AVIATORS ALMOST "GOT" THE KAISER
They Bombed a Station at Ghent and Killed Three Officers.
London, June 11.—Three German officers were killed and the Kaiser himself barely escaped when the railway station at Ghent was bombed by aeroplanes recently, according to advices to the Exchange Telegram Company.

U.S. FLEET NOT IN ACTION
Secretary of Navy Daniels Denies Crop of Wild Rumors.
Washington, June 11.—Stirred by repeated rumors of battle and disaster involving the American fleet, Secretary of the Navy Daniels on Saturday issued a statement, declaring the navy policy is one of "absolute openness" and that in case of disaster no attempt will be made to withhold or minimize it.
Among the "outrageous falsities" reaching Mr. Daniels' attention are various reports that sixty English and American ships have been sunk or disabled; that the Atlantic coast hospitals were filled with wounded men, and that after the reported battle the sea was thick with floating dead.
"No such engagement has taken place," Mr. Daniels said. "The American fleet has not been in action. No ship has been lost. There are no wounded sailors or marines in any hospital. If disaster comes no effort will be made to minimize it. The people of the United States are asked to trust in this pledge and to aid in stamping out the campaign of rumor that is so plainly the product of disloyalty."
