A LITTLE BOY KILLED BY AUTO

Frederick Douglas Belwa Was Struck Near His Home.

HIS NECK WAS FRACTURED

DIED ON THE WAY TO THE GENERAL HOSPITAL.

Was a Son of Frederick C. Belwa, 143 Montreal Street—An Inquest May be Held by Coroner Mundell. Frederick Douglas Belwa, aged three years and seven months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Belwa, 143 Montreal street, had his neck broken and met death when an automobile driven by James Summerville, of Morton, struck him shortly after noon on Tuesday.

The little lad was playing on the road with some other children in front of Paul Paquin, 125 Montreal street, across the street from the entrance to the House of Providence when the accident occurred. Mr. Summerville was driving his car on the right side of the street towards Princess street; but as he neared the children he turned to the left in order to pass another car that was going in the same direction.

In doing so it appears that he did not see the little lad playing on the road, and drove straight into him. The youngster, who was running towards the work is not yet of the way of the car, was struck by the mudguard on the left temple, breaking the tiny neck. The lad's mother, who was standing at her door several houses up the street, saw her child fatally injured. She gave an agonized scream and fainted away. This brought her husband, who is engaged in night work at the locomotive works, and who was sleeping in one of the upstairs rooms, to the scene.

The youngster, who gave no signs of life, was picked up by Edward Frasso, 296 Montreal street, and the little form was handed to the father, who drove to the General Hospital in O. Eves' taxi. The child was examined by Dr. I. G. Bogart, who found that the little boy had died before he reached the institution.

Meanwhile Mr. Summerville, who had driven some twenty yards ahead of where the accident happened, returned to the scene, and then went to the police station and reported the affair.

The lad was bright and cheery. Besides his parents there are two children surviving.

Mr. Summerville, whose car hit the boy, was coming into the city with his uncle, who is over seventy years of age, and who is undergoing medical treatment here.

Mr. Summerville stated that he did not see the boy on the roadway, and that he did not know he had any person until he saw the youngster on the fender.

At 3 o'clock it was not known as to whether there would be an inquest or not. Mr. Summerville went to see Dr. D. E. Mundell, coroner, to tell the story of the sad affair, and the coroner will then decide as to whether or not an inquest will be held.

THE BODY IS IDENTIFIED

BY DAUGHTER AS THAT OF MRS. W. J. SMITH.

Victim of Wreck of Maroli—Husband and Five Children Also Perished—Funeral Took Place on Tuesday.

(Special to the Whig) Belleville, Aug. 21.—The body of the woman who was found in Lake Ontario near Kingston on Monday morning was identified by Miss Margaret Smith as that of her mother, Mrs. W. J. Smith, who lost her life when the schooner George A. Marsh foundered on August 9th in Lake Ontario.

The above despatch was received by the Whig on Tuesday, and confirmed the opinion that was held in Kingston that the body found by Louis Smith on Monday was that of Mrs. Smith, wife of Capt. W. J. Smith, who spent his life with the master of the ill-fated ship. From descriptions that had been received in the city identification was quite easy. On Mrs. Smith was found a wedding ring and a ring set with an opal stone, while on Mrs. McLennan there was said to have been a wedding ring and a ring set. It was for this reason that it was thought to have been Mrs. Smith. Nothing definite could be given out until it was verified by certain identification.

The late Mrs. Smith is the fifth victim of the wreck whose remains have been recovered from their watery grave in the blue waters of Lake Ontario. Her little baby, Lorraine, aged one year, perished with her, as well as four of her step-children and her husband, to whom she had been married only about two years. Before her marriage the late Mrs. Smith was Miss Gertrude Manning, of Demorestville, Prince Edward County.

Information from Belleville indicated that the funeral would take place on Tuesday to the cemetery in Belleville. The two children of the family of nine that survive are in Belleville at the present time.

At the Theatres

At the Grand. A packed house greeted the big double programme offered at the Grand last night. The headliner was beautiful Frances Nelson in the five-act Metro Wonderplay entitled "The Beautiful Lie". The story is a powerful one and teaches a well needed lesson and at the same time proves extraordinary entertaining. Miss Nelson is the peeress of screen emotional actresses, and in this startling production she is seen at her very best. An especially strong cast supports Miss Nelson and includes Edward Earle, Sally Crute, John Davidson, and Harry S. Northrup. Probably the brightest spot of the bill was the two-reel Lonesome Luke comedy, "Stop! Luke! Listen!" This ninth-provoker is one long continuous laugh from start to finish. The latest Pathe News depicts scenes of the Canadian Highlanders on their recruiting trip through New York. Prevost & Goulet offer an unusually good vaudeville act which they term "A Mixture of Nonsense".

At Griffins. Sessue Hayakawa, the noted Japanese star who was seen for the first time at Griffins last evening in the Lasky-Paramount picture "The Jaguar's Claw" more than pleased the large audience present for the opening performance. Hayakawa plays this character, equally as charming as any of the numerous other characters he has played. The serial picture "The Mystery of the Double Cross" is of unusual interest, and was well received. Royce and Royce, clever pair of vaudeville artists, provided entertaining singing and dancing. The bill shown is of unusual excellence.

At Lake Ontario Park. Despite the rain storm there was a fair attendance at Lake Ontario Park last evening to witness the splendid programme presented. Bob Boyce, the barrel jumper, showed some novelty work in his act, jumping from a height when blindfolded and in a sack into a barrel. Miss Miriam Mahr, a fair southern girl, known as the female Al. Johnson, in a contralto voice sang "New Orleans," "Pray For the Lights to go Out," "Dark Town Strutters Ball." The pictures were good. The Pathe Gazette, showing prize Texas cattle; "Daisy's Demonstration" (comedy); "Love of Princess Olga." Wednesday will be children's one cent day on the cars with matinee at 3.30 p.m.
