cent Conviction. Chairman Flavelle and Vice-Chair man Dingman, of the Ontario License Board, have expressed their hearty approval of the decision of Justice Middleton in upholding the conviction of a druggist charged with selling wines containing a large percentage of alcohol. "We are just waiting for the papers from Ottawa now." stated the chairman, "and we will then go after the manufacturer. We believe that the manufacturer is the proper man to go after. We intend to try it out any way. It is the Board's intention to stop the illegal sale of all such wines in Ontario is possible."

SOLDIERS ENTERTAINED

Were Given Splendid Time at Home of Anthony Rankin, M.P.P.

Toronto Globe. Many a time and oft has the rambling old stone house, known to the neighborhood as "the Rankin Homestead at Collin's Bay," given of its best in open-handed hospitality. But never has it shown the royal grace more Beautifully than it did a few days ago, when the member for Frontenac and Mrs. Anthony Rankin opened the demesne to the Women's Institute that that body might enter tain a party of soldiers from the convalescent homes in Kingston Every thing and everybody about the place, from its old family silver and delicate china, to the master's beautiful Russian Wolfhound, shared in making the afternoon happy, and perhaps all the preparations and their land. carrying out were a little tenderer and a little brighter because a brother of the mistress of the house lies "comewhere in France." Tea was laid on the lawn, which slopes down from the house to the road, lying between the homestead and the little bay (once a busy shipping centre) the guests being seated so that they might look out across the gold-green harbor into the radiance where the shoreless expanse of Lake Ontario shimmered like a silver shield under a perfect sky. Many memories linger about "the Bay", and its quaint, old thick-walled houses which tell the story of earlier days, but there is none sweeter than that of the day of September 17th, when the maimed heroes of the great war were helped to forget for a few hours the con flict and their share therein.
