Baseball Briefs

The American Association will use the single umpire system for the remainder of the season as a matter of economy. The change from the double system will mean a saving of $1,000 a month.

When Pat Moran's Phils are going right they are well nigh unbeatable. It's a case of either the pitchers or the batters or both coming to the front when the outfit needs a winning tally.

The signing of Gene Dale, formerly with Cincinnati, in the National League, last year with Indianapolis in the American Association, and the release of "Lou" Green, also formerly of Indianapolis, is announced by Hughie Jones, owner of the Denver Western League Club.

Southern League experts say there are two first basemen who should go higher after this season. One is Golvin, of Mobile, and the other is Covington, of Little Rock. The only weakness of Covington was his inability to hit, but this year he seems to have found a batting eye and is smashing the ball hard. Golvin, who was in the Three-I League last year, also is pounding the ball.

Pitcher Palmero, of the Louisville American Association, formerly with Toronto, has been sold on option to Little Rock, of the Southern Association. It is understood Palmero was dropped because of the necessity of trimming the number of players to bring it within the limit allowed.

The White Sox may not be a smart ball team, as some of the experts assert, but the Comiskey clan is certainly able to stick around the forward position in the American League pennant hunt.

"Lefty" Gilbert, former manager of the Terre Haute Club of the Central Baseball League, has been appointed manager of the Richmond team of the Central League. He succeeds Joe Evers, brother of Johnny Evers.

Former Manager "Billy" Smith of the Richmond club of the International League will sue the club for full salary, which he claims is coming to him.

The Chicago Cubs certainly are giving a good account of themselves, but they will have to continue at top speed to beat out the Phils, the Giants and the Cardinals.

The way "Happy" Felsch has been pounding the ball of late augurs well for the White Horse gardener's chances to climb up among the elite of Swatville.

DISSENSION AMONG GIANTS?

Herzog Denies He Will Quit Because of Trouble.

Charles J. Herzog, acting manager of the New York Giants, denied a report that he is about to quit the team because of insubordination on the part of the players. A despatch from New York stated that the second baseman was ready to pack his grip and go back to the farm to spend the rest of his days.

"Why should I quit?" asked Herzog. "The club is going good and the players are hustling harder than ever before. They are my friends and I have had no trouble with them since I have had charge of the team. We have won nine and lost three games. That's a good record."

Take Him Out!
The fan sat in the upper deck, eating peanuts by the peck, and ever and anon he'd shout the mystic slogan: "Take him out!"

The game rolled on; the batter hit. The peanut fan unloosed a fit, and after each succeeding clout he'd rise and holler: "Take him out!"

I gave that guy a baleful glim and asked him what was biting him. And what the noise was all about; He only answered: "Take him out!"

A baseball hit him in the neck and stretched him prone upon the deck. But ere his soul went up the spout, He faintly muttered: "Take him out!"

THE GAMBLING EVIL ON RAMPAGE AGAIN

Flourishes in Boston and Came Close to Causing Trouble.

The gambling devil has been accused of stirring up the row at Fenway Park, Boston, last Saturday, during the progress of the Red Sox and the White Sox game. It is said that a number of his disciples make a practice of gathering in the right-field pavilion at the Boston American grounds and carrying on open betting, and that the professional devils who have taken the Boston end of the wagering have lately been losing so heavily that they became peeved into a state of riotousness, which culminated in an attempt to break up last Saturday's game, when Boston appeared to be losing again.

Before the Red Sox returned home they had a record of nine straight victories, and looked to be an odd-on bet for every game. Consequently, the gamblers offered odds in their betting ring for every game of the St. Louis series, and every game of the Detroit series, and were offering even money against the White Sox.

Instead of winning at home, the Red Sox had lost nine of thirteen games. The crowd that stormed the field came from that portion of the pavilion where the betting ring is formed each day.

Just why this betting ring is allowed in Boston and not tolerated in other cities, never has been explained by the baseball magnates, but it is supposed to carry a political angle which has the hands of the magnates tied.

President Ban Johnson has turned his eagle gaze upon this phase of the Hub situation, and promises immediate and drastic action.

COBB LEADS RIVALS FOR BATTING HONORS

"Ty's" Average is Now .368—Cruise in Front in National League.

Ty Cobb in the American League, and Cruise in the National League, are gradually drawing away from their rivals in the race for batting leadership. Cobb's average, after a stretch of nineteen games of unbroken hitting, yesterday, was .368. Cruise is slugging at an even .350 gait.

This Speaker is far behind Cobb, with a mark of .343. Bob Russell, Chicago, tops him with .357, although he has appeared in only sixteen games. Stuffy McInnis and George Sizer are tied for third place honors among the regulars, each having amassed a mark of .310.

