

BATTERSEA CROSS ROAD

TRIP FROM BATTERSEA TO SEELEY'S BAY INTERESTING.

Constantly Used the Rope to Reach the Summit of the Mountain—Coasted Long Distance.

"Ever go from Battersea to Seeley's Bay when the roads are wet?" was the cause of a discussion in a local garage recently when two chauffeurs were discussing the merits of the cars they drove.

The road referred to is undoubtedly the worst heavy traffic cross road in this county. It is simply a succession of steep hills which stop at the summit of what might almost be termed a mountain.

The trip is only about six miles, but it is indeed one of the worst pieces of road to negotiate in this part of the country.

John Dodge, Ferguson Lake, lost five cows, struck by lightning.

qually becomes a "hog's back" or high-crowned road of sandstone. At the end of the sandstone stretch one encounters the first hill. The water has washed down and left only the mud surface on the loose rocks. The car could not grip either the mud or get down to the rock bottom surface. A rope was used over the tread tire (right rear wheel), and this was successful when wrapped around the wheel, in lifting the car to the top of the incline. This had to be done perhaps eight times before the top was reached. By that time the car was covered with mud, including the top, which was liberally coated.

When the summit was reached, the descent was managed with less trouble. The emergency brake, with the foot brake, allowed the car to run to the bottom very slowly. The engine being completely stopped most of the time (starting again by engaging in low gear), it also had a chance to cool back to normal.

The trip is only about six miles, but it is indeed one of the worst pieces of road to negotiate in this part of the country.

THE SOLDIERS KNITTING

SPLENDID EXAMPLES OF THEIR NEEDLE WORK SHOWN VISITORS

Returned Heroes in Local Institutions Are Very Patient and Pleasant—Many Flowers Are Sent to Them.

In walking through some of the local military institutions and seeing the soldiers who have been wounded or sick from many months of the dreaded life in France, passing hour after hour in the one place, such as on a bed or in a lounging chair it is indeed splendid to note the smiles of self-encouragement.

The soldiers sit around or walk on their crutches with the help of sticks on a way that brings sympathy from the hardest heart. After a minute's conversation they show however that they do not want pity. Rather they are proud of their injuries and the cause in which they received them.

Flowers have been sent in great numbers by local residents. Every day brings more, and needless to say, the returned heroes deeply appreciate such a token of appreciation of their sacrifice.

One of the occupations which has been taken up as "kill time" by some of the soldiers in the local military hospitals is that of knitting and some of the work is indeed excellent.

Socks, shawls, mufflers and all kinds of things seem to be popular, and day after day the boys sit in their beds or on some lounging chair and ply the wool with their needles.

A BANK MANAGER CUTS HIS THROAT

O. S. Scully of Dominion Bank, Napanee, Uses Jack Knife—Will Recover.

A Napanee despatch says: "About 12.30 noon Monday, O. S. Scully who has been acting as temporary manager of the Dominion Bank here for the past few days while the manager is on his vacation, was found in the toilet in the cellar, with his throat and wrists hacked by a jack-knife. He was missed by the employees, who, knowing that he had not gone out, instituted a search. The teller made the discovery. Mr. Scully was unconscious, having lost much blood. Medical aid was quickly procured and the unfortunate man was removed to the house in which he boarded with his sister, who accompanied him here from Owen Sound. Mr. Scully has not been in good health for some time and it is thought he tried to end his life when in a fit of melancholia. He is about thirty-five years of age. Doctors think he will recover all right. He will possibly be taken to hospital in Kingston when able to be moved."

IN MARINE CIRCLES.

Movements of Vessels in and About Kingston Harbor.

The steamer Varuna made the trip from Picton to Kingston and returned on Monday.

The steamer Ottawa passed up from Montreal to Toronto and Hamilton on Monday.

The steamer Thousand Islander arrived from Ogdensburg and river points with 325 passengers at 2 p.m. and cleared at 4 p.m. on Monday.

