The guarantee of exemption from For two years and a haif, war, red military service to Mennonites and and ruinous, has raged through the Doukhobors must be kept with the world, and still no decision has been original parties. It is another ques-tion whether it is applicable to all reached. There is reason to hope people who may profess these faiths in the future. The Mennonites, who were parties to the original contract forty years ago, claimed to stand aloof from all public affairs, and renounced all privileges of citizenship such as voting and holding office. The younger generation have departed from these rules, and become electors. This imposes upon them the obligations of citizenship, and many have recognized it by en-listing. The Church elders of the old school ask that these volunteers be sent back home, but they will ask vain.-Vancouver News-Adver-

that before 1917 closes the struggle for liberty will have been won, or be greatly advanced. Amid the varying phases of this titanic conflict the fact stands out more clearly than ever that agriculture is of supreme importance. Extraordinary measures are being taken by the allied countries to increase and encourage production. It is earnestly hoped that every farmer in Canada will strive to increase the food supply of the Empire. A still powerful and unscrupulous enemy openly avows its intention to try and sink all ships carrying supplies to England during the coming year . In the tremendous strain yet to come a vital factor will be ample and unfailing flow of food to England and France. No matter what difficulties may face us the supreme duty of every man on the land is to use every thought and every energy in the direction of producing more, and still more,-Martin Bur-

South Africa, of the London Express, sent an account of a thrilling battle between a British officer and a fullgrown female leopard in German East Africa. An expeditionary force was on the march when the animal was sighted, and Lieut. Bouwer dropped out to try a shot. The leo pard suddenly charged the officer, and the best he could do was jam his rifle in the open mouth of the beast. Burdles of burning grass were her attention from Lieut. Bouwer, who was badly hurt, and Dr. Ivor Haslem finally sent a dum-dum bullet home, which closed the career of
