Military News

Little is known of the hard work being done by the artillery at Petawawa camp. A week ago the whole division entrenched in Petawawa and occupied the trenches by night, firing at various targets from the trenches. Last week the division had a route march to Corry Lake, leaving at 2 a.m. and not returning until five o'clock the following evening. Each day the time is spent in gun carrying, and drill.

Capt. G. F. Weatherhead, J. W. O'Brien, P. Brocklebank, 21st Battalion have returned to Canada.

A Mowat, Peterboro, inspector of schools has been notified that his son, Lieut. Graham Mowat, had been killed in action, presumably in the neighborhood of the city of Lens. He was a graduate of Queen's University. After leaving the institution, he was principal of a school in the Canadian west, a position he resigned to enlist.

Capt. E. S. Bell, St. Catharines, was killed in action in France, on August 1st. While taking a course in the Military School at Kingston, he enlisted and took part in the South African war. On the outbreak of the present war he left his business in the west and joined the 176th Battalion at St. Catharines.

Major T. W. MacDowell, V.C.D.S. O., was in Kingston on Friday and Saturday on military business.

It is understood that Lieut-Col. A. P. Allan, who commanded the 254th Belleville Battalion, will be returning to Canada in the near future.

A number of returned soldiers spent Sunday at Loughboro Lake. The party included Sergt-Major Dyte, Corpl. J. Atkins and others of the Military Hospitals Commission.

The following officers, who trained at Barrieffield camp have returned to Canada from England: Lieut-Col. C. T. Wilkinson, 156th (Brockville) Battalion; Capt. C. A. Donaldson, 156th Battalion; Capt. G. W. James, 255th (Bowmanville) Battalion; Capt. C. J. Kay, adjutant, 144th (Kingston) Battalion; Capt. W. E. Melvor, 155th (Belleville) Battalion; Capt. P. Brocklebank, 21st (Kingston) Battalion; Capt. W. J. Troop, 139th (Cobourg) Battalion; Capt. N. McCarthy and D. F. Sutton, C.A.S.C.; Capt. J. A. Gillies, 154th (Cornwall) Battalion; Lieut. D. C. Alexander, C.A.S.C.; Lieut. T. C. Urquhart, 44th Battalion (trained at Barrieffield with the cyclists).

The black bear, which a Bath Road farmer met in his field last week, was none other than "Paddy" of the Most Memorial Hospital. "Paddy" had gone out for a "constitutional" and was most friendly with the farmer.

In the Salvation Army on Sunday Adjutant Smith made a fitting reference to two Kingston men who were wounded recently. He spoke of Bandmen David Pindrod who went overseas with the 146th Battalion band and went to France as a combatant private, and also to Pte. Arthur Brown, both attended the Army services here.

Saturday's heavy rain and wind put a stumbling block in the way of sports around the camp. It was proposed to have an exhibition game of ball, but this was called off. Army Medicals and Army Service are all ready for the game on Monday evening, and both teams are out to win. The team that comes out on top will meet Engineers on Wednesday afternoon for the camp championship. The winning team will receive a handsome shield and to each player goes a medal suitably engraved. Medicals will have McGregor and Wilson as their battery while Service will use the old reliable pair, Derry and Stagg. Several of the Medicals' best men are temporarily disabled through recent injuries, and although this is a handicap on the team, still they are ready to take a chance. It looks like a good game with the interest at fever heat.

Despite the heavy windstorm of the past few days, the Y.M.C.A. canvas has stood up. The large marquee was in danger several times but has come through without a break.

Sunday evening after a hearty sing-song in the "Y" tent, the men listened to an able address by John Kinch, leader of the Y.M.C.A. evangelistic band, on "The Three Men Who Would Not Drink Wine." Mr. Kinch made a strong appeal to the men for conservation of their energies, occasionally bringing in a well timed story, and at the conclusion of his talk, a great many expressed the desire to live better. Frank L. Newman conducted the singing, the words of the different hymns being thrown on the screen by the "movie" machine.

