Military News

Pte Bruce Hall, son of Fireman John Hall, who served with the 59th Battalion, was among the men who returned to Kingston on Tuesday morning. He was laid up with an attack of pneumonia, but is recovering nicely.

F. E. LePage, H. S. Mills and H. J. Claxton, of the 253rd Cornwall Company are coming to the School of Infantry, Kingston, and Charles E. Rogers and Mitchell J. Murphy will attend the signalling school here.

The School of Infantry at Barriefield camp will have the honor of having Mayor Duffus of Peterboro as a probationer in the immediate future. The mayor is a lieutenant on the Corps Reserve of the 3rd Princess of Wales Dragoon Guards at Peterboro and is coming here for a refresher course and to qualify for a higher rank.

Capt. S. H. Simpson has been appointed in charge of the dental clinic at the new Queen's Military Hospital. The returned soldiers who are in the hospital for treatment will be looked after by dentists in exactly the same manner as when they were in training in Canada or England or on the battlefield.

Major J. M. Wilson, Assistant Director of Dental Services, is making some changes in the stationing of his officers of the district. Capt. Sissons, who has been at Petawawa, will come to the city and take over the establishment of a dental clinic at the Mowat Memorial Hospital. The soldiers in this institution are to receive dental treatment as soon as a building for the work can be arranged. One has been selected but it has yet to be moved to another location.

Lieut. Chambers, C.A.D.C., has been transferred to Ottawa and Lieut. Oliver is transferring to Petawawa to relieve Capt. Sissons who has been at that camp.

Nine recruits have been signed on at the recruiting office of the 21st Batt. since July 1st.

Lieut. Stewart of the 21st Batt. is ill at his summer home on Wolfe Island.

Sgt.-Maj. Beale, in charge of the chief recruiting office, and of the Forestry reinforcing draft, has signed on several men for that unit.

The R.C.H.A. bandmen who have been on leave over the week-end and in the city for that reason, returned to Petawawa camp on Wednesday morning to report for duty. Owing to the fact that it is inconvenient and that it breaks up the band organization to give leave to a few of the bandmen, at various times it was decided this year to release the whole number at the one time.

Bombardier Victor Minnes, who returned from France this week, reported at the school of signalling, Barriefield, on Wednesday morning, and will give instruction in signalling. With his experience as a signaller in France he can be very valuable in training overseas volunteers in what they will need to know when they reach the other side.

The district band at Barriefield camp is practising at every opportunity, playing at Sunday church parades, etc. It has become quite an efficient organization.

The rain practically prevents all field work for the soldiers at the camp, and lectures are being given daily on military subjects to the soldiers.

The school of cookery was in charge of the feeding of the men on work at road building of Barriefield hill. The company at the work were busy even during the drizzling rain on Wednesday morning. At noon the cookery school brought down a field kitchen and hot "eats" were served on the roadside, the men sitting down on boxes or wagons. It was certainly active service conditions, but the best of spirits prevailed.

The infantry school has over ninety probationers in attendance, is well filled, and the instructors are constantly busy giving lectures and instruction to the various squads. The sleeping capacity of the school is taxed by the number, and the accommodation will have to be enlarged if any great number of probationers are entered.

Lieut.-Col. G. H. Gillespie left on Wednesday for Petawawa Camp on duty.

Capt. F. Hancock, S. H. Green-slade, G. McKinnon and W. R. Andrew, of the Y.M.C.A., have been taken on the strength of the headquarters staff and sub-staff.

The officer commanding No. 3 Special Service Company is again reminded of the policy of the department in employing, as far as possible, returned soldiers, and also the fact that should the Military Service Bill become law, there will be created a demand for additional N.C.O. instructors. He will, therefore, ascertain whether any of the returned men drafted to No. 3 Special Service Company from time to time are fit, and have the qualities necessary for instructors. If any such are located, their names must be forwarded to the general staff officer with a view to their attending the school of infantry in order to prepare them for instructional duties."—District Orders.

"The Pine-Knot," a paper published by the 249th Battalion, contains a splendid pen picture of Brig-Gen. T. D. R. Hemming, G.O.C. The article is signed "W. B.," and is evidently written by some one with a clear knowledge of the general's fine characteristics.

Lieut.-Col. H. R. Wilson was in Ottawa on Wednesday on duty. Capt. J. C. Norwell is performing the duties of D.A.A. and Q.M.G. during the absence of Col. Wilson.

Capt. Jarvis, 240th Battalion, underwent an operation at the General Hospital on Wednesday morning, and is now progressing nicely.

At the Theatres

At The Grand.
Mme. Petrova continues to delight large audiences at the Grand in the five-act Metro Wonderplay, "Bridges Burned". Mary O'Brien, the daughter of an Irish gentleman of declining fortunes, meets Ernest Randall, the younger son of an English baronet, when he trespasses on her father's land to fish. It is while he is whipping the stream for trout that he comes upon her enjoying the same sport. His frank answer to her charming audacious questions prompt her to invite him home for dinner. Thus starts a delightful romance. Mme. Petrova wrote the play herself and she has never been seen in a role more to her liking. Other reels and feature vaudeville complete the programme which will be repeated to-night only. For Thursday, Friday, and Saturday a dramatic treat will be offered Kingston theatre-goers in the form of Nance O'Neil in the Fox feature, "The Final Payment".

At the Strand.
Movie fans will have their last chance this evening of seeing Wm. S. Hart in his latest Triangle Play, "Wolf Lowry". "The Purple Mask," and a two-part Keystone comedy entitled "Teddy in the Throttle" will also be shown. For the last three days of this week End Bennett will be seen in a new five-part Triangle comedy "The Girl Glory"; "Fatty" Arbuckle is in a two-part comedy, "Reckless Romeo"; "A Lass of the Lumberlands" will also be shown.

At Griffin's.
Great in number and great in praise were the patrons of the theatre last evening to witness beautiful Pauline Frederick in that exquisite photoplay, "Sleeping Fires." This story deals with the greatest of human emotions—mother love. The first episode of that interesting serial, "The Mystery of the Double Cross," with dainty Mollie King in the leading role, together with a funny comedy picture, make up one of the best programmes seen.

One way for a man to get the better of a woman in an argument is to state his version of the case—and then run.

When a woman plans to do anything out of the ordinary she always wonders what the neighbors will say.

Too late for the evil of to-day is the remedy of to-morrow.
