth. The field at the rear, and back the boys came flocking. From every village around, Cased out by sweating red caps wherever they were found.

They sent the messiae flying,

Wherever the wires weave,

Teasing the boys on courses,

And fetch the boys on leaves,

And all the trains were crowded with soldiers hastening back in every camp each Tommy crammed.

His kit into his pack,

Then felt each indispensable,

His mainly lousy swell,

To see his cushy bomb proof job,

Thus swiftly shot to hell,

And all the girls were there to say

Good-bye to all the boys,

(In all the world, before that day,

was never such a noise).

We sought for kit and rifles

Till Q.M.'s went insane,

We all fell in a hundred times,

And then fell out again.

They took our names a hundred times.

On fifty different rolls,

We all got in wrong platoons

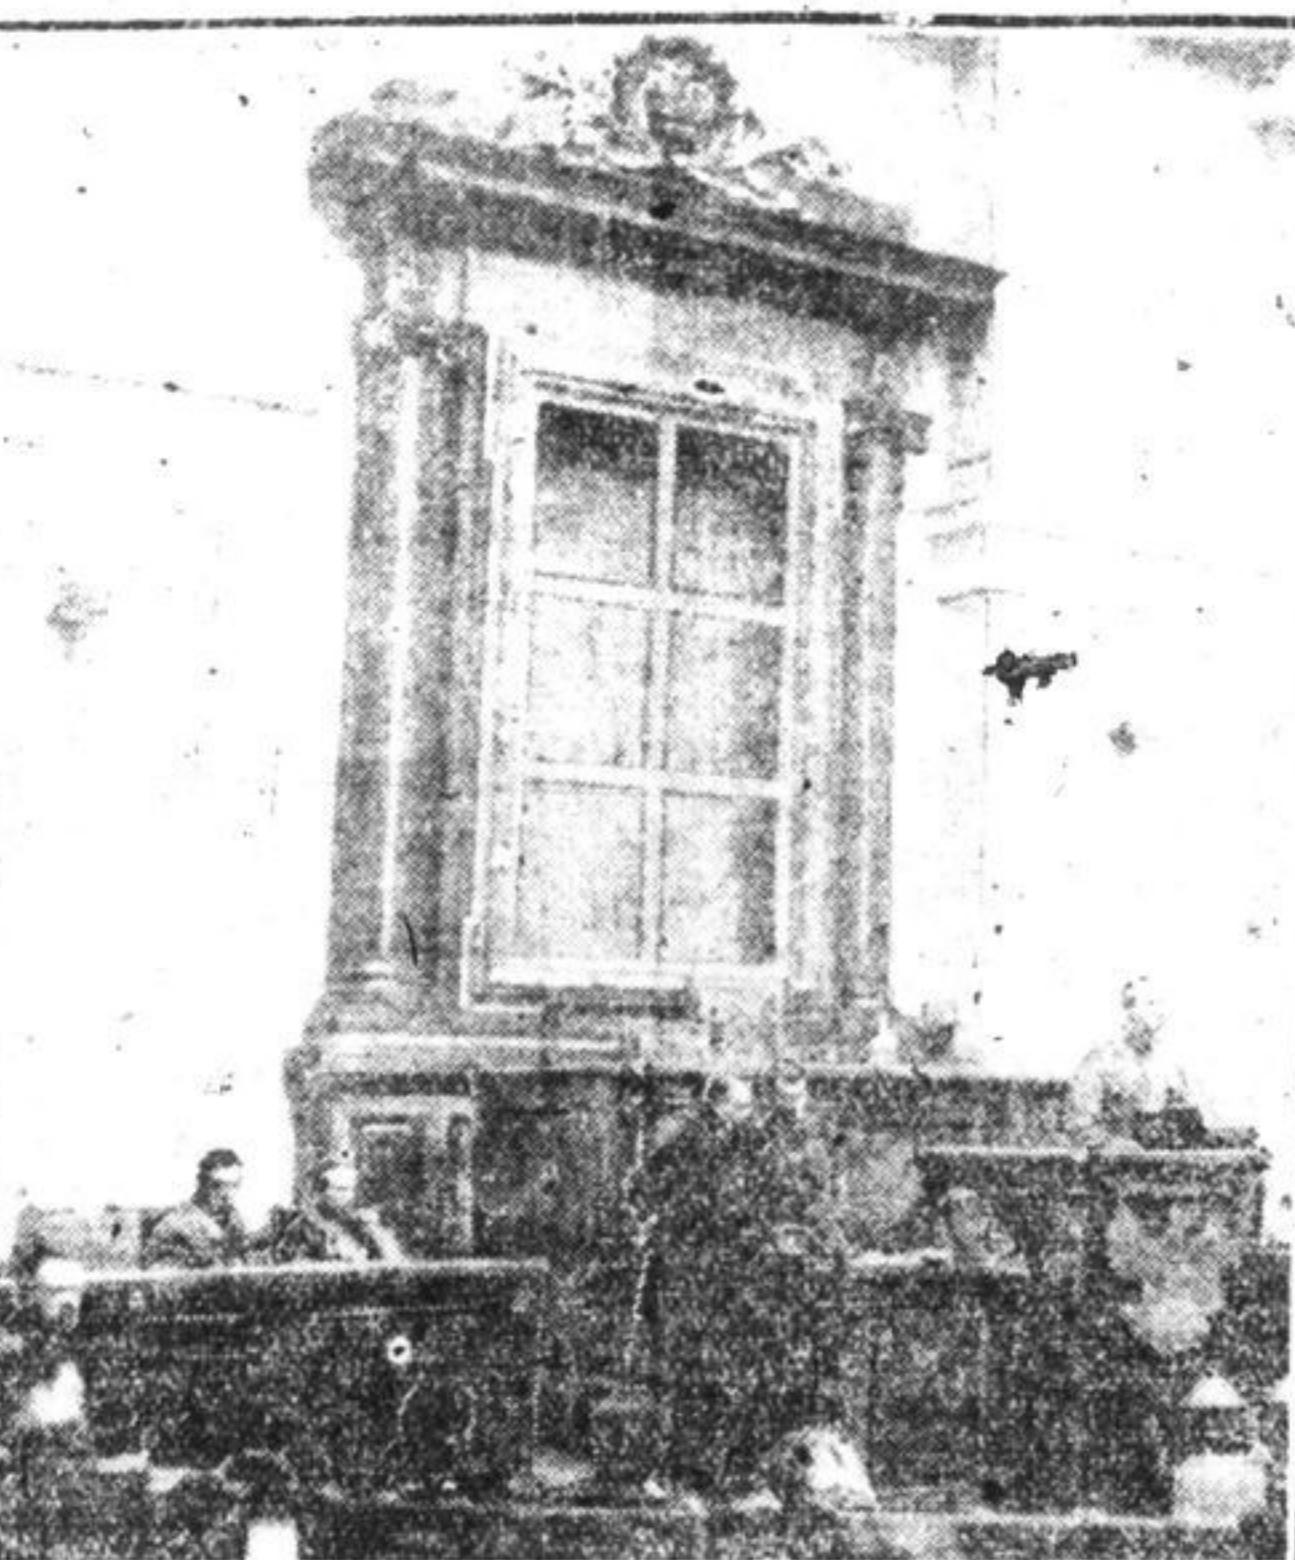

And sergeants damned our souls,

And then when all was ready

And all the tares were said,

"We didn't go to France at all,

We all went back to bed."

DIED FROM EXPOSURE.

Wife of Belgian Relief Worker Loses Life at Kindredine.

Kindredine, April 26.—Rev. Dr. Menifee, who had been two years in the trenches as a chaplain with the Belgian army, and who of late has been giving a series of lectures throughout Canada in aid of the Belgian relief fund, accompanied by his wife, went out to fish here about 12 o'clock to day. Miss Menifee was seized with the dizzies and fell into the lake. Her husband jumped in to save her, and they both were in the cold water for three-quarters of an hour before anyone on the beach happened to see them. Miss Menifee died shortly after being taken out, and Dr. Menifee is in a precarious condition.

The Pie Market.
New York Sun.
The influx of pieplant from the south has caused a strong demand in fashionable quarters for rhubarb pie, deep dish preferred selling at a slight advance over common. The result has been the expected, although there is still some reactionary trading in that commodity. Apples sold off on account of the public fancy for the Newcomer, but is expected to recover when money tightens later in the week. Lemon meringue was off. Always an off set pie, it is expected soon to fall back to the level of custard and coconut, attractive only to a certain conservative class of investors. Boston cream was slow and colorless, and it's reported that the governors expect to take it from the market list and let it go back to the cake curb, where it naturally belongs. No trading in mince, which is expected to pass its next dividend.