Five aeroplanes, in charge of two instructors and three cadets flew from the Mohawk Camp, Deseronto, on Sunday just before noon. They landed on the lower Barrieffield Commons and two descended near the Outer Station. The five men then reported at Barrieffield Camp and remained for lunch at the headquarters mess. After inspecting the engines and replenishing their gasoline supply they returned. The three which were on the Barrieffield Commons while waiting for the others, spent the time giving an exhibition to an immense crowd which gathered. They made spirals and sharp descents and won continued rounds of applause. As soon as the other two were in the air the five formed an immense fan and returned to the camp.

In an interview one of the aviators stated that none had ever been here before and knew nothing of the ground. They were making the experiment to ascertain their ability to handle machines.

Lieut-Col. A. G. F. MacDonald, who raised and commanded the 154th Dundas, Stormont and Glenegarry Battalion, which trained at Barrieffield Camp last year, was a visitor at headquarters on Monday. The colonel returned from England two weeks ago. Col. MacDonald had the very unpleasant duty to face, that of having his battalion broken up and taken in drafts to other units. It was gratifying to find, however, that the physical standard of his men was much higher than the average and very few had to be discarded after a very strict medical examination. The War Office was kind enough to allow Col. MacDonald to spend four weeks in France and during that time he had the opportunity of seeing the grave in which the body of his son, killed in action last year, is buried.

Lieut-Col. J. S. Benoit, C.R.C.E., left on Friday for Brockville on engineering duty.

Lieut-Col. R. W. Smart has the Eastern Ontario Battalion lines in splendid condition. The lines of whitewashed stones mark out the various streets of tents. Electric lights have been installed in the tents of the officers.

At the Grand.

Kingston's favorite stars, Harold Lockwood and May Allison, appear at the Grand to-night in their latest Metro wonderplay, "The Hidden Children," and it is claimed to be their greatest production. A youth and a girl are "hidden children" in colonial days. In accordance with an Indian custom they have been given over to foster parents until maturity. The girl learns that her real mother is held by hostile Indians at Catherines-town. Disguising herself as a camp follower, she goes with an army on its way to crush the hostile red men. In the army is the other "hidden child," now a lieutenant. He falls in love with her and shields her from death. They reach Catherines-town, where the girl's mother is about to be executed as a "white sorcerer." The young lieutenant looms up as a man with a heart of oak and a soul that shines with a deep and powerful love for the other "hidden child." Comedy reels and other features, with a first-class act of feature vaudeville complete the bill.

At Griffin's.

Mme. Olga Petrova, the celebrated Russian actress of international fame, who recently signed a long-term contract with the Jesse L. Lasky Company to star in pictures in Paramount pictures, will make her first appearance under the new contract in "The Undying Flame." Mme. Petrova's first picture is a startling combination of the ancient and the modern—a story of Egypt and the Sphinxes. Maurice Tourneur, the noted artist, directed Mme. Petrova in this unique production. The eighth episode of "The Mystery of the Double Cross," an exceptionally good comedy picture, make up the balance of our programme for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

At the Strand.

For the first three days of this week an exceptionally attractive programme has been selected for this popular playhouse. Heading the bill is the new "Fatty" Arbuckle, heaviest of heavyweight comedians and merriest of screen mirth makers, in his latest comedy, "A Rough House." In this picture "Fatty" has left nothing undone or untouched to make it the most screamingly hilarious production he has appeared in. William Gillette in "Sherlock Holmes," a seven-reel masterpiece, will also be shown, rounding out a double feature bill that will appeal to the most exacting picture fans.

At Lake Ontario Park.

The management of Lake Ontario Park has arranged for to-night and for the first half of this week an excellent programme consisting of Guy Stone, who will play some selected Irish airs on the harp and May Mackey, who will render some popular Irish songs in a fine soprano voice. Some 3,000 feet of photoplays will also be shown. Wednesday will be children's one cent day on the cars with matinee.