Other 300 hitters in the Johnson league are Hamilton, St. Louis; Ruth, Boston; Gairoy, Boston; Rummel, St. Louis; Chapman, Cleveland; Wamboganss, Cleveland.

In the National League the 300 strikers are Prendergast, Chicago; Tom Clarke, Cincinnati; Rousch, Cincinnati; J. Smith, St. Louis; Fischer, Pittsburg; Hendrix, Chicago; Burns, New York; Griffith, Cincinnati; Cadore, Brooklyn; Grimes, Pittsburg; Zimmerman, New York; Hornsby, St. Louis; Mann, Chicago; Whitted, Philadelphia; Groh, Cincinnati; Kauf, New York; Wheat, Brooklyn; Rawlings, Boston.

Shm Love of the Yankees, and Ferd Schupp of the Giants, maintain their places at the head of the respective pitching lists. Neither has been defeated. Love has won five and Schupp has captured eight contests. Other undefeated American leaguers are Bader, Boston, and Cunningham, Detroit. Williams, Chicago, has seven victories and one defeat. Ruether, Chicago, is the only other undefeated National leaguer.

Scores League Leaders.

President Frazee, of the Boston Red Sox, has complained to Boss Ban Johnson, of the American League that the Chicago White Sox are not playing clean ball. They are abusing opposing players and umpires, he says, and using language not fitted for the ball field.

He blames the Rowland clan for the recent riot in Boston, and not the gambling element.

Shortstop Bedenk has been released from the Portland Eastern League team and Moers, from the Richmond club of the International League, has been signed.

Sporting Notes

Outfielder Frank (Wildfire) Schulte, of the Pirates, has been sold to the Philadelphia Nationals. Schulte joined the Chicago Cubs in 1904 and played with them until last summer, when he was traded to Pittsburg.

Don't figure that the Brooklynns have no chance to win another pennant. Fabrique has strengthened them, and as soon as all of their pitchers are fit the enemy teams will experience plenty of trouble.

American soldiers in France will get ten dozen baseballs a week from Cleveland. The Cleveland Amateur Baseball Association will adopt a resolution at its next meeting to send all the baseballs used each Sunday to France.

E. W. Dickerson, who a few days ago became head of the Western Baseball league, declares that there is nothing wrong with baseball except the commercial side and petty quarrels among the magnates, which have no bearing on the game itself.

Vic Saier, first-baseman with the Chicago Nationals, whose leg was broken early in the season, has been unconditionally released. Mitchell evidently figures that Fred Merkle is a better man.

Frankie Russell, the featherweight boxer, who went overseas with the Sportsmen's Battalion, has returned.

Scott Perry, a pitcher recently obtained under waivers by the Boston Braves from Cincinnati, says he will not report to Boston. He has agreed to play with a semi-professional team of Joliet, Ill.

Al Schacht, pitcher for Rochester team, has been arrested at Baltimore on a charge of disorderly conduct as the result of a fight in a cafe.

Harry Wolverton, former Newark and New York manager, has resigned his position as manager of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League.

The Chicago Americans are carrying 23 players on their present east-ern trip. Eight of them are pitchers, three are catchers, six infielders and the rest outfielders.

The Longwood Tennis Club, regarded as the oldest organization in the United States devoted to tennis, has already twenty members on active service. Heading the list is R. Norris Williams, the national singles champion.

Walter Maranville, following the lead of his team-mate, "Hank" Gowdy, has signed for war service. Maranville has enlisted with the Naval Reserve.

According to "Bill" Scott, of Winnipeg, who has just returned from Portland, California will have hockey next winter.

MIGHT DRAFT LAJOIE.

Clarke Griffith Suggests How He Could Get Veteran From Leafs.

Clarke Griffith, manager of the Washington American League Club, is not surprised at advices from Toronto to the effect that Larry Lajoie is not for sale. Griffith did not seriously contemplate a deal for the veteran infielder, having made nothing more than casual mention of the fact that Lajoie would strengthen the Washington team where it is weak, viz., in batting.

The Washington club did not make an offer for Lajoie and does not propose to do so. Griffith points out that the draft route is open to the Washington owners should they desire to acquire the former American League star.

Scores New Being Sent.

Baseball follows, the American and Canadian flags. The proof came this week when the New York correspondents of London newspapers received orders to cable daily the scores of all games in the National and American Leagues and the scores of Canadian teams in the International League.

So many Canadians and Americans are now in England—and more arriving daily—that the British newspapers are trying to get special features to please them.
