ANNETTE KELLERMAN in "A Daughter of the Gods," at Griffin's Family Theatre.

In "A Daughter of the Gods," the million dollar picture beautiful produced by William Fox, and which will be presented at Griffin's Family Theatre for 3 days, starting Monday, May 21st, you will find the very "pageant of enchanted song and beauty," as the poet, John Ernest Warren recently expressed it. Indeed, the impressive grandeur and mystery of the sea have never before been so vividly and enduringly fixed upon the screen—the Caribbean, throbbing so vividly in crystalline sapphire or surging in snowy white against the jagged shore. From its gleaming white in the opulent sunlight, the rounded arms and shoulders of the 200 beautiful mermaids, the movements of whose silver scales star the sea with diamond flashes. These sea-maidens form the most fascinating and adventurous division of an army of 21,218 men, women and children which figured in this master-production. Two performances will be given each day at 2.30 and 8.15 p.m.
