WALDRON S

PRETTY MEAN TRICK THIS

CLAIMED PARTIES HAVE LIQUOR SENT IN OTHER NAMES.

Kingston People Get Letters From Liquor Firms Thanking Them For Trade They Did Not Engage In.

He is certainly a mean man who would order liquor from a firm in Montreal under another person's name, but according to the reports which have been going the rounds some people have been pulling off this "trick."

It has been reported to the Whig that two or three, and perhaps more, citizens have received letters from liquor firms, thanking them for their liquor trade, while the person who received the letters state that they did not order any liquor, and were quite surprised to receive a letter of thanks for their trade. They believe that some person who did not want to have the liquor sent in their own name have taken upon themselves to take on a new name just for the occasion.

It is stated that one of the letters in question got into the hands of the lady of the house instead of hubby, and that the latter had a very hard time in convicting her that he had not been spending his earnings in "strong stuff."

DIFFERENT VIEWS UPON CONSCRIPTION

Seigny Favors Bill, German Wants Referendum, Pugsley Against Bill.

Ottawa, June 25.—Parliament yesterday heard four different views on the conscription issue. The Minister of Militia, Sir Edward Kemp, led off with a defence of the measure which added little new to the arguments or information already before the House. He noted that of the 6,400 recruits during May, only 1,208 had gone to the infantry branch, where, he maintained, the need was greatest. As to the Quebec situation, he said that the recruiting campaign of Col Blondin and Gen. Lessard had netted only 221 soldiers, and only 92 of these enlisted from the Province of Quebec.

W. M. German, Welland, declared his approval of the conscription principle, and his disapproval of the "Prussianism" which would not trust the people. To refuse the people the right to pronounce upon conscription because it was feared they would not pronounce aright was, he declared, a new doctrine for a free country. "It may be Toryism, but it is not Liberalism and it is not democracy."

Hon. Albert Seigny, Minister of Inland Revenue, in announcing that he would support the bill, no matter what others may say, declared that feeling was running so high in his Province that his life had been threatened. However, he intended to stand by the Government.

The last speaker of the day was Hon. Dr. Pugsley. He believed that the best interests of the war would be served, and harmony and unity, among the Canadian people maintained, if the referendum were granted. If it were not granted, he declared he would have to vote against the bill, in the belief that the whole situation would be properly cleared up by a new Parliament and a new Administration.

Col. Arthur to Speak.

Special to the Whig.—Ottawa, June 26.—Col. James Arthur, Conservative who went over at Vimy, has the floor in the conscription debate for this afternoon. As a practical soldier he will tell the House that men at the front are not concerned with what Borden said in 1915 or what Laurier promised during times of peace. What they want is reinforcements. Their business is winning the war, and Col. Arthur will declare that they need help.

Other Conservatives scheduled to speak to-day or to-morrow include Donald Sutherland, Dr. Edward of Frontenac, who will make an attack on the Liberal referendumists, the Weichel of Waterloo, who is said to be coming out courageously for conscription despite the difficulties of such a course in his constituency, and Dr. Chabot, one of the French supporters of the conscription bill on the Liberal side. A. K. Maclean of the Maritime Provinces will speak.

In spite of the spread of prohibition in Canada the Inland Revenue for May amounted to $2,386,733, or $35,000 more than the receipts for May, 1916.

Capt. H. I. Horey, Congregational Church, Ottawa, is returning to resume his pastorate. Sterling H. Reid, Gananoque, has joined the staff of the Bank of British North America in this city.

At the Theatres

At the Grand.

A large audience was delighted with the pleasing bill offered at the Grand last night. Miss Mabel Taliferro was seen in the Metro wonder play, "A Wife by Proxy," and instantly won all hearts by her dainty charm and wonderful histrionic ability. As Jerry, the little Irish immigrant, she had a part which she played with all her skill. Lonesome Luke kept the house in a constant uproar with his clever comedy in "Lonesome Luke the Plumber." This two-reel comedy proved to be one of the best seen here in some time. The action is fast and furious all the way through, but reaches a climax when two circus bears break loose and make a raid on an apartment house. The latest Pathe News is also shown and Woodley & Crandall offer a comedy singing and dancing act that proved to be out of the usual run. In keeping with its usual progressiveness, the Grand is installing a new Gold Fiber screen.

At Griffin's.

The story of "The School for Husbands" has to do with Betty Manners, a frivolous young broker who loves to gamble on the races and have a good time. His young wife feeling that she must economize, goes around in most unbecoming and inexpensive clothes. John becomes fastidious with another woman and loses money in the stock exchange just as his wife discovers that she is the heiress to a vast fortune. Realizing that she is losing her husband by her plain dress and "stay at home" manner, she starts out to win him back. This picture will be shown at Griffin's Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

PROGRAMME FOR MONDAY

THERE WILL BE BIG DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION HERE.

The Military Events Arranged For the Fiftieth Anniversary of Confederation of the Dominion.

The programme of military events for the Dominion Day celebration on Monday next are now being made. Lieut-Col. G. H. Gillespie announced on Tuesday that every school cadet of the city has been invited to report at the Cricket Field to their troop commanders at 9.45 a.m. Monday next. The cadets include those of St. Mary's bugle band and also the Highland Cadets. As the schools have now closed it is rather difficult to reach all of the boys, but they will be expected to turn out.

Every soldier at the camp who can be secured for the purpose will be in the parade, which will march from the camp to the city along Ontario street to Princess, to Clergy and to the Cricket Field. This parade will be commanded by Col. G. Hunter Ogilvie. It will be met at the bridge by the Salvation Army band and four sailors and four soldiers of the Royal Flying Corps. In the big parade will also be the fire department, whose apparatus will be decorated. Brig-Gen. T. D. R. Hemming, G. O.C., will hold an inspection and review of the troops at 10 o'clock at the Cricket Field.

SACRIFICE NOT IN VAIN

Major MacDowell Writes Concerning Death of Pte. J. Leronge.

Mrs. J. Leronge, 183 Colborne street, has received a letter from Major J. W. MacDowell, commanding "B" Company, of the 38th Battalion, extending sympathy in the death of her husband, Pte. Leronge, who was killed in action on April 9th. Pte. Leronge joined this battalion in England. "At all times he carried out his duties faithfully," said Major MacDowell, "and did his utmost to perform his duty, and his loss is keenly felt by all who were associated with him. He went over the top at dawn that morning, and I did not see him again. I afterwards learned that he got nearly over before he was hit. His officer was killed and many of his comrades, but their sacrifice was not in vain."
