110 MEN ARE ELIGIBLE INCIDENTS OF THE DAY

MEDICAL BOARD HAS EXAMINED 174 MEN.

The Finest Class of Men in the Country Will Be Called Under the Military Service Act.

Day after day the Military Service Act medical board of three officers is in session in the Base Recruiting Office British American block, examining men who think that they will be called for service under the new measure. In a little over a week's time the board has examined 174 young men and found that sixty-four of that number are not eligible for Class A or combatant service overseas.

In the big waiting room on the ground floor are dozens of men waiting to be examined. All are men who have left their places of business for a few minutes to find out for their employer if they will be called. Practically every one is holding down some important position, and it can be seen by their anxiety at being "next" for the examination that they do not want to lose any more time than is necessary.

The examination is a particularly stiff one. The man first takes off all his clothes. The doctors then test his lungs, his heart, his eyesight, his feet, and in fact go over him from head to foot. A report is made out for the man at the conclusion of the examination, and this shows what class he is in.

SOLDIERS ARE COMING THURSDAY, 6.30 A.M.

Definite Telegram From Quebec States Time of Arrival of Returned Men.

Because of a misunderstanding in the despatch of telegrams from Quebec as to the arrival of a large party of invalided soldiers, many people were at the C. P. R. station on Wednesday morning. Later the office of the Military Hospitals Commission received the following telegram: "Two officers, fourteen cot cases, and fifty-two other invalids will arrive by Grand Trunk in Kingston on Thursday at 6.30 a.m."

The Whig would like to state that the fault of incorrectly stating the arrival of the boys was due to messages originating at Quebec.

AN ABRUPT ENDING

The Tables Were Turned on Some Mischievous Students.

Some Queen's students wishing to play pranks on one of their number who had just arrived from the wild and woolly west, took his automobile from in front of the Arts building on Tuesday afternoon. They had intended to go for a joy ride but before they had proceeded very far up University avenue the curb loomed up and the joy ride was brought to an exceedingly abrupt stop. It was so abrupt, in fact, that one of the men was thrown bodily from the car and was considerably bruised. Incidentally a spring was broken, and the students returned sadder but much wiser.

FARM TRACTORS AT WORK.

J. J. F. Sproule, Westbrooke, and H. Campsall, Hartington Have Them Through the enterprise of A. W. Sirett, district agricultural representative, the Ontario government has sent two farm tractors to this county to work for the farmers. The second arrived on Tuesday and on Wednesday was put to work on the farm of L. J. Sproule, near Westbrooke. The one which came some time ago is working on the farm of Harry Campsall, near Hartington.

The machines have proved themselves to be great benefactors of the farmer in that the labor saved and the rapidity of ploughing up the ground has been very satisfactory. The big difficulty so far has been in securing men to operate the staractors. The farmers are doing it themselves, however.

The tractors are now engaged in ploughing. They can however, very easily be converted into being useful in other work. The fuel used is coal oil. The cost to the farmer is only nominal as the Government is bearing the cost of the machinery.
