A COUPLE AT MOWAT HOSPITAL MAKE THINGS LIVELY

Broke Away From Headquarters And Have Been Playing "High Jinks" the Past Few Days—Men, Women and Children Have Been Chased.

A couple of the cub bears, pets at the Mowat Memorial Hospital, have been playing "high jinks" the past few days, and as a result have been giving the people of Portsmouth and vicinity a lively time.

Men, women and children have been chased by the bears, who have managed to give their guardians the slip, and have been wandering around the neighborhood of their own free will. One was missing for some time on Sunday and a search-party was sent out after him. A call was sent to the police station, but the officers of the law did not run across the unruly Bruin.

The two bears are up to all kinds of tricks, and it is indeed a wonder they did not take a trip down Princess street. Evidently they have a liking for Jatter's Bay.

A well-known market gardener was given quite a scare. He was driving along the Forty-foot road. He had a barrel which had contained sugar on board. One of the bears was in hiding along the road and went after the rig. The market gardener took one look after the bear and then fled, leaving horse, rig, and bear on the roadway. Bruin is very fond of sweets, and it was the sugar left in the barrel he was after. He helped himself and then departed. Later on the man came for his outfit.

Bears are very affectionate. Hugging is one of their main tricks, and it is reported that one of the bears grabbed a young woman of the village and that Jack-the-Hugger was not in it for a minute with the way this bear showed his affection.

A woman, who was washing just outside her door and who had a small child close by, was startled to see one of the bears suddenly come into her yard. She grabbed her child and ran into the house. The bear took in all the surrounding sights and then vanished.

A root house of a market gardener was the scene of a visit from one of the unruly bears. Mr. Bruin went into the place and took full possession. The owner was afraid to try and put him out, and a call was sent to the Mowat Hospital. A couple of soldiers soon gave him his walking ticket.

Police Shot Bear.

Monday morning word was received in the city that the bear which had been kicking such a fuss around Portsmouth had made his way to Cataract, and the village was thrown into great excitement. Mr. Bruin was given a very cool reception, with the result that he took to the bush. The police were notified, and Constable Marshall Armstrong, one of the veteran hunters on the force, was sent out to look for Mr.

Bear. He located him in a tree, and invited him to come down, but there was nothing "doing." Bruin then defied the officer to shoot him, but Constable Armstrong was out for business, and in less time than it takes to tell the story he sent a bullet in the bear's shoulder, whereupon he set up an awful howl, but refused to come down. The constable then fired another shot, and Bruin fell dead out of the tree into some shrubbery. The body was put in an automobile and taken to the Mowat Memorial Hospital. The bear has become so wayward of late that his friends at the hospital did not want him as their pet any longer.

POLICE COURT BREVITIES

Docket Before the Magistrate on Monday Morning.

A man named D. Sullivan gathered in for being intoxicated, told the Magistrate a yarn about having got under the influence of liquor on some "strong stuff" he had put away a year and a half ago, but the story did not go with the Magistrate, and the latter sent him to jail for three months. If he wishes to tell where he got the liquor he will be given a new trial.

A young man who gave the name of J. Martin, said, "I guess I am guilty," when charged with being intoxicated. He got his supply sent from Montreal and was taxed $10 and costs.

A young man in khaki was ordered to pay $5 a week for the care of his wife and child after evidence was heard in the charge of non-support preferred against him.

Furs Are In Great Demand.

During our forty years experience in making and selling furs, never were we as busy at this season as we are now.

Our manufacturing department has more than enough special orders to keep them busy until after Christmas, and we would suggest to our many customers who want alterations to their furs to wait till the busy season is over. Just now it is impossible to give this work the attention it requires and the service we always like to give.

Our big show rooms are literally "packed full" of new furs, ready-to-wear—products of our own work-rooms. Come in and look around—no obligation to buy.
