THE VOICE OF THE PULPIT

"THE SOLDIER SPIRIT," SUBJECT OF REV. MR. BROWN'S SERMON

In Sydenham Street Methodist Church—Rev. H. M. Dyckman of Westfield, Mass., Preached in St. Andrew's Church.

Rev. W. T. G. Brown spoke in Sydenham Street Methodist Church on Sunday evening on "The Soldier Spirit." He said that some of the finer things that come from the spirit shown by the men who have gone to the front are voluntarism, courage and enthusiasm.

These men volunteered for their great work. This is the way that the best things in life are done. It has been the inspiration of nations and much of the history of the world has been written because of voluntarism. In choosing their service overseas, they went without prospects of honor, wealth or congenial surroundings. All the world should follow their fine example.

The courageous spirit shows that it is necessary in the history of our world to have courage in bearing the troubles of life. The soldiers went forward with courage even to death. Enthusiastic characterists are most necessary. Without them any army is beaten. We need enthusiasm for the hard task of reconstructing the social life. The church needs it badly.

At St. Andrew's Church.

Rev. H. M. Dyckman of Westfield, Mass., speaking in St. Andrew's church on Sunday described how many universities to-day are too materialistic and how no ethical character is formed in the students. "The colleges that do not teach their students to think in terms of righteousness is a menace to the community," said Mr. Dyckman. "Most colleges are lacking in ideals and inculcate in the scholars, cheap ideas of success. They come to think in terms of money and not in terms of duty, as they should. The business of the college is to build up the soul of the student as well as the mind. It is up to the universities to put a more glorious vision before the students. The college man should have burned into his soul a craving for something beyond material knowledge. This the college as a rule does not do."

BODY OF A WOMAN FOUND

IT WAS DISCOVERED BY LOUIS SMITH OF PORTSMOUTH.

Noticed the Remains in Water Near Lake Ontario Park—Thought to be One of Victims of Wreck.

Another sad chapter of the tragedy that occurred on Wednesday August 15th, when twelve persons lost their lives by the schooner George A. Marsh foundering in a heavy sea, was revealed on Monday morning. A body thought to be either that of Mrs. Smith, wife of the late Capt. W. J. Smith, who was one of those lost, or Mrs. Neil McLennan, was found floating in several feet of water shortly after eight o'clock on Monday morning by Louis Smith, an employee of Rockwood Hospital.

Mr. Smith was walking along the shore past Lake Ontario Park near "Sandy Bottom" when he espied the body of a woman in the water some little distance from the shore. Noticing the body from the road in the distance, he called for assistance and they brought the body to shore.

The men then went to the home of Mr. Graham nearby and sent a call to the undertaking firm of James Reid to come and take charge of the remains, which were brought to the city and viewed by Coroner D. E. Mundell who decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The body was discolored slightly from exposure in the water, and was also considerably bloated. It appears to have been a woman about forty years of age, although Mrs. Smith was only twenty-two and Mrs. McLennan was twenty-five years of age. Indications, however, lead to the conclusion that she was from the wreck, as very little clothing was found on the remains. Benjamin Wemp, Stella, was notified to have Neil McLennan, one of the survivors, come to identify the remains, but the latter had gone to Bath. Efforts were made to find him there, but as yet he has not learned of the discovery. Men are patrolling the lake shore from the city west as far as Collin's Bay to find any bodies which are liable to get out from the wreck of the Marsh. The wind of the week, the past three days has been favorable for the bodies to come to this shore.

PEOPLE CANNOT SEE WHY They Should Be Called to Spray the City Trees.

Here is how a leading citizen regards the proclamation of Mayor Hughes calling upon the people to spray the trees on the streets against the ravages of the tussock moth: "The trees are the property of the city and when a resident wants a limb lopped off he must go down on his knees and beg the City Council to have the job performed through the engineers department. Sometimes two months elapse before the limb comes off. Why then should the citizens be asked to spray what belongs to the corporation? The city should use the fire department to do the spraying. Let the aerial truck be utilized and wagon loads of spraying material be squirted upon the trees early in the spring. The firemen would have good practice handling the spraying hose."

Liquor Case Adjourned.

Pte. Rudolph Sequin appeared before Magistrate J. W. Bradshaw at the Court House on Monday morning on the charge of being drunk at Lake Ontario Park. The prosecution found that the park is under the jurisdiction of the city instead of the county and the case was withdrawn to be presented before Police Magistrate Farrell.
