Sporting Notes

Harvard University will not play baseball next summer, but the Crimson will continue all its other major sports for the freshmen.

Junior hockey will be the big issue in Saskatchewan this winter. Practically all the seniors have enlisted.

And John McGraw would still be regarded as a baseball genius if he hadn't made the mistake of winning the National League pennant.

Things at the Polo Grounds and Comiskey Park are now just as bright as they are at the Yule Bowl or the Rome Coliseum.

And still they say that the most colossal boner of the world's series was pulled by the Giant owners, who refused to reserve all their grand stand. People declined to stand out in the rain waiting for seats, with the result that the pool fell shy several thousand dollars.

New Yorker suggests the appointment of a commission to decide who lost the baseball championship for New York. Officer! Please page Heinle Zimmerman.

Flight Lieut. Pert Perry, former sporting editor of the London Advertiser, is listed as missing in France. He was attached to the Royal Flying Corps.

Only seventeen players turned out for Yale's first football practice. This was naturally disappointing to the forty-four coaches.

Now that the baseball season has ended, all the owners will be in their glory again. At least sixteen teams will be in the world's series chase until May next.

James Milton has been appointed starter for the annual race meeting at Oriental Park, Havana. Chris Fitzgerald will be presiding steward.

The N.H.A. gave Eddie Livingstone a soft spot to fall on, but the Toronto magnate wasn't looking that way.

Jim Jeffries sent a wire of condolence to the widow of the late Bob Fitzsimmons, saying: "He was the bravest and greatest fighter I ever faced."

About the best news opposing clubs in the N.H.A. have received to date was the announcement that Frank Nighbor was packing up for a trip to Texas. Canadian, Wanderer and Quebec goalkeepers will unite in a vote of thanks.

British soccer leagues are all enjoying prosperous seasons. Attendance have been large and more enthusiasm is being shown than since the outbreak of war.

Dave Robertson was a world's series hero for one day. Now it is said that McGraw will lead him to the guillotine.

Problem now worrying hockey magnates is how they are going to sign up $10,000 Beauties within the $5,000 salary limit.

Chicago Cubs are first claimants to the world's baseball championship for 1918. Fred Mitchell has been given $50,000 to go out and buy a winner.

Catcher "Chief" Meyers, recently released by the Boston Braves, may land a managerial berth in the Pacific Coast Baseball League.

Eddie Mahan, former Harvard star, is managing the United States Marines team. They have already won several games.

Jim Thorpe hurried to Pittsburgh as soon as the world's series ended and has been assisting Glen Warner in the coaching of the Pittsburgh team. Thorpe will again play with the Canton professionals.

An Army Football League has been organized in New York. It consists of eleven teams.

Tia Juana's winter race meeting promises to be a great success. Many of the best horses now in Mary-land.

FRANK ROBINSON PRESIDENT

N.H.A. Does Not Want the Toronto Club to Operate.

Ottawa's decision to operate again this season in the National Hockey Association, and the re-election of Frank Robinson as president, though absent and not a candidate for office, were the features of the adjourned meeting of the directors of the N.H.A. in the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, Saturday night. The majority were opposed to the operation of a five-club league this coming season, and a representative of the Toronto Club was asked to suggest the withdrawal of Toronto until such time as a second club could be established in the Queen City.

It was stated that the Sons of Ireland might amalgamate with the professional club, and thus be able to place a strong team on the ice, the Sons of Ireland playing as amateur and devoting the salaries to the Red Cross Fund of Quebec City.

With a view to making it easier for spectators to learn when a goal was scored it is suggested that a red light be placed over each goal with a switch to be worked by the goal umpire, the red light to be turned on when a goal is won and left burning until the puck is faced again at center ice. This will probably be done.

Was Best Base Runner.

