THE VOICE OF THE PULPIT VERY ROUGH ON LAKES

REV. DR. MACGILLIVRAY IN BROCK STREET METHODIST.

Preached on How Men When at Their Wit's End Cry to God in Their Trouble—Rev. W. T. G. Brown Preaches on the Pioneers. Rev. Dr. Macgillivray spoke in Brock street Methodist church on Sunday evening, and delivered a splendid sermon from Psalm cvii. 27: "They are at their wit's end, then they cry unto God in their trouble."

In this Psalm the preacher said that four classes of men were described. They are at their wit's end and then having used every human help they each cry to God and God in His mercy hears them.

The first man mentioned is in mental and moral confusion over the riddle of existence. He cries unto God and God hears him. The next man mentioned is one who appears to be in the clutches of some black and frightful disease. It might be in consequence of his own excess and sin. The wit of man fails him and he recurs to God, who hears and saves him.

The third is a fool, who played fast and looses with his own moral character and reputation. He realizes this folly and reproaches himself. Death is preferable to moral nausea, which torments his soul. He calls unto God, who hears and saves him.

The last of all is the business man who has worried over his affairs, the troubles of meeting supply and demand. He is likened into one who is on a sea, in one trough and then in another. Feeling no comfort or voice from shore he sees the waves mounting higher and higher. He like the rest calls on God, and God in His mercy answers him.

Two things come out of this lesson. One is God's thought of man and the value of man. To realize these two things man must get hold of the Christy idea and spirit. He must let the selfishness, darkness and waste pass and see anywhere that God and brotherhood will come right into hidden souls and lift them up into liberty and love.

Sydenham Street Church. With many historical allusions and a wealth of apt words, Rev. W. T. G. Brown spoke eloquently in Sydenham Street Methodist church on Sunday evening on the subject of "Pioneers." Basing his remarks on a short text chosen from the story of the migration of Abraham with his flock from the land of Aram into the promised land of Canaan, the speaker showed that this man, the father of a great people, was the first pioneer of faith on this earth. The millions of believers in the monolithic doctrine, whether Christians believing in the Supreme Being known as God or Mohammedans believing in Allah, or any other of the great sects trace back their beliefs to Abraham, the first great pioneer.

Passing on to more recent times Mr. Brown reviewed the exploits and deeds of David Livingstone, of the Pilgrim Fathers, of the first settlers in the Dominion. These were men rugged and fearless, seeing in their visions a new and bright ideal towards which they ever strived. They had faith in their visions and struck out on new paths, some for adventure, some for the accomplishment of great and noble deeds, some for the betterment of their children's conditions. These were the men who carved the way for the future, who brought the new thoughts into religion, science, discovery.

"Those who love the bright lights and the movies are not the people who bring new thoughts and beautiful thoughts into the Kingdom of God," declared the speaker. In closing he urged that the present generation and the generations yet unborn should live up to and be worthy of the ideals for which our ancestors, the pioneers of a great race of Canadians, fought and died, and he appealed to Canadians in these crucial times to lay aside the petty things of the world, which last for a day and are gone, and try to have communion with God, the great Eternal.

LOST KINGSTON CHILD LOCATED IN OGDENSBURG Girl Who Became Separated from Sister Found Near Dock—Crowd Pays Fare.

Josephine Combsky, Kingston, made the trip to Ogdensburg, N.Y., on Friday on the Thousand Islander with her elder sister. When about to leave the boat, the sister proceeding to make another purchase, the little girl went in the wrong direction, became confused and was lost. The sister later boarded the boat. The child was found in the vicinity of the State street dock. She was crying and hugged a few persons tightly under her arm. After a kind-hearted huckster learned of her trouble, a crowd gathered and sufficient funds were contributed to pay her way on the train from Prescott. Recorder Corcoran notified her parents of her safety as well as wired the sister at Alexandria Bay that the child was safe and stayed her anxiety. The child's father is a shoe repairer.

Regarding Coal Prices. President Wilson's regulation of anthracite prices will barely bring down coal prices in Kingston. The bulk of the coal that is being brought into the city to-day is being bought at the prices quoted in the new regulations. High freights and cost of labor give the coal dealers only ordinary profit at $10 a ton.

TRIBUTE IS PAID

By the R.M.C. Commandant to the Late Prof. Lanos.

The following appears in the orders at the Royal Military College: "It is with the deepest regret that the Commandant has to announce to the college the death of J. M. Lanos, professor of French, which occurred at his residence on the 19th instant."

"Prof. Lanos' connection with the college dates from the first of September, 1905, and during the twelve years he has been on the staff, his loyalty both to his adopted country and to his native land, his devotion to duty, kindness of heart and invaluable courtesy won him the love and esteem of all those whom his duties brought him in contact with."

"Since the war began Prof. Lanos was uniting in his efforts to further the cause of the Allies. Besides giving his only two available sons for active service and volunteering himself, he undertook as a voluntary work the preparation of officers of the Canadian Expeditionary Force in the French language at Barriefield camp."

"His final illness was brought about by his recent journey to France, and owing to an unfortunate chain of circumstances, the keynote of which was Prof. Lanos' fixed determination to leave nothing undone in regard to his duty to his native land of France."

"The Commandant assures Mrs. Lanos and her family, on behalf of the college, of their heartfelt sympathy at their irreparable loss."