The steamer Hamiltonian passed up from Montreal to Erie at 10.15 p.m. on Monday.

M.T. Co.'s Bulletin—The tug Mary cleared for Montreal with two grain barges; the steamer Simla arrived light from Montreal, and cleared with the barge Burma to load grain at offr. Colborne; the steamer Oakland and Westland are due to arrive to-night from Montreal, light on their way to Port Colborne.

The barge Kildonan, of the Sincennes-McNaughton Line, of Montreal, which was driven ashore in a collision in the Brockville Narrows, is still stranded. McCoy is a gaping hole in the bow, she is being kept afloat by the pumps, and it is thought can be repaired and floated without suffering further damage. A steam pump is expected from Montreal to-day to work on the wreck, which lies in a sheltered position on the river.

What Will Quebec Do?

Toronto Star. It has been said that Quebec will not resist the mandate of a popular vote, of a clear majority of the people of Canada. If, as is generally believed, the other Provinces are united for conscription, if they cast their votes so as to produce a majority for conscription, Quebec will at least be confronted with a mandate stronger than the present Government and Parliament can give. We may hope at least that the lamentable cleavage between two million French-Canadians and their fellow-countrymen will cease, and that Quebec will again take its place as a full partner in our confederation.

Two Fingers Amputated.

While working at an automatic jointer on Monday afternoon in the Wormwith piano factory, James Henderson, 97 Bay street, had the first two fingers of the left hand so badly crushed that they had to be amputated at the General Hospital in the afternoon. The skin was so torn and lacerated that an operation was necessary by Dr. I. G. Bogart.

His Nephew an Early Recruit.

Capt. James Eakins, of the 1st Battery, Montreal, a graduate of Queen's University, has been at the front in France almost since the beginning of the war. He is a nephew of C. F. Randall, proprietor of a long-established sheet and metal business at 5222 Cernell avenue, Chicago, and who hails from Port Hope.

P. D. Shorey is gravitating back nearer Newburgh. He is leaving Waterdown for Trenton, where he has been engaged as principal of the public school.

DR. GILLESPIE, OF DULUTH.

Reports Business is Good in the United States.

Dr. N. H. Gillespie, of Duluth, Minn., who is visiting his old home in Kingston, says that business, in the broadest sense of the term, is good in the United States. Business is bound to be good for it must be based upon industrial success and progress. When one realizes that seven billions of dollars will be spent in the United States within the next few months, its effect must be felt. It is the purpose of the United States Government to loan one-half of this money to the Allies to extend to them this enormous credit to buy merchandise in the States. The other half will be used by the American Government to purchase supplies and munitions for the carrying on of their part of this great war for humanity.

"The present indications and reports of crop conditions are in the main most encouraging and indicate good business," said Dr. Gillespie. "This puts confidence in the hearts of the farmers, and when the farmer is prosperous the rest of the world, so dependent upon his returns, is likewise prosperous. In the industrial centres there is complete lack of unemployment."

Wages are high, and there is little debt anywhere. Instead of bringing financial depression the entrance of the United States into the war brought better times, and right here I might say, profited by the mistake made by Canada at her entrance in the war, namely, economizing—stopping of buying or hoarding, and thus embarrassing business. The universal slogan is "Business as usual," an universal prosperity. The way the Liberty loan was over-subscribed proves this.

Stephen Leacock Appeals for National Saving.

"Save every cent. Live plainly. Do without everything. Rise early, work hard, and content yourself with a bare living. The man who does this—if he uses the saved money properly—is doing war work for his country. He may wrap his last year's coat about him and eat his bread and cheese and feel that he, too, is doing something to show the world the kind of stuff that is yet left in it. Such is the declaration of Stephen Leacock in "National Organization for War." Save every cent and save it properly! The way to save it properly is to invest it in War Savings Certificates. By such investment your dollars will be utilized directly for war purposes. The National Service Board is urging such investment as a means to the financial mobilization of the country.
