LIEUT. W. G. GARRETT DEAD

SUCCUMBED TO WOUNDS IN HOSPITAL AT ROUEN.

Son of Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Garrett, Johnson Street — Went Overseas With a Draft of Artillery Officers. The sad intelligence came to Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Garrett, Johnson Street, on Monday morning that their son, Lieut. William Gibbs Garrett, had died from wounds received in action in France on October 30th.

Several days ago word was received that Lieut. Garrett had been admitted to the Red Cross Hospital at Rouen, France, suffering from multiple gunshot wounds. Enquiries were made in England for further particulars, and in reply an assurance came from Lady Drummond that he was improving. However, the young officer became worse, and passed away in the hospital on Friday last.

Lieut. Garrett was one of the best known men in Kingston's younger set. Of a quiet, unassuming nature, he gained many friends who will be grieved to learn of his death from wounds received on the field of honor. At Queen's University, where he was pursuing a course in civil engineering in the Faculty of Applied Science; he was very popularly known as "Pat" and had the esteem of a large circle of college friends.

It was nearly two years ago that he took the course in the Royal School of Artillery and secured his commission in Queen's Battery. For several months he trained with the unit and was later sent over to England with a draft of officers for service with the Canadian forces there. About one year was spent in the old Country, and Lieut. Garrett was then transferred to the 22nd Howitzer Battery in France about two months ago. It was while in action with this battery that he received the wounds which ultimately caused his death.

Lieut. Garrett was twenty-two years of age, and is survived by his parents, one sister, Mamie, and one brother, Reginald.

The Theatres

"The Honor System."

"The Honor System" which will be seen at the Grand to-night and tomorrow matinee and night, will surely provide a treat for all lovers of the highest perfection in the moving picture art. To quote the words of an Ottawa critic: "Since the birth of a moving picture industry there has been no nobler ideal embodied in a film story than that which is conveyed to the public in William Fox's dramatic feature, 'The Honor System'! Apart from the object lesson conveyed, the play is highly dramatic, and is a forcible commentary on the splendid standard which has been reached in motion picture production. Stagger close to the Mexican border, the raid on Columbus is graphically shown, and a very realistic battle is fought between the Americans and the Mexican guerillas." "The Honor System" is a massive production, highly dramatic, with plenty of action, something unusual in scenic effects, and it is perfectly screened. To-night and Tuesday night at 8.15, matinee Tuesday at 2.30.

"The Only Girl."

London has endorsed Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom's musical comedy, "The Only Girl," as the best American Musical play presented there in many years. It reigns as the most popular play in London for one year, and three months and was presented at the Appolo Theatre, with Fay Compton, of the late George Edward's Theatre Company singing the Prima Donna role. "The Only Girl," among the happiest of the many musical comedies written by Victor Herbert, and a combination of a plausible and clever libretto, with a score as tuneful as any ever turned out by that most prolific of America's greatest light Opera Composers, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday, November 14th, bargain matinee and night.

At Griffin's.

Pauline Frederick, one of the screen's greatest emotional actresses, will be the chief attraction at Griffin's to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday, in a modern play of love and intrigue, with a tremendous feminine appeal entitled "Double-crossed." Miss Frederick's emotional acting in the scene where she overheard a detective trying to blackmail her husband with a signed confession is superb and up to her highest standards. Additional good subjects will also be shown on our programme, making the bill for the first three days of this week equal in all respects to the high standard of excellence maintained at Griffin's at all times.

At the Strand.

For the first three days of this week an exceptionally fine programme will hold the boards at the Strand. Heading the bill is a five reel circus picture entitled "The Jockey of Death." Little Mary McAlister in "Do Children Count." Gammons World's Tours and comedy reels will also be shown.

The music in Queen Street Methodist church on Sunday was especially fine. A quartette, Messrs. Pettigrew, Haffner, Marshall and Hodge, sang "The Wayside Cross" in fine effect. Mrs. Evans and Mrs. McCallum sang "The Lord is My Shepherd" at night. Joseph Hodge's bass solo was also very rich.

Familiar Quotations

I keep some portion of my early gleam;
Brokenly bright, like moonbeams on a river,
It lights my life, a far illusive dream,
Now as I move, and leads me on forever.
