HEROIC SACRIFICE OF BELGIAN MOTHERS

An Inspector Summarized His Findings of a Very Recent Visit.

Maurice Pate, representative of the commission of relief in Belgium, before leaving the Province of Hainaut, summarized his findings on his last inspection visit as follows:

"Since the declaration of the blockade on Feb. 1st and the consequent decrease of arrivals of relief ships at Rotterdam, food rations in Belgium have diminished on a rapidly sliding scale.

"Slinging out at random a number of homes of the working class, I made a careful examination of the conditions in each home and talked over the food matter with their inhabitants.

"The people were practically subsisting on the C.R.B. ration, and have little nourishment in the way of native food stuffs. The C.R.B. rations were often eaten in advance, so that a family in waiting its semi-weekly bread ration was sometimes without food in the house during a day at a time. The women and older children suffered especially from the fact that they were obliged to give part of their daily bread ration to the father, who needed this to have strength for his daily work.

The Studio Exhibit.

First, second and third prize tickets acknowledged the value of Mrs. Brewett's exhibit; also a special prize of five dollars $5 was awarded her greatly admired pair of water-colour paintings, "Autumn sunset among our own islands."

The directors and other officials of the Kingston Industrial Exhibition kindly provided a table for china, etc., and adjoining pillars were utilized for hanging specimens in oils, etching, pencil and decorative floral designs. A profile of Queen Victoria hung appropriately over "Balmoral," her favourite castle. A large monochromatic, while the "unwilling of Prince Albert's bust" surrounded by royal family (a steel engraving) occupied a place on other side, Prince Albert introduced to the world the first exhibition.

Are Potatoes Being Hoarded?

Are some of the people in Kingston hoarding potatoes? Citizens, who were anxious to get some on the Saturday market were of this opinion, as in spite of the fact that they were out on the job early, they stated that they could not get any. One citizen remarked to the Whig that he had located three loads of potatoes, and that he had found that the entire supply had been sold and he was sadly disappointed. Potatoes are selling at 30 cents a peck.

DRAMATIC AIR ATTACKS

OVER THE CANADIAN LINES AROUND MERICOURT

Stewart Lyon Describes Incidents That Read Like Fiction—Balloons Riddled, Observer Drops to Earth With Parachute.

Stewart Lyon to Canadian Press. Canadian army headquarters, Sept. 29.—The effectiveness of the Canadian gunfire directed at the German working parties on Mericourt line the firing being guided by aeroplane and balloon observers, led to dramatic attacks last night. The first came shortly after five o'clock when an enemy airplane suddenly darted out from among the fleecy clouds in upper air and directed a burst of machine gun fire upon a balloon, the occupant of which was spotting for our guns at a great altitude. The explosive bullets used set the balloon on fire. The observer unhooked his parachute and jumped clear. The anti-aircraft guns opened on the bold enemy airplane and, it is thought, wounded him, for on his way back to his own lines, his plane behaved as if guided by a semi-conscious man. The whole incident did not occupy three minutes.

The second raider, darted out from a concealing haze just before sunset, firing as he came, like a cowboy on rampage shooting up a western town. The balloon caught fire and the observer jumped and came slowly to earth buoyed up by his parachute. An artillery observation airplane nearby hastened up and the occupant outclashed though he was by the fast fighting German single-seater, tackled the foe. He was put out of action almost at once, by a volley that injured the mechanism of his plane and forced him to veerplane to the ground. The Hun seemed for a moment to be undisputed victor in the duel which was witnessed by thousands of men in our own camps below. A British fighting plane came up from the south at incredible speed and wheeling above the German opened fire. The Hun airplane sought a manoeuvre for position, but before he could swing so that he could use his gun, his plane was riddled and he was shot through both wrists. With splendid pluck he controlled his falling plane and came to earth without further injury. His reception wasn't cordial but the Canadian soldiers do not fight against wounded men. The decorations he wore showed that the Kaiser had done him much honor for his aerial exploits.

Speaking to his captors later he said that Gynemer, the famous French aviator, was killed in a battle with a German plane and was buried where he fell just behind the enemy line. The failure of this crack airplane, evidently dampened the ardor of Hun airmen as the balloons have been unmolested to-day.