According to the unofficial averages of major league players, Ray Chapman, of the Cleveland Indians, was the best base-runner in the 1917 campaign. He was in the lead among American Leaguers for a great part of the season, and when threatened by Cobb in the closing weeks of the race Chapman also cut loose with a burst of speed which kept him ahead of Ty. Only five players in the major league stole 50 or more bases during the season. Chapman led with 56, while Cobb had 53 steals, and Max Carey finished up with 52 thefts. Carey won the honors in the National League with plenty to spare, but in the American League four players were in the race to the finish. Bobby Roth finished with 51 thefts, and Eddie Collins with 50. These are unofficial figures and it is possible that the official figures may differ slightly and change the relative ratings of the leaders.

Fitzsimmons a Great Fighter.

The death of Bob Fitzsimmons has removed one of the most popular heavyweight champions that ever graced the ring. A freak in size, weight and appearance, he was the marvel of the roped arena, and his equal will never be seen again, perhaps with a banet of speed which kept him ahead of Ty. Only five players in the major league stole 50 or more bases during the season. Chapman led with 56, while Cobb had 53 steals, and Max Carey finished up with 52 thefts. Carey won the honors in the National League with plenty to spare, but in the American League four players were in the race to the finish. Bobby Roth finished with 51 thefts, and Eddie Collins with 50. These are unofficial figures and it is possible that the official figures may differ slightly and change the relative ratings of the leaders.

Gets Credit For Win.

Slim Sallee, pitcher for the Giants, has at least the equal of a record. On August 30th Sallee entered the game between the Giants and Pirates with two runners on two out and the score tied in the ninth inning. The first ball pitched was lined to Robertson and the side retired. Responsibility for defeat or victory then rested on Sallee. The Giants made the necessary run to win in their half of the inning.

Real Boxing Freak.

Willie Meehan the San Francisco boxer, who started as a bantam and put on weight so rapidly that he is now a "heavy" is the greatest freak in the ring to-day. Meehan is so fat that blows make no impression upon him, and he is so awkward that even the cleverest of opponents cannot figure out a way to reach him effectively.

M'GRAW PREPARES FOR A GIANT SHAKE-UP

"Jeff" Tesreau and "Red" Murray, Robertson and Lobert Are to Go.

The management of the New York Giants is trying to forget baseball after the recent world's series headache. But it is safe to say that some of the old faces will be missing from the squad that reports to McGraw in Martin next March.

It is almost a certainty that the veterans Hans Lobert and Jack Murray will be given their unconditional releases. They can claim this distinction because both have served in the majors more than ten years. In fact, Murray has twice been given his unconditional release, once by the Giants and once by the Cubs.

Murray was secured from Toronto this season. He got his unconditional release from the champions of the International League with the avowed intention of managing a minor league team. There was a slip-up and McGraw took him as spare outfielder. Murray did practically nothing to assist in winning the pennant.

It is unlikely that "Dave" Robertson will be with the Giants in 1918. He will be in the army, in all probability, despite the fact that he has claimed exemption, but whether or not he dons the army uniform those of the inside insist Dave is not likely to remain in New York. It is said the management has soured upon him for his indifferent work both in the World's Series and throughout the championship race. McGraw is in need of good right-handers. If Al Mamaux can be secured for Dave, there is little doubt the transfer would be made.

Another Giant who may not be seen here next year is Jeff Tesreau, the burly spitball artist, who fell down hard last season, being unable to finish a majority of his games. An apparently authenticated rumor says that McGraw is willing to turn over Tesreau and Robertson to Pittsburgh for Mamaux.

To take the place of Robertson, McGraw has a fifty-looking outfielder in Young, from the Rochester team, who performed well in his initial try-out, and gives promise of developing. Smith the Columbia twirler is slated to succeed Tesreau.

The ball that Happy Felsch hit for his home run on October 6th will be auctioned off for the benefit of the Red Cross says a Chicago dispatch. That is all right, if they don't auction more than one ball.

John McGraw now agrees with the Hux Chase theory that the team getting the breaks usually wins in the World's Series.
